PRESIDENT SIGNS TARIFF MEASURE.

Payne Bill Passes Senate by Vote of 47 to 31 and Taft Is In Waiting.

IN EFFECT AT MIDNIGHT.

Seven Republican Insurgents Bolt Party in Final Lineup and Bitterness Is Aroused.

SESSION OF CONGRESS ENDS.

The Tribune prints this morning in a special section (pages 19 to 22) the complete list of duties under the new tariff law as finally adopted yesterday and signed by the president.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Asserting that the Republican party had substantially observed its campaign pledge, President Taft late this afternoon affixed his signature to the Payne tariff act.

As a result the United States and its dependencies, beginning at midnight tonight, pass under another customs régime. The Dingley law has been relegated to history.

The president's approval of the act followed its passage by the senate by a vote of 47 yeas to 31 nays. Seven low tariff Republican insurgents joined the Democrats in registering their protest against the kind of revision made.

Change in Language of Act.

Immediately after the vote was taken the senate adopted unanimously a concurrent resolution directing the enrolling clerk to change the language of the act so as to make all boots and shoes and saddlery and harness manufactures which are products of cattle hides and calfskins subject to the low rates fixed by the conference committee upon these articles when made from hides previously dutiable.

An hour later the house representatives, with a few scattering negative votes, adopted the same resolution.

In its corrected form the act was presented to the president, who had courteously gone to the capital for the purpose of approving the measure.

An hour later congress adjourned and the extraordinary session of the Sixty-first congress came to a close.

Senate Vote in Detail.

The vote of the senate on the passage of the measure was as follows:

The seven insurgents voting against the bill were:

Beveridge of Indiana,
Bristow of Kansas,
Clapp of Minnesota,
Cummins of Iowa,
Dolliver of Iowa,
La Follette of Wisconsin,
Nelson of Minnesota.

Insurgents Present Protest.

In voting against the measure the Republican insurgents adopted the course which their previous attitude, in their judgment, made imperative. They did not believe the changes made constituted revision downward in the sense promised by the party.

To back up their position Senator La Follette of Wisconsin presented to the senate for publication as a document a statement carefully prepared by the bureau of manufactures of the department of commerce and labor, showing 286 increases of duty and 28 decreases of duty, which do not appear in the table printed by conferees.

Three Republican senators who participated in the insurgent movement before the bill went to conference and who voted against it upon its passage by the senate, found the conference changes sufficiently satisfactory to enable them to support the measure today. These were:

Brown of Nebraska.
Burkett of Nebraska.

Democrats Present Solid Front.

The absence of Senator McEnery of Louisiana enabled the Democrats to present a solid front in opposition to the bill.

The closing hours of the session unfortunately gave rise to some bitterness of feeling on the part of the Democrats. An arrangement was made yesterday with the Republican members of the finance committee to accept an amendment to the concurrent resolution directing the enrolling clerk to change the bill so as to place bagging for raw cotton upon the free list.

In view of this concession, so important to the cotton producers of the south, the Democrats expressed their willingness to permit the passage of the bill without any attempt unduly to delay it.

Consultation with members of the house this morning, however, showed consider-

ONE DEAD, 60 HURT, ON "DEATH CURVE"

Pennsylvania Train Hurls East Chicago and Whiting Trolley Car from Tracks at Crossing.

CONDUCTOR GIVES LIFE.

Hospital Besieged by Throng After Crash at 104th Street and Indianapolis Boulevard.

One man was killed and more than sixty persons were injured when a south bound Pennsylvania railroad passenger train struck a crowded street car on the East Chicago and Whiting line at One Hundred and Fourth street and Indianapolis boulevard at 6:20 p. m. yesterday.

The train was running at full speed around a sharp turn and struck the street car just in front of the middle, turning it over and hurling it thirty feet through the air.

Of the sixty-five persons in the car comparatively few escaped without more or less serious injury. After the impact the car was left lying by the side of the tracks with a bruised and bleeding mass of humanity struggling to get free from the wreck.

A heroic effort to flag the train and check its progress was made by O. P. Best, the conductor of the street car, who climbed on the front of the vestibule when he first noticed the approaching train and signaled it to stop. The effort cost him his life, for he was crushed against the vestibule when the train struck.

The Dead.

Dozen Injured Slip Away.

Several persons who were injured made their way to their homes without the aid of the police. It is believed that at least the names of ten or twelve not found were not reported.

The Pennsylvania train was a local which leaves Chicago at 5:30 o'clock for towns in Indiana. The street car was on a line operated between Whiting, Ind., and Chicago. It was a closed car.

The street car tracks and railroad tracks form an acute angle at the crossing. Outbound trains from Chicago pass around a curve to reach this crossing, the approach being obscured.

The curve in the railroad line at this place is known to the people of the neighborhood as "death curve," because of the number of fatal accidents which have occurred there. The police records of South Chicago show that eighteen persons were killed in a wreck on this curve in 1893. Three years ago, another wreck occurred in which four persons were killed and a number injured.

"Death Curve" Unprotected.

Passengers on the wrecked car say there were no gates at the place to block the crossing on the approach of a train from around the curve. Those who saw the passenger train before it struck say it was going twenty or thirty miles an hour.

The vestibule was torn completely from the street car and its sides were crushed in. The passenger train was stopped quickly and returned to the scene of the collision. Two of the coaches were loaded with the injured, who were hurried to the Englewood Union hospital. Others were taken in ambulances and automobiles to the South Chicago and St. Bernard's hospitals. Many were carried and assisted to houses nearby, where they were cared for by citizens.

An automobile party which passed the scene just after the accident was stopped by the police and the car was used in taking the injured to the hospitals. Ambulances and patrol wagons were summoned from the PRESIDENT TAFT SAYS IT IS REVISION DOWNWARD; STATEMENT MADE AFTER SIGNING PAYNE TARIFF BILL.

The president late yesterday afternoon issued the subjoined statement.

"I HAVE signed the Payne tariff bill because I believe it to be the result of sincere effort on the part of the Republican party to make a downward revision and to comply with the promises of the platform as they have been generally understood and as I interpreted them in the campaign before election.

"This is not a perfect tariff bill, nor a complete compliance with the promises made strictly interpreted, but a fulfillment free from criticism in respect to a subject matter involving many schedules and thousands of articles could not be expected. It suffices to say that except with regard to whisky, liquors, and wines, and in regard to silks and as to some high classes of cottons—all of which may be treated as luxuries and proper subjects of a revenue tariff—there have been few increases in rates.

"There have been a great number of real decreases in rates, and they constitute a sufficient amount to justify the statement that this bill is a substantial downward revision and a reduction of excessive rates.

"This is not a free trade bill. It was not intended to be. The Republican party did not promise to make a free trade bill.

"It promised to make the rates protective, but to reduce them when they exceeded the difference between the cost of production abroad and here, making allowance for the greater normal profit on active investments here. I believe that while this excess has not been reduced in a number of cases, in a great majority, the rates are such as are necessary to protect American industries, but are low enough, in case of abnormal increase of demand and raising of prices, to permit the possibility of the importation of the foreign article and thus to prevent excessive prices.

"The power granted to the executive under the maximum and minimum clause may be exercised to secure the removal of obstacles which have been interposed by foreign governments in the way of undue and unfair discrimination against American merchandise and products.

"The Philippine tariff section I have struggled to secure for ten years last past, and it gratifies me exceedingly by my signature to give it the effect of law. I am sure it will greatly increase the trade between the two countries, and it will do much to build up the Philippines in a healthful prosperity.

"The administrative clauses of the bill and the customs court are admirably adapted to secure a more uniform and a more speedy final construction of the meaning of the law.

"The authority to the president to use agents to assist him in the application of the maximum and minimum section of the statute, and to enable officials to administer the law, gives a wide latitude for the acquisition, under circumstances favorable to its truth, of information in respect to the price and cost of production of goods at home and abroad which will throw much light on the operation of the present tariff and be of primary importance of officially collected data upon which future executive action and executive recommendations may be based.

"The corporation tax is a just and equitable excise measure, which it is hoped will produce a sufficient amount to prevent a deficit and which incidentally will secure valuable statistics and information concerning the many corporations of the country and will constitute an important step toward that degree of publicity and regulation which the tendency in corporate enterprises in the last twenty years has shown to be necessary."

NEW TARIFF WINS SEA RACE

Twenty Liners Fail to Arrive Ere Law Goes Into Effect.

$100,000 TO $200,000 STAKE

Pennsylvania Loses $20,000 by Narrow Margin of 50 Miles.

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Nearly twenty steamships which have been bending their utmost efforts in response to orders sent by wireless to reach New York before the new tariff law went into effect lost their race today.

At 4:30 p. m. the doors of the custom house clanged shut and the last payment of duty under the old law was registered and labeled "Entry No. 1,118,000" by one of Collector Loeb's clerks.

Importers who have merchandise on these boats will be losers between $100,000 and $200,000.

Pennsylvania the Nearest In.

The vessel which lost by the narrowest margin was the liner Pennsylvania, with a cargo of wines and merchandise, which must pay $20,000 extra duty under the new law. Fast scout tugs had been out all day awaiting the big ship's arrival, with orders to take off its captain and hurry him to the custom house with the ship's manifest. But when 4:30 o'clock came the Pennsylvania was fifty miles from port.

Despite the ample notice which had been given of the pending passage of the bill hundreds of customs brokers were caught napping this afternoon. It has been generally expected that Collector Loeb would keep his office open until the stroke of midnight as a concession to the importers, but he declined to do this, and many brokers who had planned to call tonight and pay duties on goods recently arrived, or just removed from bonded warehouses, found themselves heavy losers.

New High Customs Receipts Record.

The custom house has been one of the busiest places in the United States during the last few days. The increase in imports in anticipation of the new legislation has mounted into hundreds of thousands, and to this has been added several million dollars' worth of merchandise withdrawn from bonded warehouses. The total receipts of the custom house for four business days of the present week will reach more than $4,000,000—double the normal receipts at this period of the year. This beats all records.

All withdrawals from bonded warehouses were in anticipation of the passage of the tariff bill. Of course the goods on which the duty will be less under the new law were left in bond. Most of the merchandise withdrawn consists of hosiery. From July 26 to Aug. 4 the value of hosiery withdrawn from bond and entered at the custom house was $400,381. Hosiery to the value of $440,995 was imported in July. Withdrawals of merchandise from the bonded warehouses for Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week was double in value the withdrawals on the same dates a year ago, amounting to more than $2,000,000.

Five Get In Under Old Law.

Five ships from European ports which arrived today succeeded in getting their cargoes into the country under the old law. They were the Teutonic from Southampton, the Raglan Castle from Hamburg, the Florida from Havre, the Indiana from Genoa, and the Hohenfelde from Hamburg.

CHARLES G. GATES AS A BARON.

Financier, Registering German Name, Stays at Congress Hotel Three Days Before Revealing the Joke.

When Charles G. Gates stepped up to the counter of the Congress hotel yesterday and asked for his bill Clerk John Burke exclaimed in surprise:

"Why, Mr. Gates, when did you get in and what room did you have."

"I got in Tuesday," Mr. Gates replied with a smile, "and have had apartments 1602."

"I guess you are wrong there," Burke said, "for 1602 is occupied by Baron A. Haenuler. See, here's his name, written in German style."

"That's all right," smiled Gates. "I'll pay the bill. I am the German baron and I wrote that name. I wanted to transact private business in a quiet manner and get back to New York without being discovered—that's all."

"That's one baron we fell for," remarked Burke as he checked off Gates' name on the register.

MOTHER SHOT BY DAUGHTER SUFFERS NERVOUS RELAPSE.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Hinkley Will Be Unable to Appear as Prosecuting Witness Today.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Hinkley, 4411 Ellis avenue, who had planned to appear in the Hyde Park police station today against her daughter, Mrs. Agnes C. Mayfield, who shot her two weeks ago, suffered a nervous relapse last night. She will be unable to appear at the trial. The shooting followed an alleged quarrel over stocks in a Mexican mine.

Mrs. Hinkley's condition, which had been improving since the shooting, became suddenly worse after a discussion of the approaching trial with her daughter, Mrs. Sheldon Peck, with whom she lives. Late in the evening it became necessary to summon Dr. Joseph B. Kleinhans, 3901 Cottage Grove avenue. He found Mrs. Hinkley in a state of excitement, he said, but the wound in her cheek was in a normal condition.

A few hours previously Mrs. Mayfield, who was released a week ago on bonds of $2,000, appeared at the office of Dr. Kleinhans. She submitted to the physician a statement describing her dealings with her mother since she eloped and was married in Mexico two years ago.

In the report, according to Dr. Kleinhans, she accuses her mother of attempting to wrest 290 acres of mining property at Mapinel, Durango, Mexico, away from her and her husband.

WEDDED STANDING IN AUTO TO MAN SHE MET MONTH AGO.

Iowa Girl Makes Maywood Man Get His Mother's Consent, Then Wonders What Own Parents Will Think.

Mrs. Guy D. Wheelock of Maywood is anxiously wondering what her parents in Davis City, Ia., will say when they hear that she was married on Wednesday evening while standing in the tonneau of a slowly moving automobile on the banks of Salt creek to a man she had met only four weeks before.

She was Miss Daisy Kent, and she met Mr. Wheelock when she arrived to visit her uncle, Justice F. M. Pitt of Maywood. On Tuesday the two went to Michigan City and Wheelock insisted that they be married there.

"Wait until we get home and then ask your mother," said the girl, who is 19 years old.

Wheelock, who is 24, had to submit because the girl would not change her decision, but the mother's consent was quickly obtained.

That evening the girl, Wheelock, his parents, and the Rev. Hiram Brown, and his wife drove out two miles, where the ceremony was performed, and then came to Chicago for a wedding supper. They drove back in the automobile to the Wheelock home at 410 Fifteenth avenue, where the young couple will live for the present.

SAVES HUSBAND FROM RIVER IN PREFERENCE TO CHILDREN.

Woman's Choice Results in Rescue of All Three, for Parents Plunge Back In and Get Little Ones.

Sparta, Wis., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—A woman's choice of saving her husband in preference to her son and daughter resulted in the saving of all three.

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Keefe and children were at the La Crosse river. The son and daughter went in swimming, while the parents remained on shore. The son and daughter got beyond their depth, and the parents went to their assistance, both being good swimmers.

O'Keefe was caught in some roots at the bottom of the river. The wife gave up her effort to save the children and extricated her husband. In a moment he was resuscitated, then both plunged back into the river, the father saving the son and the mother the girl.

SECRET WEDDING IS REVEALED.

Friends Learn That Lemuel K. Cushing Married Miss Jane B. Radford Last Wednesday.

Announcement of the wedding of Lemuel K. Cushing and Miss Jane B. Radford was made yesterday when it was learned that they had been married secretly last Wednesday. When friends telephoned to congratulate them they found that Mr. and Mrs. Cushing were on their honeymoon trip. Mr. Cushing is secretary of the Illinois Electric company and a member of the Chicago Athletic association. Mrs. Cushing owned a woman's apparel shop at 241 Michigan avenue, and lived at the Metropole hotel.

ARREST 3 WOMEN AS FORGERS

Detectives Use Trick to Enter Room at Congress Hotel.

TIP COMES FROM THE EAST.

Operations There by the Trio Said to Have Amounted to $5,000.

Three women, said to be unusually clever forgers, who are wanted by the police of several eastern cities, were arrested at the Congress hotel last night.

It is alleged they passed worthless checks on hotels and business houses in Washington, Philadelphia, Boston, and Pittsburg. The extent of their operations, it is thought, will exceed $5,000. Whether any of their checks have been passed in Chicago is not known.

The trio came to the Congress hotel last Sunday from Pittsburg. They registered under the names of Mrs. M. C. Edwards, Mrs. C. C. Olcott, and Miss Croake. Mrs. Olcott asserts that she is a daughter of Mrs. Edwards.

Miss Croake, who is about 25 years old, was registered at the hotel as "maid." She admitted to Lieut. Cudmore that she and Mrs. Olcott were formerly employed as nurses at the Massachusetts state insane asylum at Taunton.

Leave Positions as Nurses.

A few weeks ago she and Mrs. Olcott left the institution and went to New York, where they joined Mrs. Edwards, who at that time was known to Miss Croake as Mrs. Durfee.

Miss Croake denies all knowledge of the alleged forgeries. She admits having passed one or two small checks, but she says she supposed they were genuine. Lieut. Cudmore is inclined to believe her. She says she was born in Dublin, Ireland, and has lived in America five years.

The arrests were made by Detectives Dooley, O'Connell, and De Roche. Telegrams from the east were received by Capt. O'Brien early in the day asking that the women be taken into custody. Inquiry was made at several hotels, but no trace could be found of them, as they had registered under other names than those by which they were known in the east.

Traced by Pittsburg Advices.

Through a telegram from Pittsburg received late in the afternoon they were traced to the Congress hotel, from a description of the trunks which they carried.

Dooley and O'Connell found that they occupied a suite of rooms on the eighth floor of the hotel. One of the detectives went to the apartments, and his knock at the door was answered by Mrs. Olcott. She said she was the maid, and that Mrs. Edwards was not in.

The detectives watched the apartments several hours, and as no one went in or out they decided that all three of the women were hiding.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Dooley, disguised as a porter, rapped at the door and demanded admittance. A report of a gas leak had been made at the office, he said, and he wanted to examine the fixtures.

When he gained entrance he showed his police badge and told Mrs. Edwards, who admitted him, that she was under arrest.

Detectives O'Connell and De Roche followed Dooley into the apartments, and when the latter showed his police insignia the elder woman was chagrined at being trapped so easily.

'OLD SWIMMING HOLE' IN TRUST

Oklahoma Farmers Agree to Maintain Fixed Charge of Ten Cents a Dip.

Bristow, Okla., Aug. 5.—[Special]—During the present hot days in Oklahoma, the owners of farms with good swimming holes are charging 10 cents admission to persons who desire to take a plunge.

The farmers of this locality agreed on a proposition of this kind and the boys and men from the surrounding towns are finding it difficult to locate a swimming hole unless they pay the admission price.

"No Trespassing" signs aid the farmers materially in keeping swimmers off their places.

ALDRICH INVITED TO CHICAGO.

Commercial Club Awaits Reply to Request for Address at First Meeting in the Fall.

It became known yesterday that Senator Nelson W. Aldrich has been invited to address the Commercial club of Chicago at a meeting Oct. 13.

Whether or not the senator will be able to accept will be known positively in two or three days.

GREAT MAJORITY FOR CAR STRIKE

Count Shows Traction Men Overwhelmingly in Favor of Forcing Labor Issue.

POLLS CLOSED AT 3 A. M.

NOW ALL RESTS ON DIPLOMACY.

BULLETIN.

The vote of the street car men of Chicago on strike or no strike was completed at 3 o'clock this morning. The polls were closed promptly and the tellers at once bebgan their work. At 5 o'clock such progress had been made that the result could be given with accuracy. The vote of the City railway men stood 2,635 for strike and 140 against strike. With the Chicago railways men the count showed 5,207 for strike and 53 against it.

The dispute between Chicago's 9,000 street car employés and the two big traction companies is now a declaration of war. Upon prospective diplomacy in negotiations or in arbitration rest chances for peace.

At an early hour this morning leaders in the street car men's union who were present to witness the closing of the polls in the strike vote taken at the respective headquarters of the divisions of the union estimated that more than 96 per cent of the voters cast their ballots in favor of a strike. This was an estimate based upon observations extending over a period of more than twenty hours. The counting of the ballots was started immediately upon the closing of the polls, but the final figures will be reserved for presentation to meetings of the divisions of the union.

The Chicago railways employés appointed three men to serve on a joint committee of nine and the City Railway and Calumet division of the union will appoint three men each to serve on the committee. It is the plan of the union to have this joint committee conduct negotiations with Presidents Roach and Mitten of the traction companies jointly, and to refuse to negotiate on any other basis.

The meeting of division 260, the organization of the employés of the Chicago City railway, will be held tomorrow night at 4300 State street. Division 241, the organization of the employés of the Chicago Railways company, is scheduled to meet at Schoenhofen's hall, Milwaukee and Ashland avenues, for a similar purpose at the call of the president. Until these meetings have been convened the counted ballots will be kept locked in vaults controlled by the union, according to official statements.

Big Majority for Strike.

Out of 6,100 men in Division 241 it was estimated that 5,300 cast ballots. Of those who voted it was estimated that less than 100 voted against the strike. Out of the 2,800 men employed by the south side company it was estimated that 2,750 voted, and that of this number less than 150 voted against a strike.

It was admitted by strike leaders and traction representatives alike that for the immediate present, at least, the strike vote will represent a weapon to be brought into use in case of extremity, if the sanction of President W. D. Mahon and the executive board of the national organization can be obtained. While local union officials do not intend to project Mr. Mahon into the controversy actively until they first try their own hands in dealing with the companies, it is expected that Mr. Mahon will arrive here tonight or tomorrow for the purpose of observing the coming tournament.

If necessity arises he is expected to take a hand himself and endeavor to effect a peaceful solution with honor to the men and the companies alike and without loss or bitterness on either side.

The grimness of the vote to strike was augmented by information obtained by Ald. Herman J. Bauler of the Twenty-second ward, who made a study of the balloting while it was in progress. Ald. Bauler at night stated it as his conviction that a number of the leaders in the union are considering an attempt to select next Sunday for calling a strike in case negotiations fail to effect an agreement.

Argument for Sunday Strike.

The alderman was told by street car men with whom he is well acquainted that a Sunday strike is being considered because it would cause less damage to start hostilities on the Sabbath than on a weekday. Business would be suspended anyway. The stocks of the companies could not be affected on Sunday.

The impression upon the public desired by the men could be made with a minimum of discomfort to the patrons of street cars, owing to the fact that travel on Sundays is largely a luxury. And lastly, according to the Sunday strike theorists, there would be twenty-four hours in which to conduct negotiations before the business of the week would open. By that time, the strike theorists say, the strike might be settled.

Ald. Bauler's findings received support in rumors which had a startling sound from another quarter in the union. A union man, seemingly with minute information as to the inmost workings of the organization, said it had been decided by certain of the leaders to rush the demands of the men to the heads of the big traction companies this afternoon without referring the result of the vote to special meetings of employés.

He said that in the event of refusal by the companies to accede to the requests immediately the men of both companies will be called out tomorrow or Sunday.

Mahon's Future at Issue?

According to his story the movers of the strike are counting on the fact that President Mahon of the amalgamated union is due to come up for reëlection at the convention to be held in Toronto next October, and that he may need the votes of the fifty delegates from Chicago. It was argued on this basis that he might not seek to discipline anybody in case the law of the national organization is disregarded.

The informant stated that the north and west side men have about $20,000 in their treasury, while the south side men have about $9,000. Lump contributions from other big cities and the Chicago Federation of Labor are counted on for strike benefits, he said. According to the street car men's story President Mahon is known to favor arbitration, and for that reason some leaders do not want him to come here.

William Quinlan, president of the north and west side division of the union, was asked:

"Are the officers of the union in Chicago contemplating calling the men out over the head of President Mahon if negotiations for an amicable settlement fail?"

"I won't answer that as to whether we will or whether we won't," responded Quinlan. "If we do, we have only to answer to Mahon. The street car companies of Chicago have nothing to do with our constitution.

"I will say this: That we have no intention of calling on President Mahon for the first few days and maybe won't call upon him at all. At least we will not call upon Mahon until every other effort at arriving at an amicable settlement has failed."

Buckley Also Evades Question.

The same question put to President M. C. Buckley elicited this answer:

"I cannot answer that question. All that I can say is that whatever the men vote to do Saturday night we will do. All I can now say is that the result of today's election will be reported to the meeting and then some action will be taken. For all I know they may vote to carry on further negotiations with the company. It is impossible to tell what the future steps will be. That the men are determined, though, is shown by the unanimity of the action taken in the election today."

Joseph T. Mahoney, business agent of division 260, said he would advise the men at the meeting tomorrow night to communicate at once with the Amalgamated association officials in case it was decided to go out, in order that the strikers should receive benefits from the parent association. He intimated, however, that he did not believe that it would be necessary, as the company would be glad to come to terms before the two weeks expired when the payment of strike benefits would begin.

"If it does come to a strike," he said, "every man will be out to stick until we get the concessions demanded."

According to the prognostications previously given to the public by the parties to the dispute the first conference with officials of the two big companies should occur next Monday or Tuesday. This would be to announce that a strike had been voted and to present the demands of the employés for a wage increase.

Mahon Doubts the Report.

Mr. Mahon was called up at his home in Detroit, Mich., by THE TRIBUNE over the long distance telephone.

"I don't believe the Chicago officials would do anything like that," said Mr. Mahon when he heard the story. "I believe the law of the amalgamated association will be followed. There is nothing to the story that there is a bitter feeling towards me on the part of Chicago union officials that I know of."

"When will you come to Chicago?" Mr. Mahon was asked. "Will it be tomorrow?"

"I have not received any communications as yet," responded Mr. Mahon. "All I know has come through the newspapers. I have not made any preparations to go to Chicago as yet."

In the meantime Acting Chief of Police Schuettler ordered 500 new stars for patrolmen and fresh supplies of clubs and patrol box keys. He said he did not expect a strike, but that he wanted to be prepared in case there should be one.

Two Peaceful Moves.

Two incidents of the day had a more peaceful aspect. The renewal of negotiations was announced for today between the executive board of the Calumet and South Chicago division of the union and President Mitten relative to bringing up the rate of pay of the Calumet division employés to the standard of the Chicago City railway.

The other peace promising event was the arrival in Chicago of Ben F. Shadley of Galesburg, chairman of the Illinois state board of arbitration, and Harry M. Powell of Galesburg, member of the board, late in the afternoon. This morning the board will tender its good offices to both the car companies and the employés in an effort to secure a peaceful settlement of the difficulty now nearing a crisis between the companies and the men.

Chairman Shadley had a conversation with President Mitten immediately upon his arrival in Chicago. Arrangements were made for a formal conference between the members of the state board and Mr. Mitten at Mr. Mitten's office at 9 o'clock this morning. An hour later the state arbitrators have arrangements made to confer with the representatives of the street car men's organizations.

Will Offer Board's Services.

At each of these conferences the state board will proffer the services of the board as provided by the statute which creates the state's arbitration commission, proposing that every resource be exhausted before a strike actually is called.

Chairman Shadley, who was appointed to the state board as a representative of organized labor, said he appreciated that the situation is grave.

"Since arriving in Chicago this afternoon I have met men who have first hand knowledge of conditions," said Chairman Shadley. "It must be admitted that the situation is such that every resource tending to peace should be drawn on.

"The board is constituted for this purpose, and it is our intention to tender the board's services to the parties at issue and try out everything which the state can offer in the way of getting a peaceful solution of the difficulty. It is our hope that both sides will join hands in any way which can be suggested.

"At all events, the board is in Chicago, ready and willing to go to the limit in putting a stop to the possibility of a bad strike."

Meet Secretary Mullaney.

Shadley and Powell had an informal conference with B. J. Mullaney, secretary to Mayor Busse, in the evening. The confab was for the purpose of getting exact knowledge of the situation from the standpoint of the city administration. The details of the conversation between the arbitrators and the mayor's representative were not given out for publication. It is understood that the city at this time desires to make no definite move, preferring to await the developments of today.

The board of arbitration has for its secretary Cornelius J. Doyle of Greenfield, who was named on Saturday by Gov. Deneen as attorney for the insurance department. In the face of the situation which is at hand Chairman Shadley communicated with Springfield at night and learned that if negotiations are begun this morning Mr. Doyle will continue to act as secretary of the board, and will come to Chicago immediately upon receipt of news that the proffer of the state board has been accepted.

It is the understanding that Mr. Doyle will be Gov. Deneen's personal representative in the event that negotiations tending toward peace are initiated.

Fisher Confers with Mayor.

Walter L. Fisher, special traction counsel, who was regarded as the one municipal representative equipped to take an active hand in the crisis, held a brief consultation with Mayor Busse at noon on strike possibilities.

The best advices the mayor has received, it is said, inclined him against any activity by the city until the situation warrants. This was Mr. Fisher's view, and at the close of the chat the attorney dropped all thought of calling a conference of the corporation representatives or the employés.

"We just had a short talk about the situation," said Mr. Fisher, "but there seemed no necessity for the city's taking any definite stand at this time or of its lending itself to a settlement of the difficulties between the men and their employers. It seems now that there will be no strike in any case, and it appears probable that the men will be able to come to an agreement with the companies.

"We want to see them get fair treatment, of course, but we believe that also is the wish of the company officials. We feel they will be fair in their attitude and that the men will be satisfied of the fairness. So far as the city is concerned, the matter will rest where it is unless the necessity for arbitration arises."

Men Throng to the Polls.

The polls opened at 8 in the morning and closed at 3 o'clock this morning at both polling places. Eight judges and clerks of election presided at each hall. By noon more than 2,000 men had voted at Schoenhofen's hall, Milwaukee and Ashland avenues, and fully 1,000 of the south side men had voted at Garrity's hall, 4300 State street.

The form of the question voted on by the men as it appeared on the official ballots was as follows:

Will you support the demands you have made upon the company for a new contract?

The Chicago Railways company has refused to increase your wages.

The second sentence on the ballot was construed by some as an admonition to vote "yes."

The form of the ballot on the south side was the same with the exception that the name of the Chicago City railway was used.

By 6 o'clock in the evening the union leaders virtually were certain that the referendum had carried, the ballots being so worded as to be tantamount to a strike vote in the event of the adoption of the referendum. President Buckley of the south side union and President Quinlan of the north and west side union remained at their respective polling places during the greater part of the day and evening.

At Schoenhofen's hall, Financial Secretary William Taber of division 241 was in charge of the proceedings. He was kept busy superintending details and conferring with his fellow officers regarding the ballots, working cards of the members, and other matters pertaining to the taking of the referendum.

Union Issues Statement.

Following a conference of union leaders from three divisions of the union, headed by Presidents Buckley and Quinlan and President B. A. Carter of division 266, representing the Calumet and South Chicago road's employés, a statement covering the union's side of the wage controversy was issued.

The statement was prepared for the labor leaders by Lawrence D. Bland, editor of the Union Leader, official organ of the street car men of Chicago. It will appear as an editorial in today's issue of the Union Leader.

The statement is intended to be an answer to both President Thomas E. Mitten of the Chicago City railway company and to President John M. Roach of the Chicago Railways company. In particular the list of cities in which street car men receive higher wages than in Chicago, which is part of the statement, is intended as a reply to the table recently issued by President Mitten showing cities in which the wage scale is below that paid by the Chicago companies.

Want Public to Know.

"The statement has the official sanction of the officers of all divisions of the union concerned in this controversy," said Recording Secretary C. W. Mills of Division 241. "As the strike vote is practically assured, the officers decided that the public is entitled to know the situation viewed from the standpoint of the men demanding higher wages."

Following is the statement:

"The request of the car employés of Chicago for a maximum wage of 30 cents an hour is a fair one. All things considered it is the most reasonable request ever made of the traction companies of this city, and the refusal of the companies to concede 30 cents an hour, or to make any proposal of increase, seems inconsistent with good policy.

"The statement of wages paid car men in other cities, issued by the City Railway company, has no place in the present controversy. The inhabitants of all cities are governed by local conditions. The prevailing wage rate in one city has no more relation to the rate in another city than the varying price of commodities or the change of climatic conditions.

"Local surroundings govern all these matters, and to set up Boston or New York as a standard for Chicago would be about as reasonable as to compare the standards of China with those of the United States.

Governed by Chicago Conditions.

"The car men of Chicago are residents of Chicago. They must adapt themselves to Chicago's conditions. They cannot escape them. Labor exactions, climatic conditions, social standards of living and rearing of families, sanitary living quarters, cost of fuel, light, rents, food, and clothing in Chicago are the standards the Chicago car men must be governed by, and not the standards of other cities.

"As a matter of fact there are eight cities in America paying a higher wage to car men than Chicago. They are:

City.	Pay, cents an hour.
Oakland, Cal.	30 to 42
Sacramento, Cal.	27 to 30
San José, Cal.	24 to 30
Vancouver, B. C.	20 to 31½
Butte, Mont.	38½ to 45
Helena, Mont.	35 to 40
Salt Lake City, Utah	25 to 30
Spokane, Wash.	25 to 30

"In none of these cities are the responsibilities of car men so great as in Chicago. None of these companies has the earning capacity of Chicago companies, yet they all pay a higher wage to their employés. From this it would seem that if comparisons were to be the standard the car men of this city should have a strong argument.

"In making a wage demand for Chicago, however, we are not dealing in wage comparisons of other cities. We hold that Chicago conditions should govern.

Suburban Line Pays 30 Cents.

"Thirty cents an hour is now being paid the car operators in a suburb of Chicago. The little four mile road, the North Shore and Western, running from the end of the Evanston line to Glen View, is paying its motormen and conductors the 30 cent rate.

"The ability of the Chicago companies to meet the increase asked for is unquestioned. The two big systems of Chicago are veritable gold mines, and their reports of earnings, even during the period of rehabilitation, are so creditable as to enable them to turn over to the city, since the new franchise went into effect, the sum of $3,428,954. This is the city's 55 per cent portion of the net profits. Does it not look reasonable that an industry that can afford to contribute this amount from its net profits in two years for the privilege of a monopoly should pay its employés a wage in conformity with the demands of the occupation?

"There is no monopoly more firmly intrenched or better protected in its holdings than the street railway monopoly of Chicago. Under the street railway ordinances of Chicago the companies are protected from competition forever.

Rehabilitation and Wages.

"Statements of the companies that the great cost of rehabilitation makes a wage increase impossible are not only ill founded but deceptive. The ordinances not only guarantee the return of every dollar spent on rehabilitation, but an interest return of 5 per cent is also guaranteed them on cost of rehabilitation and extensions. This excuse for refusal of an increase is so palpably lame that no further consideration of it is necessary.

"As to the kind of arbitration submitted by the City Railway company, it has not the semblance of fairness. To arbitrate a wage decrease when so much is in evidence to substantiate an increase would seem ridiculous. The plain object of this proposal is to establish a variance so wide between the contending rates before arbitrators that they might be influenced to award the present rate of pay as a compromise.

"The spirit of an already underpaid class of intelligent employés rebels at such an unjust proposal. Human incentive, competency in employés, public safety, and common decency demand that the car employés be treated fairly in this matter. If arbitration is to settle this controversy, it must be argued between the present rate of 27 cents an hour and the rate of 30 cents asked for.

Want Uniformity in Contracts.

"The proposal of the City railway company to arbitrate the duration of the contract is not fair. The motive behind this is to perpetuate the old condition of contracts of various roads expiring at different periods. The object is to keep the employés of one side of the city tied down by contract, so they cannot move concertedly with the employés of the other side. Yet the companies are operating over each other's lines and moving as a unit.

"This trick of forcing contract expirations at different periods has been played too long on the men of Chicago. The local divisions have moved to a point where they are free from contract restrictions, and they will insist upon their right to state the period under which they desire to contract.

"On many occasions we have been confronted with the statement that the increase tendered the car men of Chicago in 1907 was a voluntary offer from the company. If this be so, the company must have considered it justifiable, and if a rate of 27 cents an hour in 1907, given voluntarily, was right, why should a decrease be asked for at this advanced day? The truth is, the increase was right as far as it went, but it was not given voluntarily. It was wrung from them, and only given at the eleventh hour to curry public favor in the passage of the franchise ordinances.

Car Men and New Ordinance.

"When the traction ordinances were under consideration by the city council the car men of Chicago, through their representatives, pleaded earnestly and vigorously before the council traction committee to be recognized in the settlement. It was only after all efforts along this line had failed that they entered the fight against the ordinances.

"Time was when a portion of the car employés of Chicago were receiving the highest street railway wage in the country. This was in the old cable days. Men operating cable trains were paid as high as $3.42 for a day of ten and one-half hours, and the lowest wage paid trailer men on the south side was $2.65. When the cable was abandoned the wage was lowered to the electric rate, the cable men suffering a considerable wage reduction. This happened in the fall of 1906 and the men accepted the reduction without protest.

Car Speed and Wages.

"Since the representative of the traction companies made the statement to the council traction committee, during the hearings of 1907, that if an average speed of 9.3 miles an hour could be attained in Chicago the maximum wage of 30 cents an hour was possible, the car men have grasped every opportunity to coöperate in bringing about this condition. The speed of runs has been increased to such extent that on a number of lines one more trip has been added to the day's labor in the same number of hours.

"Time has been squeezed out of all schedules. Thus the companies have been enabled to increase car mileage in a given time without extra cost of operation.

"It would be fair to say that the responsibilities of the position have been doubled in the last two years. The new type of car requires the constant, watchful care of train crews to prevent accidents in congested districts. A reference to the notorious 'death strip' is an example. Who may be responsible for the 'death strip' is immaterial. It is there, and the great burden of preventing a repetition of its ghastly experiences falls almost solely upon the car crews.

Expensive Keeping Up Appearances.

"The requirements of the position—a neat and clean appearance, coupled with a mannerly, intellectual deportment—demands an expenditure for clothing and sundries, and a mode of living not necessary in many other occupations.

"Who can say with truth that 27 cents an hour is sufficient to meet these requirements? Who can justify the statement that this wage is enough to care properly for the wants of a family under present cost of living in Chicago?

"Averages are resorted to in the City railway's statement of wages paid motormen and conductors. They do not mention the multitude of instances of long hours and seven days of labor necessary to a reasonable week's pay, and nothing is said of the individual pay of the man who works short runs on a pay basis of actual platform time. Nor is the spread of duty mentioned, where men are required to cover eighteen hours of the calendar day to be paid for ten.

"The wage increase demanded by the Chicago car men has so many arguments in its favor that it must appeal to public conscience. A cause so meritorious must surely win."

RAILROAD SIGNS WAGE SCALE.

Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend Agrees to Pay Conductors 27½ Cents an Hour.

A new agreement was entered into yesterday by the officials of the Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend railroad company and the Order of Railway Conductors, representing the conductors employed on the line. The new contract calls for a scale of 27½ cents an hour, with a minimum of ten hours a day for conductors having regular runs.

No conductor will be discharged or suspended without cause, a hearing and a decision in writing being required in each instance.

The agreement is to run for one year from July 1, 1909. H. U. Wallace, general manager of the road, signed the agreement for the company. A. J. Muldoon, J. S. Scott, and T. B. Hoffman signed for the Order of Railway Conductors.

DROPS; BEATS DEATH STRIP.

J. B. Mayer, Caught Between Two Clark Street Cars, Saves Life by Falling to the Ground.

Caught in the "death strip" between two Clark street cars at Jackson boulevard yesterday J. B Mayer of 4008 Grand boulevard saved himself by dropping to the ground between the cars and sitting on the pavement until they passed. A score or more persons who witnessed the accident were much surprised as Mayer arose after the cars had passed and started to walk away. Policeman Coakley questioned Mayer, who said he suffered no injury.

THAW TELLS AGAIN OF WHITE'S DOINGS

Slayer's Accusations Against Victim Come in Flood During Hearing.

MOTHER WEEPS ON STAND

Sons Harry and Josiah Both Comfort Sobbing Parent During Her Ordeal.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—For the first time since his arrest after the murder of Stanford White, Harry K. Thaw told on a witness stand this afternoon a great part of what he believed to be the truth about the relations between the man he slew and young girls.

A long and unwholesome story of a rich man's pleasures and foolish girls' follies was that which Thaw told from the stand in his effort to prove that what the alienists for the state have denominated his maniacal delusions were, in truth, not delusions but facts, upon which he built his chauvanistic propaganda in defense of American womanhood.

For many long hours during the course of the present hearing District Attorney Jerome had probed and prodded into the mental equipment of the Matteawan prisoner with the sole result that he was met sally for sally by the acute wit of the witness.

Today, for the first time since the beginning of the hearing upon Thaw's writ for freedom from the asylum, the relator gave himself up to voluminous explanations and volunteer statements. They all were along the line of what he holds to be the abnormal conduct of the man he shot to death in the Madison Square roof garden.

Jerome Lets Thaw Run On.

Psychiatrists for the state have testified that a paranoiac suffers from a systematized set of delusions; that often he is able to conceal these delusions for months, even for years. Today when in a random moment Jerome put Thaw on the stand to identify certain exhibits that had been entered by his attorney he touched by a question some spring of ready interest in the witness, and for half an hour and more Thaw unveiled most of the evidence he had held in his own belief against White. Jerome sat on the edge of his desk and allowed the witness to go on without interruption.

What Thaw had to say touched upon the facts in an affidavit that had been made by Ada G. Dickhart of Milwaukee, Wis., as to an experience she had suffered with White in rooms he occupied on Fifty-fifth street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues, in New York. It concerned also what he believed to be the truth about two more young women who had enjoyed White's friendship at about the time that Thaw himself first met Evelyn Nesbit. Sixty-eight letters which, it was asserted, had been written by Stanford White to one of these girls and which had been sold by her to one of Thaw's attorneys prior to the first trial for murder also figured in today's reading from the Decameron of the Tenderloin.

Morschauser Proves Prophecy.

The intimation that much that was bald and unlovely would be brought forward to establish the truth of what had been termed Thaw's illusions had been made by Morschauser, his attorney, yesterday.

This morning Morschauser opened up with the summoning to the stand of David N. Carvalho, the expert in chirography. After a few matter of course questions Carvalho was asked to identify sixty-eight letters to Miss Sue Parker which bore the signature of Stanford White.

Carvalho identified them and then, on the instance of Thaw's counsel, he told how he had obtained them. He said that before the first Thaw trial he had learned something that had taken him to the office of Charles Russell, and there he met Sue Parker, who had with her these numerous letters signed by Stanford White. The woman wanted $5,000 for the lot.

Carvalho declared that he saw the possible value of the letters in the defense of Thaw and dickered with her to the extent that she reduced her price to $500, with the stipulation that should they be used in the trial she would receive an additional $500.

Carvalho saw the late Russell Peabody, who was then one of Thaw's counsel, pay the first stipulated $500 for the delivery of the letters.

Girl Swears to Affidavit.

Then the witness stated that he had seen Sue Parker sign an affidavit setting forth some of the experiences she had undergone at White's hands. The gist of her statement had been that White had prevailed over her when she was only 17 years old and in his "Eagle's Nest" in the tower of Madison Square garden had accomplished his will with her.

"He got from me more than he ever gave me," was the explanation for selling the letters that Sue Parker had made to Carvalho at the time of the dicker.

"He is gone and I am poor; he left me nothing to take care of me," the girl said.

On cross examination Carvalho declared that Delmas had offered these letters of Sue Parker in evidence in the first Thaw trial for murder, but upon the objection of Jerome and the favoring ruling of Justice Fitzgerald they had been withdrawn and their contents had not been made public.

Jerome seemed to believe that the packet had been tampered with, since there were not sixty-eight letters, but only sixty. This point the witness explained by saying that there were sixty-eight pieces of writing; whether each piece was to be considered a letter or not he could not say.

During the time the discussion over these Sue Parker letters was being bandied between Morschauser and Jerome Thaw's attorney submitted in evidence the Dickhart affidavit. Jerome, who had been protesting that the Tenderloin had been combed of all its nastiness by both sides in the homicide prosecutions, fought vigorously against the submission of this affidavit. He declared that if it were allowed to be entered in evidence he would cross examine Thaw upon its contents and the manner in which it had come into Thaw's hands.

Thaw's Lips Are Unsealed.

It was this promised cross examination, later in the day, that gave Thaw his opportunity to tell all he wished about the doings of Stanford White as he had heard of them. It was the introduction of this affidavit which uncovered all of the stuff which is taken to constitute the delusional fabric of Thaw's mental disorder.

Jerome first led the witness on to disclosures by asking him if he ever had heard of any place White maintained over a barn. Thaw said he had heard White had once rented a place over a car barn, but he thought it was on Fifty-second street instead of Fifty-fifth. The district attorney wanted to know if the witness knew of any other apartments of such a nature White had maintained.

"O, yes," Thaw replied. "He had a place called 'The Blind' down in Maryland, where he took respectable girls from Baltimore, and also some New York girls went down there, too.

Says White Liked Innocence.

Jerome wanted to know if all those girls could have been respectable. Thaw said the majority of them were, at least, for he had reason to know White didn't care to have any acquaintance with girls who weren't innocent.

"Then White had a place on Twenty-eighth street and a place on Thirtieth street and a yacht at Southampton," Thaw continued.

Jerome wanted to know how it was the witness had learned all these different resorts that White was supposed to have maintained. Thaw replied that some men whom he had known and who had at one time or another been associates of White, had told him much about the architect's practices.

"Why there was one man I met," and here Thaw leaned over the rail of the witness chair and spoke in a confidential tone, "and this fellow told me that he used to run with Stanford White, and that though he was no 'lady,' he could not stand for some of the things that went on in White's dens."

Jerome then asked Thaw to tell him something more about May Mackenzie. Did Thaw think that the letter entered in evidence as having been written to her by White indicated anything of a wrong intent. Thaw instantly replied that it did. He believed that White had not paid particular attention to this girl until he believed that she was pure.

"This was a girl who came from Boston to New York in 1900," said Thaw, with an air of one telling a serious story. "She was only about 16. She got a position as a chorus girl and met White. White seemed to like her in a way, but not in the way that he liked most of the young girls he met.

"He treated her nicely at first, gave her rent, and let her ride in his carriage whenever she wanted to; maybe they had a time that was a little—a little fast, as you might say, but not improper. I know from what I heard subsequently from friends that White believed her thoroughly sophisticated. But she grew ill and White had her sent to a hospital. From the hospital physician he learned something later that made him change his whole attitude toward her. When she got out of the hospital, and this was in 1904—White wrote to her and said, 'May, I've got to have you; you might as well give up now. I must have you.'

"Later Miss Mackenzie told me that this attitude of White's so shocked her that she got excited and did not know what to do. She took the letter to Miss Fay Templeton and asked Miss Templeton to advise her. She was afraid her father in Boston might hear of this turn of affairs and come down and shoot White.

Burns Letter; It Was "So Awful."

"Miss Templeton advised her to burn the letter; it was so awful. So they burned it. White didn't bother her for some time, I think, but it was two years later when he went on the fishing trip to Canada and from there sent her this letter which has been entered as evidence."

Thaw finished his recital with an air of finality, but Jerome was back at him in a minute. "So you think that Miss Mackenzie's relations with White never reached a point such as other girls experienced?"

"O, I am sure they did not. I know that White didn't ruin her as he did other girls."

Jerome passed a letter up to Thaw and asked him if he could identify it as in the hand of Miss Mackenzie. Thaw looked the letter over with a show of surprise and said that it manifestly was a letter from May Mackenzie to Stanford White.

"Now," said Jerome, "I want to read you this letter and ask you if you think it consistent with your story of a young girl who had a wrong offered her."

He read the letter, which was addressed "Dear Stan."

Letter Shows Girl as "Frivolous."

Jerome paused at one point in the letter and then with emphasis read these words:

"If you were only here to enjoy the fun. I know where there is to be a sassy little ball where young females will flit about in gauzy veils and nothing else."

"How much credit can you put in the story of a girl who would write such a letter to a man?" Jerome asked.

Thaw thought he could explain that seeming discrepancy in the character of May Mackenzie. Jerome interrupted Thaw to get him to identify a letter which showed May Mackenzie had received money from White after the time Thaw had set as the period during which White had pursued her.

"Well, if he was giving her money, I suppose she thought she might as well get all she could," Thaw interjected, and then continued his story.

Mrs. Thaw Tells of Son's Boyhood.

Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of the prisoner, took the stand at 2:50 p. m.

Mrs. Thaw said that 306 members of the Thaw family were now living. She told for the second time on the witness stand the story of the death of her baby fourteen months before Harry's birth, a fact that was brought out at the second homicide trial as having a powerful prenatal affect on Harry. The witness then related Harry's early life history, which she illustrated by two baby photographs.

Twice during her testimony Mrs. Thaw seemed about to break down. The first time Thaw left his chair by his attorney and went to her side.

Several minutes later the mother was obliged to stop and cover her face with her fan. Her son quickly mounted the stand put his arm about her, patted her cheek, and whispered in her ear: "You had better wait until tomorrow."

"No," said Mrs. Thaw, quickly recovering herself. "I can go on."

Thaw went back to his seat and the witness resumed her testimony.

Says Asylum Is Bad Place.

Mrs. Thaw said Harry accepted the conditions at Matteawan as something that could not be remedied, except having to go to bed at 8 p. m.

"It was marvelous to me that he could endure the conditions so well," she declared.

Mrs. Thaw gave a graphic description of her visit to the second room her son occupied at Matteawan. During the recital she had to stop twice, covering her face and weeping. This time it was her other son, Josiah Thaw, who mounted the stand and soothed her. Again Mr. Morschauser suggested that she continue the story tomorrow, and again Mrs. Thaw refused. "I want to finish now," she declared.

"Do you want to know what my Harry's room was like?" she sobbed.

"Tell us," said Mr. Morschauser.

"It was clean enough, but it was provided with an iron bed, and that was all."

The witness said she found adjoining rooms with rugs on the floor and more furniture.

Mrs. Thaw said she asked to have Harry given a better room, and was told that all the inmates must be treated alike. She asserted the hospital authorities discriminated against her in the matter of visiting her son.

Her daughter, the former countess of Yarmouth, and Josiah Thaw supported Mrs. Thaw as she walked from the stand to her chair.

Thaw May Never Return Home.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 5.—In the face of alleged statements from Harry Thaw, at White Plains, that if liberated he would likely come here to live, is the assertion tonight from persons in close touch with the Thaw family affairs that the young millionaire never will return to Pittsburg. From the same high authority comes the declaration that the Thaw fortune has been greatly reduced and that the Thaw home has been upon the open real estate market for some time.

CHOICE OF CHIEF DELAYED A WEEK

Capt. Stephen B. Wood Seems in Lead for the Vacant Position.

MULLANEY'S REPLY IS NO.

Mayor's Immediate Task Is Selection of City Finance Investigators.

While a dozen candidates for the place of chief of police—left open by the declination of the appointment by B. J. Mullaney, secretary to the mayor—have been brought forward by their friends, it practically is assured that no selection will be announced before late next week. Mayor Busse, really looking better than he has at any time since he went into office, presided over the special council meeting yesterday at which concurrence in the reappointment of Hiram D. Fargo to the civil service commission was the only official act. Then Mr. Busse went back to Fox Lake with a statement that he would not return until Monday.

By that time it is expected Ald. B. W. Snow will have returned from Canada, and as he is to be consulted before the Merriam expenditure commission is selected the next special meeting of the council to which the appointment of a chief can be sent for approval will not be held before Wednesday or Thursday.

Wants to Start Investigation.

It may not be held as soon as that as the mayor is anxious to send the names of the men who are to investigate the city's financial matters to the special meeting so that they may begin work before the council regularly reconvenes on Sept. 27. A third special call is believed unnecessary and ill advised.

In the selection of those nine men, it is said, the mayor has one of the hardest appointment problems that has been presented to him during his term of office. It is desired that neither a "whitewashing" nor a "muckraking" body—both of which are considered grave possibilities—be chosen. The task of finding nine men who will tackle the huge task fairly, efficiently, and thoroughly is regarded as extremely difficult. So far it has not been determined whether any aldermen or city officials shall be included in the number.

This situation promises at least a week's delay. In addition the array of candidates for the position of general superintendent of police already presented to the mayor probably will be increased so that the task of selecting the best man for the job will be no one day affair.

Strong Talk of Wood.

Of the dozen men mentioned in a way that added weight to their claims for consideration one may be classified as in the lead. He is Capt. Stephen B. Wood, now in charge of the Twenty-second district. He has the recommendation of being a first class policeman with a good record and a wide experience with local conditions.

Mayor Busse has said repeatedly he will select the best man procurable for the position, whether inside or outside the department, whether with or without police experience. In the balance will be thrown the question whether a non-Chicagoan could gain sufficient appreciation and understanding of local conditions in twenty months—the remainder of Mayor Busse's term—to warrant his appointment.

Capt. Wood, in addition to having the recommendation of being an officer of ability, reputation, and experience, is said to have also the advantage of strong support from several directions. It is reported that his selection would meet with the approval of State's Attorney Wayman, with whom it is the administration's desire to coöperate in the enforcement of law.

How Wood Won Position.

In the days of "Old Jack" Shea at the detective bureau Wood won a reputation as a detective. Since that time he has made a record in the south and southwestern parts of town as an efficient and reliable officer. At Twenty-second street he continued the work of regulating and controlling vice and reducing crime in the levee district that is said to be even an improvement on the work of Edward McCann, who, had it not been for the attacks of the west side divekeepers, probably would have been at least second choice for the office of chief because of his record there.

Capt. Wood visited the mayor during the day and came out with his face wreathed in smiles.

"When I was notified that Chief Shippy had resigned I started to make my run for the office," he said, "and I hope I will succeed. Right now the police department is a little upset, but it can be placed on a good footing in a short time. I think I have the ability to fill the office and will make a good fight for the position."

Beside these two men two others frequently have been mentioned. Capt. P. D. O'Brien, chief of detectives, in some quarters is looked upon as Wood's closest rival.

Fire Marshal Horan laughingly has declared that he wouldn't take the place for $100,000, and Gen. E. C. Young of the Illinois National guard has said he could not accept the position.

THANKFULNESS AND SADNESS MINGLE IN STRICKEN FAMILY.

Business Men's Gift of Money Enables Mother to Bury Baby—Another Child Is Ill.

There was thankfulness and sadness last night in the little two room second story home of Mrs. Jennie Wilson, 1708 Milwaukee avenue. The day before a bailiff had called with a writ of eviction and had discovered the mother and two little children sick and almost starving while the baby of the family was dead. That was the cause of sadness in the home. The reason for thankfulness was a generous gift which had been made by three business men who read of the family's plight in THE TRIBUNE yesterday morning.

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE who carried the gift to the family found them mourning over the baby. The mother had just returned from an unsuccessful endeavor to borrow $11 for the baby's burial. The father, it is said, deserted the family six months ago and the scanty savings of the mother became exhausted, so the gift of $15 from the business men turned tears of sorrow into thankfulness.

"I wish I could thank those good men and tell them what their help means to us," said the mother. "It will pay for baby's funeral and help us until I can get work again."

The second child, a 4 year old boy, is ill with whooping cough and the elder a girl of 8, is the "mother" of the family while the real mother is away at work. The United Charities will help care for the family until the mother is able to maintain a home again.

NIGHT HORSE SHOW AT FAIR.

After Dark Exhibition of Animals to Be Feature at Springfield in October.

A horse show at night will be one of the features of the Illinois state fair at Springfield in October.

At a meeting held in the Sherman House yesterday by members of the Illinois State Fair association, the horse show feature was arranged and the program, together with list of the $5,000 in prizes which will be offered, was sent to the printer and will be ready for distribution within a few days.

Fred M. Blount, Chicago, is chairman of the horse show committee. George H. Madden of Tuscola, will be superintendent of the show, which will be held on the nights of October 6, 7 and 8.

EVANSTON NEWLYWEDS WIN

Marry Outside Picnic Grounds in Time to Capture the Prize.

OTHER OUTINGS ARE HELD.

Grocers, Butchers, Sales Managers and Credit Men Take to Woods.

Cupid won a victory over the order of Evanston's mayor yesterday and a wheel of fortune kept moving on the picnic grounds during the celebration of the annual "Evanston day outing." More than 10,000 persons visited the Northwestern athletic field, where they were entertained with dancing, games, races, and other contests.

James F. Bernard, an Evanston florist's foreman, and Mrs. Rose Richter of Chicago announced their intention of entering the contest in which a prize was to be given to the most recently married couple. They arrived at the picnic early and for fear others might enter the contest afterwards agreed to wait till five minutes before the prize would be awarded to have the marriage ceremony performed.

All was in readiness for the marriage ceremony at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon, when Mayor Joseph E. Paden requested that the marriage ceremony take place outside the picnic grounds, saying a marriage ceremony was too solemn an occasion to be intermingled with field day races and games.

"We'll win the prize anyway," said Bernard. "We can be married outside the grounds and return for the prize."

The marriage was performed by Justice Boyer, just outside the picnic grounds, and as the couple reëntered they were congratulated by the mayor.

Complaint of Wheel of Fortune.

Another incident that attracted attention similar to the interest shown in the newlyweds was the attempt by the police to stop a wheel of fortune in which cigars were given to the winners. Word was received at the police station from Justice of the Peace Catherine Waugh McCulloch that a man had called at her office and told her gambling existed on the picnic grounds. A policeman was dispatched to the picnic grounds and the wheel of fortune ordered stopped. A conference of the members of the Commercial association was called, and after three minutes they told the police there was no gambling and that the association would be responsible for anything that took place at the alleged gambling booth.

St. Mary's church team defeated the Evanston team in a baseball game by a score of 23 to 3.

Evanston firemen defeated the icemen in a tug of war contest.

Mr. and Mrs. James Welbourn of 2251 Ridge avenue won one prize for the oldest married couple and another for the couple longest married. Mr. Welbourn is 82 years old and his wife is 75. They have been married fifty-seven years. Other prize winners were:

Prettiest baby—Harry Larsen, 4 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Larsen.
Prettiest woman—Virginia White.
Shortest woman—Mrs. Robert Watson.
Tallest woman—Miss Martha Palm.
Pie eating contest—Ralph Poole of 611 Chicago avenue.

Business Men Enjoy a Picnic.

The National Sales Managers' association joined with the Chicago Credit Men's association in a picnic in Ravinia Park, where about five hundred persons who went by special cars from Chicago witnessed games and other contests.

The fifty yard dash for married ladies was won by Mrs. Fred A. Palmer, with Mrs. C. D. Fish a close second. Mrs. Charles W. Reid won a fifty yard potato race in which about twenty women took part, each carrying a large potato on a spoon.

A baseball game between the sales managers and credit men resulted in a score of 7 to 6 in favor of the latter, and a tug of war contest ended in favor of the sales managers.

Grocers and Butchers' Outing.

Practically every grocery and meat market in the city was closed while the proprietors, their employés, families, and friends to the number of about 6,000 attended an outing in Monon park at Cedar lake, Ind. It was the fifth annual picnic of the United Grocers and Butchers of Chicago, and the most successful affair the organization ever held.

There were all sorts of games and amusements, the winners receiving sections of stock from the wholesalers. The features were the fat men's race, which was won by George Popp, and the ball game, which the grocers won from the butchers by a score of 13 to 4. Mrs. George Werner won the married women's race, and Miss Edith Haug was victor in the young women's race.

Four big special trains carried the excursionists. The officers of the association, who had direct charge, are: L. L. Schmal, president; Walter Horn, first vice president; William Minter, second vice president; A. G. Hambrock, secretary; F. H. Dethke, treasurer; and Richard J. Reder, musical director.

INVESTIGATE WOMAN'S STORY OF ATTACK AT FIRE IN HOME.

Mrs. Barbara Mertein Says Two Men Bound and Gagged Her and Started Blaze.

Fire Attorney Hogan is investigating a fire which was discovered yesterday in the rooms of Mrs. Barbara Mertein at 4650 Butler street. Mrs. Mertein told the police that she had been bound and gagged by two men who entered her apartment and demanded money from her. She said she told them she had no money and they set fire to the room and escaped.

Mrs. Mertein freed herself and ran into the apartment of Mrs. Kate Metzger, across the hall from her rooms. A piece of paper bound in a handkerchief was in her mouth and she was waving her hands and trying to talk. Mrs. Metzger removed the paper from her mouth and Mrs. Mertein told her the same story she later related to the police.

The fire was extinguished with a loss of $150 on the building and $50 on household goods belonging to Mrs. Mertein. The police say Mrs. Mertein's goods were insured for $400.

Mrs. Hetty Green of New York formerly owned the house where the fire was discovered, but the title is now in dispute.

PARK CENSOR DARES CRITICS

Sergt. O'Donnell Will Let Law and Order League Try Hand.

"LET THEM BRING SUITS."

Farwell Says One Management Has Promised Clean Shows.

Sergeant Charles E. O'Donnell announced yesterday that the criticism of the Chicago Law and Order league of his work as censor of the shows in the amusement parks was unjust and announced his intention of letting the reform organization try its own hand in prosecuting the objectionable shows.

"If they think I am not a competent officer, let them bring suits of their own and see if they can get convictions," he said. "The case of one of the men taken from Riverview park as a female impersonator will be heard on Aug. 10 in the courts. I will notify Mr. Farwell and his agents that they may present the evidence they have.

Doesn't Believe League.

"I have kept a close watch on the parks for the last month, and I have seen nothing out of the way. I do not believe the reports made by the agents of the Law and Order league.

"I have received Mr. Farwell's reports regularly, but I have had no complaints from any other source. I would act quickly if complaints came from any other persons."

Arthur Burrage Farwell said in the evening that a better understanding between himself and the management of Riverview Park undoubtedly would be reached as the result of a letter he received from W. M. Johnson of the park management.

Park Agrees to Censor Shows.

"Mr. Johnson has agreed to do all in his power to keep the shows clean," said the leader of the Law and Order league. "He will make contracts with managers of concessions next year that will permit their removal if they are not up to the standard. This is the most encouraging statement we have received.

"We will assist Sergeant O'Donnell in the prosecution of any of his cases and will give him all the evidence we have. Investigators will be sent to the parks every night next week."

SAYS SPOUSE WILL NOT WORK; WIFE SUES HIM FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. Ida M. Trout, President of a Window Cleaning Company, Also Tells of Alleged Threat.

Mrs. Ida M. Trout, president of the Chicago Window Cleaning company, will bring suit this morning for divorce from Edgar Allen Trout on the assertion that he will not work. The papers were filed yesterday. Judge Tuthill will try the case.

"I have put him in my business as manager, but he never reported for work," said Mrs. Trout, in explaining her attitude. "When I married him two years ago he had never worked a stroke in his life. I just took him off his mother's hands and have had to support him ever since. Instead of earning any money, he spent all that I could make."

On Aug. 1, Mrs. Trout said, her husband came home about 1 a. m. and threatened to kill her. She also asserted that he had been coming to her place of business and annoying her employés.

TWO ESSENTIALS FOR AN "AD"

First, Make It an Attractive One; Next, Put It in "Tribune."

ASK ADAMS; HE KNOWS.

Dull Season, but Stenographers Galore Call at His Office,

An advertisement for an experienced stenographer, published in the classified columns of THE TRIBUNE last Monday, after every other resource had been exhausted in the search convinced George M. Adams that it pays to advertise in THE TRIBUNE and that it is worth while to write ads that will attract attention.

"I wrote it so that it would reach the girl I wanted, if she were accessible," he said. "The morning the advertisement appeared I had fifty experienced girls call for an interview. Before noon I had selected the one I wanted. All afternoon I had girls applying for the position."

The advertisement follows:

SOMEWHERE IN THIS GREAT, WONDERFUL city is a young lady stenographer that I want to employ. I have been looking for her for months. She runs an Oliver machine, does it neatly, accurately—and with speed backed by a good, level head. She is making good where she is. She would make good anywhere. But she is dissatisfied. Something is the trouble. She alone knows—and so wants to make a change. Well, I want this young lady, for she does things with her brains as well as with her fingers. She works with her very soul and interests herself in the success of the people she serves. She's not the girl-here-today, girl-there-tomorrow sort. That's one reason why I want her. Am I talking to this young lady now? I have tried and tried to find you. Now I want you—without delay. You will come to the fastest growing concern of its class in America—a concern that is contributing to the sum of human happiness in large doses. And you will be contented here, for the sort of work you are looking for awaits you—with pleasant offices, a good organization, and right hours. To start with I will see that you get $15—good dollars—weekly. You must merit at least this. Think now—before you see me. Are you the young lady I have in mind? To kill all doubt, come and talk with me. Call Randolph 832 for appointment.

ARMOUR INSTITUTE DAMAGED BY BLAZE ON THIRD FLOOR.

Fire, Believed to Have Been Started by Explosion in the Chemical Laboratory, Threatens Entire Building.

Fire on the third floor of the south wing of the Armour institute yesterday did $30,000 damage. No one was injured, as the summer sessions at the institute closed last Saturday.

E. W. McMullen and R. S. Todd of 3412 Michigan avenue, chemists, were on the third floor of the building, and Supt. James Little was in his office when the blaze started. They ran to the street and turned in an alarm. Prof. C. H. O. Yoj, who has been lecturing at the institute, was in the library.

Capt. J. McGraw of engine company No. 48 was leading the firemen up a ladder when, as they reached the third floor, two or three small explosions in the chemical laboratory occurred which shook the ladder and for a second threatened to dislodge the firemen. The men hurriedly descended, replacing the ladder in a safer position. It is believed the blaze started in the chemical laboratory.

DENEEN PLANS SOLONS' WORK

Governor to Issue Call in October for Extra Session.

NEW PRIMARY LAW PLANNED

Lorimer Is Coming Home with News of Federal Patronage.

Gov. Deneen is busily at work arranging a program for the extra session of the general assembly. This information came from Springfield yesterday, coupled with the tip that the official call for the extra session will be issued during the week following the state fair in October.

The governor in shaping up the matters which he will ask the legislators to consider is seeking to have the codification of the revenue laws and of the laws affecting the railroads included in the special session business.

The general assembly prior to adjournment authorized the appointment of separate commissions to do the work of codification. The news from the state capital is that Gov. Deneen is about ready to announce these commissions and will ask the members to get busy and have their findings prepared for submission to the members of the legislature when they convene in November.

Plan Working Agreement.

The points to be included in the special session call have not been announced by Gov. Deneen, and the only big item which the senators and representatives are certain will be put up to them is the making of another primary law. It is understood that efforts will be made by forces which are ostensibly in control of the legislature to have a working agreement on a primary law satisfactorily arranged prior to the reassembling of the solons at Springfield.

The possibility of Speaker Shurtleff being chosen as the successor to the late federal Judge Bethea is giving concern to those persons whose interest is centered in the progress of legislative matters. Speaker Shurtleff is said to be desirous of reëlection as speaker by Republican votes at the next regular session of the general assembly. It is conceded that if he remains in the house that he will be elected speaker for the extraordinary session.

Shurtleff Going on Bench?

Should Mr. Shurtleff be raised to the federal bench, it is quite another matter, and the politicians predict a scramble for the official gavel at the extra session, on the theory that the special session speaker would have a long lead for the speakership at the next regular session.

Senator Lorimer is expected from Washington tonight or tomorrow morning with fresh tidings concerning Illinois federal patronage.

Municipal Judge Hume was brought out yesterday as the newest addition to the list of candidates for the Bethea succession. His friends claim for him that the fact that he is a Yale graduate and a close personal friend of President Taft is enough to warrant his entrance into the game.

WOMAN LOSES $500 IN GEMS AFTER ATTENDING A FUNERAL.

Child Who Found Rings Says She "Picked Them Up and Gave Them to a Lady."

After Mrs. F. D. Movery had attended the funeral services yesterday of her neighbor, Mrs. John Hanssen, she stepped into the waiting room of Graceland cemetery and washed her hands, taking off $500 worth of rings before she did so. Then she went across the street to her family lot in the cemetery without putting her rings on again.

When she returned to get her jewels they were gone, and little Anne Glassbrook, who had been playing in the washroom, said that she had "picked them up and given them to a lady."

"I asked one woman," said the girl in explaining to Mrs. Movery, "if they belonged to her and she said 'no,' then I asked this woman, and she said they were hers." The woman who received the rings was tall and slender, according to the child's description, wearing a black shirt waist, a white skirt, and carrying a basket and a sprinkling can.

Mrs. Movery has inserted the following advertisement in THE TRIBUNE:

Reward for rings taken from little girl at washroom Graceland cemetery. No questions asked. 583 Burling street.

The loss of the rings was reported to the Addison street police station.

PHILIP SWIFT ESCAPES KNIFE.

Operation Not Necessary for Injury Sustained in Auto Crash—Ankle in Plaster Cast.

Philip Swift, who was injured in an automobile accident a week ago, was brought to Chicago from Lake Geneva yesterday and taken to the Michael Reese hospital. It was agreed by the surgeons that an operation was not necessary.

An X-ray examination of his ankle showed that the bones had been crushed. The ankle was placed in a plaster cast, and the physicians expect a complete recovery.

The young man rested easily last night, and did not appear to have suffered from the trip to the hospital. He was brought to the city in a private car, accompanied by Dr. M. L. Harris and Dr. Philip G. Doane.

Sir Rivers Wilson in Chicago Today.

Sir Rivers Wilson, chairman of the Grand Trunk railway system, will arrive in Chicago this morning from Toronto, on an inspection trip of the properties of the system and a tour of the west. He is accompanied by Lady Violet Wilson, Charles M. Hays, second vice president, and family, and ten officials of the Grand Trunk system. They will stop at the Congress hotel.

CHICAGOAN HEAD OF C. T. A.

Convention Elects the Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan President.

EXCURSION ON LAKE TODAY.

Primary Education of Youth Urged as National Campaign.

With a final plea for more vigorous action against the liquor forces of the country, the elimination of the American saloon, and primary education of the young in the principles of temperance, the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of America virtually ended its sessions yesterday.

As a climax to the important work done by the convention, more than 1,000 delegates voted unanimously for the election of the Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan of St. Mary's church (Paulist Fathers), Chicago, to the presidency. Father O'Callaghan, who was treasurer, succeeds the Rev. James Thomas Coffey of St. Louis, who is touring the Holy land.

It also was decided to receive subscriptions from members so that the campaign of total abstinence could be carried on with greater vigor. It is expected that several thousand dollars will be added to the funds of the union before the next annual meeting.

The closing address was made by the Rev. James M. Reardon of St. Paul, who spoke on "The New Crusade." He gave suggestions for more effective temperance work among the young, and especially advocated a campaign of education as a means of overthrowing the liquor forces.

Urges Education of Youth.

"The education of the young in temperance principles must be made the object of our most strenuous endeavors," he said, "for it is not to be supposed that the decisive battlefield in the present temperance conflict is in the halls of legislation. It really lies in the public schools and in the Sunday schools and in the homes.

"There must be a mind of temperance and self-control put into the youth of today. Boys must learn the needlessness and hurt of strong drink, and the necessity of withstanding its lure, and the glory of joining that company of knightly souls who have vowed to fight it ever and everywhere until it no longer shall curse the race.

"Every child, without exception, should be taught the truth—the unassailable truth—about strong drink in relation to the individual and the community. And if, despite this teaching, he enters upon the broad way that leadeth to destruction, he does so with full understanding of the consequences which flow from his deliberate choice.

"We are little less than criminally responsible if we fail to enlighten the minds, mold the character, and form the habits of the rising generation on this all important matter."

Quotes Figures as Argument.

"From a study of alcoholic cases made by Dr. Lambert of the Bellevue hospital for the year 1904, it was found that nearly 7 per cent began to drink before they attained the age of 12 years; 30 per cent before the age of 16; 68 per cent, or more than two-thirds, before the age of 21.

"This indicates clearly that if effective temperance work is to be done among the young it must be undertaken at an early age and continued beyond the span of youth."

A resolution was offered by Miss A. H. O'Connor of Chicago to the effect that the union should print all of the papers read at the convention and send them broadcast to saloonkeepers. It also was suggested that the union make a campaign among employers to get them to pay their employés in cash instead of checks.

One delegate asserted the check paying system made no difference with men who wanted to spend their money in the saloons. It was declared that a recent test in Pennsylvania disclosed that out of $50,000 paid to laborers in new bills more than $25,000 was sent to the banks next day by the saloonkeepers.

Local Option Indorsed.

Resolutions were passed favoring local option and urging members of the organization to fight vigorously for this method of exterminating the saloon.

Besides Father O'Callaghan, the following officers were elected:

Vice presidents—The Rev. T. G. Beane, Pittsburg; John F. Corbett, New Haven, Conn.; Miss Katherine Kelly, Kansas City.
Treasurer—The Rev. J. B. Moylan, Scranton, Pa.
General secretary—John T. Shay, Boston.

In the evening the delegates were entertained at a garden party at the Lincoln park refectory. Mrs. Frederick Clark of Ravenswood was the hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. W. C. H. Keough. Today the delegates will participate in an excursion on the lake in the steamer United States, after which most of them will return to their homes.

The next convention will meet in Boston.

MRS. ALTGELD GAINS STRENGTH

Family Decides She Should Remain in Hospital Till Danger of Relapse Is Reduced.

Mrs. John P. Altgeld, who has been in the Chicago Union hospital for more than a month, is slowly gaining strength, but her physicians say it will be weeks before she can leave the hospital. The pains which caused her so much distress have been greatly relieved, though it is said they may linger for years. Mrs. Altgeld is more than 60 years old. Upon the advice of physicians, the members of her family have agreed that she should remain in the hospital until the danger of a relapse has been reduced to the minimum.

COURTS TO DECIDE CORPORATION TAX

Boards of Assessors and Review Seek Legal View on Their Authority.

TILT OVER CAPITAL STOCK

Several Public Officials Fail to Answer Summons on Increased Assessments.

Because there is a difference of opinion among the legal advisers of the various taxing bodies regarding what authority the board of assessors and the board of review have in the matter of assessing the capital stock of mercantile corporations, it has been decided to put the question up to the courts for final decision. The position of the board of review and also the board of assessors in this matter has been set forth in a letter which was sent yesterday to John C. Harding of the Illinois Tax Reform league by Roy O. West, president of the board of review.

Harding filed complaint with the board of assessors and later with the board of review, demanding that they levy a capital stock tax against several of the largest corporations in the county, among them being Armour & Co., Swift & Co., J. S. Kirk & Co., and N. K. Fairbank & Co. In this complaint Mr. Harding professed to give figures showing the value of the stock.

In the meantime both the boards had referred the matter to their attorneys, John C. Richberg for the board of assessors and Herbert S. Duncan for the board of review, and also had asked Attorney General Stead for an opinion as to whether they had authority to levy a capital stock tax against mercantile corporations.

Will Precipitate a Suit.

Attorney Richberg held that the local assessing bodies had that authority, while Attorney General Stead and Attorney Duncan held that the authority was vested by statute in the state board of equalization. Therefore, in order that it may be settled for all time, the two local boards have agreed that the board of assessors shall levy an assessment against the capital stock of certain mercantile corporations having charters similar to those named in Mr. Harding's complaint, with the expectation that some or all of them will also be assessed by the state board of equalization, which will precipitate a suit.

In his letter to Mr. Harding Mr. West says: "In relation to several communications filed by you on the 14th day of July in respect to the assessment of capital stock of certain corporations, we wish to say that the board of review has been advised by its attorney, appointed to act as such by operation of law, that the board of review has not authority to assess for back or current taxes the capital stock of certain Illinois corporations named in your communication.

Legal Opinion Is Sought.

"That the question may be finally determined by the courts of our state the board of review has arranged with the board of assessors of Cook county to assess for 1909 the capital stock of certain Illinois corporations whose charters have provisions similar to those named in your said communication. The board of assessors has reserved the right to select the corporations which will be so assessed."

Public officials generally have been lax about answering summons to appear before the members of the board of review to show cause why their assessments should not be increased. In view of their failure to report the board will settle the cases to suit itself, and it is said that probably it may add a little to the board of assessors' figures.

Officials' Names Listed.

State's Attorney Wayman.
Municipal Judge Fry.
Municipal Judge Heap.

Dr. C. P. Wilhite, superintendent of Dunning.
John L. Whitman, superintendent of bridewell.

Maxwell Edgar, recently enjoined from representing himself as being an officer of the Illinois Tax Reform association, filed two petitions for a writ of mandamus in the Circuit court, calling upon Florus D. Meacham, Roy O. West, and Fred Upham, members of the board of review, to assess capital stock of domestic and foreign corporations.

PRESIDENT SIGNS TARIFF MEASURE

Payne Bill Passes Senate by a Vote of 47 to 31 and Taft Acts at Once.

IS A LAW AT MIDNIGHT.

Seven Republican Insurgents Bolt Their Party in the Final Lineup.

able opposition to anything of the kind. Representative Payne of New York and Representative McCall of Massachusetts both asserted that if such an amendment were attached to the boots and shoes resolution the measure would fail. A point of order would be made against it on the ground that there was a change in the duty, which should originate in the house, and this would defeat the entire resolution.

No such point would lie against the resolution if only products of hides and calfskins were referred to, because a change of duty was not contemplated thereby.

This argument showed imagination, for, as reported by the conferees, boots and shoes of calf skins were dutiable at a higher rate than those made from hides of cattle. However, Senator Aldrich had the votes behind him, and the argument, therefore, was bombproof.

Culberson Is Bitter.

Senator Culberson, minority leader of the senate, was informed before the vote on the bill was taken that the cotton bagging proposition could not be accepted.

When he rose on the floor to offer his amendment to the boots and shoes resolution he made no secret of his bitter resentment at the conduct of Senator Aldrich and his colleagues on the conference committee.

Mr. Culberson insisted that the southern cotton producers were in justice entitled as much to free cotton bagging as the farmers of the rest of the country were to free binding twine. He charged that the refusal to take the action he recommended was due to the desire of a certain member of the house to protect a monopoly in this material, evidently referring either to Representative Payne or Representative McCall.

Senator McLaurin of Mississippi read the Congressional Record of yesterday to prove that Senator Aldrich had agreed to a cotton bagging amendment. It showed that Senator Scott of West Virginia asked if the finance committee was willing to accept the amendment and enator Aldrich's reply was: "It does."

Aldrich Says Error Was Made.

The Rhode Island senator insisted that the stenographer made a mistake in reporting him as giving an affirmative response. He asserted he answered: "It does not."

Mr. Aldrich was not agreeable to any change in the resolution, and moved to table the Culberson amendment. The vote was taken and the vice president announced the result as 43 yeas in favor of Senator Aldrich and 36 nays against him.

After Mr. Culberson had been bowled out Senator McCumber of North Dakota offered an amendment exempting seed oil cake from the privilege of the drawback section and requiring millers to reëxport the byproducts of wheat as well as the flour produced therefrom unless upon payment of the full duty as under the present law.

Mr. McCumber had voted with Mr. Aldrich during the entire time the bill was in the senate, fully expecting the drawback section would be made satisfactory to him and to his farmer constituents. His explanation, however, failed of realization. He made such a protest about the conference report that Senator Aldrich consented to permit the passage of the resolution amending the drawback section.

Resolution Killed in House.

The resolution passed the senate without objection, but when it reached the house it was, upon motion of Representative Payne, killed by reference to the ways and means committee. As the bill was signed by the president, the drawback section remained as reported by the conferees.

Mr. La Follette of Wisconsin was another senator who considered he had not been treated justly. He stated on the floor that he had placed his name before the vice president yesterday with a request that he be recognized for a speech. He asserted that his name was passed over purposely until after the hour of 2 o'clock arrived, when, under an agreement by the senate some days ago, the voting was to begin on the passage of the bill.

Mr. La Follette intimated that he had not been "choked off" by any means, and that between now and December he would make a number of speeches in the course of which he would express his opinion of the senate and the tariff bill. Some of the senators were inclined to regard this threat as an advertisement for the Chautauqua course of lectures which the Wisconsin senator has arranged to deliver.

President Waits to Sign.

President Taft furnished the interesting feature of the proceedings today. He reached the capitol at 4:45 p. m., accompanied by Fred W. Carpenter, secretary to the president; M. C. Latta, assistant secretary, and Capt. Archibald W. Butt, his military aid. All the members of the cabinet were grouped about him in the president's room on the senate side of the capitol, with the exception of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, who is absent from the city, and was represented by Acting Secretary Jesse Wilson.

The president appeared in fine spirits. He seemed to be in excellent health and radiated with good humor. While waiting for the measure to be brought to him for approval he held a reception, practically the entire senate and many members of the house appearing to pay their respects.

It was noticeable that Mr. Taft enjoys great popularity with the members of both houses. Stalwart Republicans, progressive Republicans, and Democrats all took advantage of the opportunity to engage him in conversation. He invited Senator Bailey to visit Beverly. The president pleasantly agreed to talk over Kansas matters with Senator Bristow of that state at the White house tomorrow.

Jokes with Florida Senator.

Senator Taliaferro of Florida expressed surprise to Mr. Taft that he would approve the tariff bill in view of its failure to carry the increase made by the senate on pineapples.

The president inquired if the senator desired him to rewrite the pineapple paragraph in accordance with the wishes of the Florida growers of the fruit.

One of the party suggested it might better be a California lemon than a Florida pineapple, which caused Senator Flint of California, who secured an increase of the duty on the citrus article, to smile significantly. Evidently this joking amused the president and remained in his memory, for when he took the hand of Senator Fletcher of Florida a few minutes later he greeted him as "Senator Pineapples."

President Is Notified.

At this moment Senator Aldrich and Senator Daniel of Virginia, who had been designated as a committee to notify the president that congress was ready to adjourn, appeared and delivered their message.

Mr. Taft smiled and said to Mr. Aldrich: "Well, senator, I haven't signed the tariff bill yet, and I suppose you want me to do that before congress adjourns."

Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Daniel at once retired, and the former went in search of the tariff bill. The measure had been taken to the senate from the house of representatives by the chief clerk, William J. Browning, a few minutes after the president reached the capitol. It bore the signature of the speaker.

Vice President Sherman immediately wrote his name on the measure, and in the ordinary course it would have been carried directly to the president's room.

Mr. Browning carried the voluminous document back to the house in accordance with instructions to deliver it to Representative Payne, who desired to present it himself to President Taft.

Chicagoan Heads Procession.

A procession was at once formed, headed by Representative Wilson of Chicago, chairman of the committee on enrolled bills. This started toward the senate wing of the capitol. Senator Aldrich and other members of the conference committee fell into line, and it was an imposing official parade that entered the president's room bearing the precious document.

Mr. Taft read the first page carefully, glanced over several others, whispered a word or two to Attorney General Wickersham, and looked at his watch to see the exact hour, which he confirmed by a question directed to Secretary Carpenter.

Mr. Payne handed him a new pen and the president wrote his name upon the last page of the document. He immediately added: "Signed at five minutes after 5 o'clock, Aug. 5, 1909. W. H. T."

Mr. Payne Gets the Pen.

The president then returned the pen to Mr. Payne, who carefully deposited it in his vest pocket. At this juncture Representative John W. Langley of Kentucky handed another pen to the president, and the latter used it in writing the word "Approved" above his official signature.

The Kentuckian seized the ink splashed pen and scurried away before any one could rob him of his prize. The measure had now become a law, and was taken in charge for delivery to the state department, which promulgates it officially.

Following the approval of the general tariff bill, the measure establishing free trade between the United States and the Philippines was signed by the president. An ornate pen made of gold mined in the Philippines was used for this ceremony.

When Provisions Go Into Effect.

Under the terms of the Payne law it goes into effect "the day after its passage" as to all paragraphs except those which specifically are mentioned. Among the exceptions are the maximum tariff, which will enter into force on March 30, 1910; the decreased duties on leather and the manufactured products of leather, which will take effect on Oct. 1, 1909; the internal revenue feature, which will enter into operation at the beginning of the next fiscal year, and the provision for the abrogation of trade agreements with foreign countries, which will take effect after notice of not more than six months in any case.

Congress adjourned at 6 o'clock, legislative time. In the house the hands of the clock were moved forward twenty-one minutes in order to expedite adjournment. The dignity of the senate permitted no such procedure, and it awaited patiently the hour agreed upon.

Tonight the senators and members scattered in all directions. The president will leave the city on Saturday, and Washington, except for the executive departments, from that day until October will cease to be a part of the official map.

FINAL BATTLE OVER TARIFF.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Senator Dolliver was the first speaker of the day. Opening his remarks with a defense of his course as a Republican in contending for lower customs duties, he denied the right of other Republican senators to question his position in the senate, a position which he said was dictated by his conscience.

"It has not been my fortune," he said, "to enjoy that mutual good will which should meet the efforts of a senator to change the tariff laws of the United States."

The people of his state, he added, had been referred to as "farm folk," while the state itself had been declared to be unreliable, given to populism and greenbackism. Iowa, he insisted, always had been true to Republican standards and still was upholding the best interests of the protective policy.

Refers to "Bargaining."

"Here," said Mr. Dolliver, "we have had the spectacle of men compelled to bargain for the protection of their own people with the authorities which control the senate. Majorities are obtained by a system of reciprocity arranged in the citadel of protection."

"We have a tariff commission now," the Iowa senator continued, referring to the opposition to the creation of such a body. "They are experts, although they never have been appointed by any public authority. They are volunteers aiding congress in its difficult and strenuous work."

This commission, the speaker insisted, had written the iron and steel schedule and the cotton schedule. And yet, he declared, when it was proposed to have a tariff commission appointed as a public body, the men who accepted the mandates of this tariff commission vigorously opposed the suggestion.

Mr. Dolliver criticised the work of the members of the board of general appraisers, of whom he spoke as "professional certifiers."

Dolliver Talks of "Humbug."

Presenting a statement prepared by the treasury department, Mr. Dolliver said it showed the rates in the cotton schedule were increased over the present law all along the line, and some of them as much as 100 per cent.

"And yet," he said, "the statement has been made here that only minor and insignificant changes had been made in that schedule. The American people are being duped with that kind of humbug and misrepresentation."

Contending that there was no raw material in this country, Mr. Elkins expressed his regret that the so-called free raw material campaign ever had been started. Labor had been expended upon those articles called raw material, and he believed that whenever they were subjected to foreign competition they should have been protected by the tariff.

"We of West Virginia," said Mr. Elkins, "are ready to revise the tariff downward or upward, but we want our share, and we haven't got it."

Heyburn Is Indignant.

Mr. Heyburn interjected that while he did not want to reflect upon any other department of the government, there had been a new doctrine of a vote of items of the bill that he could not approve.

"When we are told that certain items must not be placed in the bill or the bill will be vetoed, that is a threat that amounts to a veto of such items," said Mr. Heyburn. "There is no duty in this bill so high as to offend me."

Senator Warren took the floor shortly after noon and entered upon an extended denunciation of the hide and leather schedule. The manufacturers, he said, had agreed to accept free boots and shoes if they could obtain free hides, but when they got free hides they repudiated their agreement.

Showing much feeling during the course of his address, Mr. Warren called upon Senators Aldrich, Gallinger, and Dick to say what they thought of the doctrine of free raw material. All declared they did not approve of the idea of admitting hides free of duty.

Mr. Aldrich said he knew of no Republican and no protectionist who favored the doctrine of free raw materials as understood by Mr. Mills and Mr. Cleveland. Similar replies were received from Senators Bristow, Dolliver, Oliver, and Flint, who were called upon to state their views.

Bailey in Opposition.

Never before had a tariff bill passed under such a storm of disapproval, said Mr. Bailey, speaking in opposition to the report.

"You hope," he said, addressing the Republicans, "that with the returning tide of prosperity which even now can be seen, the people will forget the bad features of the bill."

Mr. Bailey reviewed political and industrial conditions to prove that the Wilson bill had not been responsible for depressed conditions. He added that the present bill would not improve conditions, although the Republicans would endeavor to spread the idea that it would.

A statement by Mr. Bailey that the average rates of the Payne bill were higher than the present law elicited from Mr. Aldrich a prompt denial.

In the opinion of the Texas senator, the effect of the conference was only a fairy tale intended to catch such Republican senators as Mr. Clapp of Minnesota "and men of his kind."

Texan Attacks Aldrich.

Crossing the aisle and directing his remarks specifically to Mr. Aldrich, Mr. Bailey declared that no one believed in the doctrine of free raw material, adding that the Rhode Island senator did not believe in it except when it affected New England interests.

"But," he said, "when you take the tax off hides for the benefit of New England the people will take a tax out of your hides in all those western states."

Ripples of laughter swept over the chamber at this remark, in which Mr. Aldrich could not refrain from joining.

The conferees, Mr. Aldrich said, had increased the duties on thirty items and decreased them on 110 items as they were placed in the senate bill. He would have preferred placing a small duty on hides, but there were 600 articles in conference and a compromise had to be reached. The senate conferees, he said, had held out as long as they could do so, and then, not with good grace, they had agreed.

Aldrich Replies to Criticism.

"So long as we have a government by parties in the United States," said Mr. Aldrich, referring to a criticism that the president had been consulted in the preparation of the bill, "the president of the United States, who is the head of the party, is interested, as are all of us, in carrying out the policies of his party. I think I should have been recreant to my trust if I had not conferred with the president with reference to the provisions of this act. Such conferences always have been held."

Saying that he had aided in the passage of five tariff bills, Mr. Aldrich declared that he had become used to Democratic predictions of disaster.

"I have no fear of the consequences," he said. "The people of the United States are committed to this protective system and they may be counted upon to sustain it."

Mr. Aldrich spoke until 2 o'clock when, in accordance with the unanimous agreement, the vote was taken on the adoption of the conference report, resulting: 47 yeas, 31 nays.

A resolution offered by Mr. Culberson, expressing the appreciation of the senate for the able and impartial manner in which the vice president had presided over the sessions of that body, was adopted.

Mr. Sherman thanked the senate for the courteous treatment which had been extended toward him.

Cannon Addresses the House.

Before adjourning the house Speaker Cannon, with the members standing with their hats in their hands, made a neat speech, in which he thanked them for their service during the special session. Upon its conclusion he got a round of applause from both sides. The speaker said:

"I desire to thank the membership of the house of representatives for efficient and faithful and, in my judgment, wise service during this special session of congress.

"Representing as we do in the aggregate 90,000,000, scattered as the population is from the Atlantic ocean to the Golden Gate and from the northern boundary to the southern boundary, producing as we do one-third of all the products of all the civilized world, it is but natural when the chosen representatives of the great body of the people come together with varying interests, with virile constituencies, that they should disagree as to the proper policies that should govern the enactment of legislation. Compromises are the result.

Responsibility of Majority.

"The majority is responsible from time to time for our legislation. We have performed our duty to the best of our ability. At times the contests have been warm, but there is one good thing about representing the American population.

"When the contest is over and the legislation is complete, unless it is quite objectionable, the people of the country conform to the provisions of the legislation and we move on. And as representatives, whatever the contests have been, the feeling passes away when the contest is over.

"I thank you, and as the hour has arrived for adjournment, wishing you a safe journey to your respective homes, health, and a safe return, nothing is left for me, under the provisions of the concurrent resolution, but to declare the first session of the sixty-first congress adjourned without day."

Tariff Dinner at White House.

With the tariff bill a thing of law and the animosities of conference and debate all but forgotten, the "tariff builders" sat with the president at dinner tonight in the state dining room of the White house.

It was Mr. Taft's celebration of the end of the tariff fight and his farewell dinner of the season. He leaves for the summer cottage at Beverly tomorrow afternoon.

Even the Democratic members of the committees which framed the tariff bill were included in the president's invitation list.

The president to his guests reiterated the statement he had earlier in the evening given to the public that the bill as finally adopted and signed constituted a sincere effort for a downward revision and an honest purpose to comply with campaign and platform pledges. He readily admitted that there were defects in the measure and schedules which he would have liked to have seen made entirely over. But he said he regarded the bill as a distinct forward step.

Guests of the President.

The president's guests included the five members of the cabinet who are in the city, all the members of the senate committee on finance, and the house committee on ways and means, Vice President Sherman, Speaker Cannon, Senator Crane of Massachusetts, the "whip" of the senate, and Representative Dwight of New York, the "whip" of the house.

It had been intended that the dinner should be served out of doors in the setting of palms and bay trees on the western terrace, but a heavy thunder storm, followed by a steady downpour of rain, caused a change of program.

ILLINOISANS GET COMMITTEE PLUMS

Speaker Cannon Hands Out House Posts to Representatives of His Home State.

MANN GIVEN HIS REWARD

Chicagoan Is Made Chairman of Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—"Uncle Joe" Cannon handed out good things to house members from Illinois in his distribution of committeeships for the Sixty-first congress, which he made just before the adjournment of the session this evening.

Some of the best committees of the house fell to the Illinoisans. Several were made glad by assignments to chairmanships.

Representative Mann of Chicago, who has stood by the speaker in many a hard fought house battle recently, was rewarded by being placed at the head of the important committee on interstate and foreign commerce, which will have to do with many interesting matters in connection with interstate commerce laws during next session.

As was predicted would be the case, Mr. Mann was jumped over Representative Manger of Pennsylvania, who preceded him on the committee.

Rodenberg Gets a Prize.

Representative William A. Rodenberg of the Twenty-second district drew his prize in the shape of the chairmanship of the committee on industrial arts and expositions, the position which formerly belonged to Augustus P. Gardner of Massachusetts, the man who led the revolt against the house rules in March.

Representative George Prince of the Fifteenth district received promotion to the chairmanship of the committee on claims and hereafter will be located in the somewhat palatial suite of that committee in the house office building. Mr. Prince has served as chairman of the committee on levees and improvements of the Mississippi river.

Representative Henry S. Boutell is reappointed chairman of the committee on expenditures in the navy department. George Edmund Foss retains the chairmanship of the naval committee. William B. McKinley remains at the head of the committee on coinage, weights, and measures, and William W. Wilson is reappointed chairman of the important committee on enrolled bills. These chairmanships, with Speaker Cannon himself as chairman of the committee on rules, give to Illinois the leadership of eight of the sixty-two committees of the house.

Assignments of Illinoisans.

Following is the complete assignment of committeeship to Illinois members.

Henry S. Boutell—Expenditures in navy department, chairman; ways and means.

Joseph G. Cannon—Rules, chairman.

Pleasant T. Chapman—Agriculture, manufactures.

George Edmund Foss—Naval affairs, chairman.

Martin D. Foster—Mines and mining, pensions.

Charles E. Fuller—Insular affairs, invalid pensions, militia.

Joseph V. Graff—Appropriations, education.

James M. Graham—Indian affairs.

Frank O. Lowden—Foreign affairs, postoffice and postroads.

Fred Lundin—Mileage, public buildings and grounds.

James T. McDermott—Agriculture.

William B. McKinley—Coinage, weights and measures, chairman; expenditures in the navy department, foreign affairs.

James McKinney—Banking and currency, levees and improvements of the Mississippi river, territories.

Martin B. Madden—Election of the president, vice president, and representatives in congress; rivers and harbors.

James R. Mann—Interstate and foreign commerce, chairman; reform in the civil service.

George W. Prince—Claims, chairman; military affairs.

Henry T. Rainey—Enrolled bills, irrigation of arid lands, labor.

William A. Rodenberg—Industrial arts and expositions, chairman; rivers and harbors.

Adolf J. Sabath—Alcoholic liquor traffic, immigration and naturalization.

Howard M. Snapp—Appropriations, census.

John A. Sterling—Judiciary, pensions.

Napoleon B. Thistlewood—Invalid pensions, levees and improvements of the Mississippi.

William W. Wilson—Enrolled bills, chairman; merchant marine and fisheries, patents.

Lorimer's Place Vacant.

There is one vacancy among Illinois memberships in the house due to the fact that the successor of William Lorimer has not yet been chosen. Apparently no committeeships have been reserved for this individual, but places for him undoubtedly will be found next winter.

The real "bonanza" among the committee makeups as far as Illinois and the Mississippi valley is concerned is the committee on rivers and harbors.

Senator William Lorimer practically selected this committee, and he did it in such a way that the results show three-fourths of its membership to be admittedly in favor of an immediate appropriation to start the lakes to gulf waterway project.

This committee undoubtedly will report favorably to the house in the next river and harbor bill an appropriation of at least $3,000,000 to inaugurate a comprehensive scheme for building the ship canal. The state of Illinois turned up with two members on the committee, Representative Madden as an agent of the lake interests of the state, and Representative Rodenberg as a downstate congressman with an eye to the welfare of the lakes to gulf project as regards that entire region.

Chairman Is in Minority.

The new chairman of the committee, De Alva S. Alexander of New York, cannot be classed as a waterway enthusiast, but he is said to have against him McLachlan of California, Woodyard of West Virginia, Rodenberg of Illinois, Humphrey of Washington, Madden of Illinois, Kennedy of Iowa, Cassidy of Ohio, Tener of Pennsylvania, Sparkman of Florida, Ransdell of Louisiana, Burgess of Texas, Humphreys of Mississippi, Taylor of Alabama, Ellerbe of South Carolina, and Edwards of Georgia.

The only doubtful ones outside the chairman are Lawrence of Massachusetts, Davidson of Wisconsin, Young of Michigan, and Moon of Tennessee. However, Senator Lorimer, who continues to hold a deep interest in the rivers and harbors committee on account of his pet project, considers that at least one-half of this number will be won over to the waterway appropriation.

Speaker Cannon carried out his threat and deposed Henry A. Cooper of Wisconsin from the chairmanship of the committee on insular affairs. He also made apparent his continued wrath against certain other members of the insurgent band, but as a rule treated them with surprising leniency, considering all that had been threatened.

Acoustics and Ventilation.

Mr. Lenroot of Wisconsin, a new member, drew the much-joked-of committee on ventilation and acoustics, along with patents. Mr. Poindexter of Washington, another independent, also will serve on the acoustics committee.

Mr. Norris of Nebraska was relieved of his important public buildings and grounds assignment. Mr. Murdock of Kansas was left unmolested on the committee on postoffices and postroads, and Mr. Madison of Kansas was reassigned to insular affairs and labor.

Mr. Kendall of Iowa was given such fair assignments as coinage, weights and measures, and Indian affairs. Mr. Gronna of North Dakota was reassigned to his last congress committees.

Mr. Gardner of Massachusetts, leader of the rules revolt, will expend his energies in the comparatively unimportant committees on immigration and naturalization and industrial arts and expositions.

New Chairmanships Announced.

The following new chairmanships were also announced:

Elections No. 1—Representative Knapp of Illinois.

Levees and improvements of the Mississippi river—Representative Campbell of Kansas.

Education—Burke of Pennsylvania.

Private land claims—Roberts of Massachusetts.

Ventilation and acoustics—McCreary of Pennsylvania.

Expenditures in the state department—Edwards of Kentucky.

Expenditures in the treasury department—Hill of Connecticut.

Expenditures in the interior department—McGuire of Oklahoma.

Expenditures in the department of agriculture—Graham of Pennsylvania.

New appointments to the membership of the important committees are as follows:

Appropriations—Representatives Knapp of Illinois, Taylor of Ohio, and Malby of New York, Republicans; Representative Keliher of Massachusetts, Democrat.

Judiciary—Representatives Higgins of Connecticut, Goebel of Ohio, Denby of Michigan, Howland of Ohio, Nye of Minnesota, and Sheffield of Rhode Island, Republicans.

Banking and currency—Representatives Guernsey of Maine, Campbell of Kansas, Millington of New York, Joyce of Ohio, Barnard of Indiana, and Heald of Delaware, Republicans, and Representatives Hammond of Minnesota and Barnhart of Indiana, Democrats.

Interstate and foreign commerce—Representatives Miller of Kansas, Stafford of Wisconsin, Calder of New York, and Washburn of Massachusetts, Republicans, and Representatives Sims of Tennessee and Peters of Massachusetts, Democrats.

Rivers and harbors—Representatives Rodenberg of Illinois, Humphrey of Washington, Madden of Illinois, Kennedy of Iowa, Cassidy of Ohio, and Tener of Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Representative Edwards of Georgia, Democrat.

Agriculture—Representative Howell of Utah, Chapman of Illinois, Pratt of Pennsylvania, Hanna of North Dakota, and Plumley of Vermont, Republicans, and Representatives Lee of Georgia and McDermott of Illinois, Democrats.

Military affairs—Representatives Knapp of New York, Morgan of Missouri, and Tilson of Connecticut, Republicans, and Representatives Cravens of Arkansas and Dent of Alabama, Democrats.

Naval affairs—Representatives Englebright of California and Slemp of Virginia, Republicans, and Representatives Kitchin of North Carolina, Macon of Arkansas, and Estopinal of Louisiana, Democrats.

Postoffices and postroads—Representatives Fassett of New York, Smith of California, Lowden of Illinois, Dury of New York, Hamer of Idaho, and Dodds of Michigan, Republicans, and Representative Cox of Indiana, Democrat.

Territories—Representatives Guernsey of Maine, Langham of Pennsylvania, and Good of Iowa, Republicans, and Representatives Humphreys of Mississippi, Conry of New York, and Driscoll of New York, Democrats, and Delegate Wickersham of Alaska.

The speaker also announced the names of Representatives Tawney of Minnesota, Smith of Iowa, and Bowers of Mississippi as members of the joint commission on the part of the house to investigate the matter of surety bonds to indemnify the government against loss.

CONGRESS JUNKET SEASON IS OPEN

Prolonged Tariff Debate Saves Uncle Sam from Considerable Expense.

STATESMEN READY TO GO.

Waterways Commission and Other Bodies Prepare for Inspection Trips.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The congressional junket season is on.

The patronage of Uncle Sam's pocketbook for traveling expenses this year will be considerably lighter than would have been the case had the tariff doings not used up half of the summer, but a few goodly sized and interesting vouchers will be turned in nevertheless.

Activity is noted in the national waterways commission, the senate irrigation committee, the senate committee on Indian affairs, and the national monetary commission.

These bodies all are composed of congressmen, and each is armed with necessary authority of law which will enable it to "sit elsewhere than Washington" and to draw on contingent funds, variously provided, for the necessary money to defray all expenses in so doing.

Army Posts Must Go Uninspected.

There is a resolution in effect giving the senate committee on military affairs authority to visit every army post in the United States and Alaska during the recess, but the members of that committee have postponed the tremendous task until some other summer, owing to their desire to sit on the front porch at home instead of traveling about in stuffy Pullmans for two months. The army posts of the country accordingly will have to go uninspected senatorially for at least another year.

There was one more junket which might have taken place if the economy criers in the house had not won the day and defeated by a close margin a resolution to accept an invitation for twenty-five house members and ten senators to attend the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle.

Irrigationists First to Start.

The senate irrigationists will be among the first to get away. Messrs. Carter, Warren, Flint, Borah, Chamberlain, Painter, and Newlands will gather in Chicago next Wednesday and start westward on an inspection tour of irrigation projects which lie along the route to Seattle.

The director of the reclamation service and the secretary of the interior will join the party somewhere in the northwest. At Seattle, after viewing the irrigation models on display at the exposition, the contingent will break up into subcommittees which will inspect irrigation projects more at leisure.

Early next week is the sailing time of the waterways commission, which goes to Europe to see what there is in that line that will furnish ideas for home consumption. Chairman Burton will head the party which embarks on the 10th.

In the party there will be Senators Burton, Gallinger, Piles, Smith of Michigan, and Simmons, and Representatives Alexander, Stevens, Wanger, Sparkman, and Moon—all members of the commission.

Senator Lorimer, who is a member of the waterways commission, is planning to sail on Sept. 1 and overtake the party in Europe. He will remain with it only ten days and then return to the United States.

Monetary Commission Planning.

The plans of the monetary commission are not perfected as yet. Several of its members, however, soon will sail for Europe.

The Indian affairs committee of the senate is scheduled to investigate the conditions of the Indians of Wisconsin. Senator Clapp of Minnesota, its chairman, will call upon the members to assemble at Chicago soon to begin work.

Added to the various excursions which Uncle Sam is providing, will be a jolly trip to Honolulu to be participated in mainly by the house committee on naval affairs.

The Hawaiian legislature has extended an invitation and is providing the wherewithal to put the junket through. Representative Foss, chairman of the naval affairs committee, will not take the trip owing to illness in his family.

TAFT ENDS A CONTROVERSY.

President Makes Public Letter Written to Fordney About Sugar Schedule.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—President Taft made public today a letter written by him April 14 last to Representative Fordney of Michigan, in which he sets forth that Mr. Fordney had been mistaken when he said in a speech in the house that:

"Mr. Taft has agreed in my presence that during his administration he will not permit, as far as he can avoid it by his action, any further reduction in the sugar schedule if we let 300,000 tons come in free from the Philippines."

The president wrote:

"I know, of course, that you did not intend to mislead, and, on the other hand, I do not wish myself to mislead. What I said to you in respect to the matter was that while I was in office you could count on my influence, so far as it went, to prevent any increase in the limitation of 300,000 tons to be introduced into the United States from the Philippines at a rate less than the duty imposed on sugar coming in from foreign countries.

"What I said had no reference to the sugar schedule. I do not mean to express any opinion as to the maintenance of the present sugar schedule, but what I do wish to invite your attention to is the fact that my remarks had no reference to that schedule and were directed solely to the limitation upon the amount of sugar to be introduced from the Philippines at a rate below that imposed upon sugar coming from foreign countries.

"In order that no one may be deceived by this publication my dear Mr. Fordney, I would like to have you make the correction."

Mr. Fordney replied two days later, saying he would gladly make the correction when the tariff bill returned to the house.

ILLINOIS SENATORS ARE BUSY.

Lorimer and Cullom Plan Conference Before Leaving the National Capital.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Senator Cullom and Senator Lorimer of Illinois will leave Washington tomorrow, the former going to Atlantic City, to be with Mrs. Cullom, and the latter direct to Chicago.

It is expected the senators will meet for a short conference tomorrow morning and discuss what shall be done in regard to the federal appointments in Illinois.

It is probable that owing to the need of a rest on the part of Senator Cullom, due to his constant work in the senate and his attendance at the bedside of his sick wife, the entire subject will go over until late in the fall.

NEW MINT DIRECTOR NAMED.

Senate Confirms Nomination of A. Piatt Andrew of Massachusetts as Coinage Chief.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—President Taft today sent to the senate the nomination of A. Piatt Andrew of Massachusetts to be director of the mint. The nomination was confirmed by the senate in executive session.

The nomination is to succeed Frank A. Leach, who resigned. Mr. Andrew is an expert on all financial matters. He is an assistant to the national monetary commission and a professor of economics at Harvard university.

STORY DAMAGING TO SUTTON

Lieut. Utley Willing Witness at Annapolis Hearing.

TELLS OF THE FIST FIGHT.

Description of Encounter Clearest Yet Given by Any One,

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Lieut. Howard H. Utley of the marine corps, the man on account of whose absence the proceedings of the second inquiry into the causes of the death of Lieut. James N. Sutton Jr. was brought to an abrupt close last week, took the stand when the court resumed its session today, and by his testimony materially strengthened the case of himself and his brother officers who now are defendant parties.

While he was on the stand Lieut. Utley did not decline to answer any questions. He said many times he did not remember certain things, but for the most part on nearly all essential points his memory was clear and his testimony direct. Taken all in all, Utley's testimony was more damaging to Sutton than that of any of the witnesses who have preceded him.

Has Tilt with Leonard.

Utley is a slow thinker and often pondered over questions. He and Maj. Leonard had a tilt when he was describing the incidents immediately following the death of Sutton.

"After Sutton died I went to Col. Doyen's house and awakened him. I told him Sutton had shot Roelker and then committed suicide," said Utley.

"You say suicide," said the judge advocate. "Are you sure he committed suicide?"

"Don't you know that I am certain of the definition of suicide?" replied Utley.

"Would you say that a man who shot at another, hit himself, and was killed committed suicide?" asked Maj. Leonard.

"I would," replied Utley.

Might Have Spoken to Sentry.

When Mr. Davis asked Utley on cross examination about his telling Kennedy to keep his mouth shut, Utley said he might have told the sentry who passed when Adams and Sutton were about to fight not to say anything about it, but he had spoken to no enlisted man on the subject the day after. Kennedy had testified that Sutton asked him to hold his coat when he and Adams were preparing to fight, but Utley remembered no such occurrence. His story of the events that occurred before he, Osterman, Sutton, and Adams, who occupied the same automobile, reached the marine reservation on the way from Carvel hall, was the same as that told by Osterman and Adams.

Utley's description of the first fight between Osterman and Sutton is the clearest that yet has been given. It was caused, he said, by Sutton's calling Osterman a vile name and hitting him in the back of the head. The fight was all one way, Utley declared, Sutton never having a chance. After Osterman knocked Sutton down, said Utley, Sutton lay on the ground, refusing to get up and fight or say he had enough. Finally he said he had enough fist fighting, but would get a gun and kill them all before morning.

Fails to Clear Up Point.

One point that everybody interested in the trial had hoped would be cleared up by Utley was how De Hart came to get possession of the revolver that is said to have been in Sutton's possession that night and which afterward was found on the parade grounds. De Hart said the officer gave it to him at the scene of Sutton's death. Osterman, Bevan, Adams, and Willing all have been questioned and none knew anything about it.

Today Utley said when Adams threw Sutton face downward on the ground he, Utley, and some one else he cannot identify, caught hold of Sutton. One arm was under Sutton and the other arm was free. The free hand held no revolver. Which hand lay under Sutton's body Utley cannot remember, but he said he reached under his body to get the revolver Sutton held and was attempting to gain possession of it when Sutton drew his arm out and fired. He said today he had not seen the second revolver during the final struggle. He had seen Sutton with two revolvers a short while before. He supposed Sutton either dropped one of the revolvers as he was thrown or that some one took it away from him.

South Chicago and East End police stations. Lieut. Smith of the South Chicago station directed the rescue of the injured.

Two physicians who were on the train which struck the car rushed to the assistance of the injured and did all they could to alleviate their suffering. They boarded the train when it left and the police did not learn their names.

At the St. Bernard's hospital, where many of the injured were taken, a crowd of the friends and relatives of the injured assembled and filled the street in front. They were kept from entering the hospital by force.

The women and children who were injured were taken to a ward on the fourth floor and the scene there was the most pathetic of any. Weeping children cried for their mothers who had been separated from them and mothers anxiously sought information of their children whom they had not seen since the wreck.

One of Twelve Children Hurt.

Of twelve small children on the car only one was badly injured.

Conflicting stories were told by passengers as to where the fault for the accident lay. One man said the conductor got off and went ahead to see if the crossing was clear and that the car was started before he gave the signal.

Another said the conductor gave the signal and then saw the approaching train and threw himself in front of his car and tried to push it back.

James Bowley was on the car returning from Hammond with his wife.

"We had just crossed the Indiana state line," he said, "and the conductor was making his second round collecting fares. I was reaching into my pocket to get my money when the crash came and that was the last I knew. The conductor did not get off the car and go forward to see if the track was clear."

BELATED AID TO THESPIANS; CONTRACTS TO BE CHANGED.

Under New Law Managers Will Have No Right to Discharge an Actor at a Moment's Notice.

William H. Cruden, superintendent of the Illinois Free Employment bureau of Chicago, has taken the cause of the actor to heart. Acting under the new Illinois statute governing employment agencies, he called a conference of booking agents and vaudeville managers at his office yesterday and told them the clause in actors' contracts which gives a manager the right to cancel a contract at a moment's notice has worked hardships too long and must be changed. Representatives of forty booking agencies and vaudeville houses listened to him and agreed.

A committee composed of one man from the White Rats, one from the Actors' union, and one from each of the various classes of theatrical agencies will be appointed today to draw up a form of contract with the objectionable clause eliminated.

"Booking agents are under bonds of $500," Mr. Cruden said, "and if they book poor attractions, the managers should have recourse on them, not on the actors who have paid booking fees of 5 per cent of their salaries. More than 50,000 actors are handled through the booking agencies of Chicago every season. The new law gives us wider powers and we are making use of them in this move."

MOTHER A SUICIDE FOR GRIEF.

Mrs. Florence Pecha Saddened by Disappearance of Daughter, Whom She Reprimanded.

Mrs. Florence Pecha committed suicide yesterday morning because of grief over the disappearance of her daughter, Jennie Pecha, 18 years old, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury.

She was the mother of several children and all lived happily together at 1242 West Sixteenth street until about six months ago, when the daughter resented being admonished for attending dances and departed from her home.

Her husband, Joseph Pecha, a tailor, found her dead in her room shortly after 7 o'clock. Two open gas jets and the sealed door told the story.

BANDIT IS KILLED; SHOOTS 5 IN POSSE

Robber Loots Bank and Then Hides in Lumber Pile and Stands Off Town.

SLAYS BRAVEST OF ALL.

Holds Fire Against Rush by Single Foe Until Nearness Makes Aim Sure.

White Bear, Minn., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Seeking shelter beneath a pile of lumber, a lone bandit who had robbed the First National bank of all its cash stood off the entire male population of White Bear for almost three hours this morning, killing one of his antagonists and wounding four others. A bullet finally found its way to his heart, and when his body was picked up it was found that he had been wounded fifteen times.

The casualty list of the fight is as follows:

The Dead.

POHL, ROBERT, home unknown; the robber.
LARKEN, EDWARD, White Bear.

The Wounded.

BUTLER, WILLIAM, shot through abdomen; thought to be dying.
CHRISTIE, JOHN, shot through thigh; condition serious.
DORAN, RICHARD, shot through arm.
SKEITH, THOMAS, grazed by spent bullet.

Robber Ready for Long Fight.

More than five hundred shots were exchanged, and Pohl was found to have had ammunition enough in a belt and in his pocket to have continued fighting until dark. He bore his earlier wounds with fortitude, and it was only when his right arm was shattered and his rifle was knocked out of his hand that he exposed himself sufficiently to serve as a fair mark for the bullets of the surrounding posse.

As Pohl reached out to regain his rifle John Brachvogel, whose previous shot had shattered the robber's arm, aimed carefully for a second shot, and when he had pulled the trigger the fight was over.

Pohl's attack on the bank apparently was carefully planned, and it is believed he was an ex-convict and professional cracksman. He came to White Bear about a week ago and obtained employment as a laborer on building work.

Attacks Lone Bank Cashier.

This morning he received his pay check and quit his job. The check called for $7, and Pohl waited until Alfred Auger, cashier, was alone in the bank. As Auger was examining the check presented by Pohl the latter produced a rifle he had concealed in a coat slung over his arm and demanded that the cashier hand over all the cash in the bank.

Auger complied with the demand, giving up $565 in currency and silver, and as Pohl left the bank and started to run toward the woods with his booty the cashier gave the alarm. In a few seconds merchants whose stores adjoin the bank had rushed into the street armed with rifles and revolvers. They formed a posse and started running after the flying robber, who paused in his flight at intervals and shot at them.

Finally, as Pohl neared a lumber yard on the outskirts of the town, he saw more citizens ahead of him, and turned in among the lumber piles.

Makes Fort of Lumber Pile.

Coming to a pile which stood more than a foot off the ground on skids, the robber darted underneath and hastily pulled some loose boards in front of him to form a screen for his movements. The posse came up in a few seconds and its members deployed as skirmishers and took posts behind other piles of lumber.

The fight then assumed the aspect of a siege. Every time a member of the posse showed himself Pohl fired at him, and every time the robber's gun flashed answering bullets from other quarters chipped the boards and kicked up the dust about his entrenched position.

Larken, who was employed as a chef at Five Forks, a summer camp at Bald Eagle, lost his life through his own daring. Believing that the robber could be overcome by a determined rush Larken, armed with a repeating rifle, drew nearer and nearer the pile, until only a few yards away. Then he stood up and attempted to rush Pohl, firing directly at the screening boards as he ran.

Waits for "White of His Eyes."

Fully twenty steps Larken took before there was a flash from beneath the robber's impromptu fort. The onlookers believed the chef's bravery had carried the day and were about to set up a cheer for him, when suddenly there came a single rifle crack and a spurt of flame from beneath the pile and Larken crumpled and dropped dead in his tracks, shot through the heart.

Butler was shot through the abdomen, la e in the fight, and was cared for in the lumber yard until a doctor could be summoned. Then it was learned that his wound was more serious than had been supposed at first and he was removed to a hospital. The local physician holds out small hope of saving his life, but if he regains sufficient strength to permit it he will be taken to St. Paul on a special train for an operation. Christie's wound also is serious, but it is hoped he will recover, and the other two wounded men have had their wounds dressed and are walking about, little the worse for their experiences.

INITIALS TO COME OFF PENNY.

Victor D. Brenner's "Trade Mark" on New Lincoln Coin Displeases Secretary MacVeagh.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh announced today that the initials of the designer on the new Lincoln pennies are to be removed. The secretary said none of the pennies issued would be recalled and the minting of the pennies would not be stopped, but new dies without the initials will be prepared as soon as possible.

Sculptor Will Ask Reason.

New York, Aug. 5.—Victor D. Brenner, the sculptor, designer of the new penny, said today that he is going to write to Secretary MacVeagh of the treasury department and demand an explanation of the decision to remove his initials from the coin. If he were able, he said, he would insist that the initials be left on the dies.

On the Lincoln pennies Mr. Brenner's initials appear directly under the two sheaves and are in the same character of letters, though not quite so large, as the denomination and the words "In God We Trust."

NAGEL HAS ANOTHER SHAKEUP.

Inefficient Employes in Bureau of Commerce and Labor Are Ousted or Reduced.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—Another great upheaval occurred in the personnel of Secretary Nagel's department of commerce and labor today as the result of a probe into the efficiency record of employés in that department.

The official ax fell heavily upon employés in the immigration service, where considerable inefficiency was shown to have existed. It has been directed that a number of such employés in this branch of the service be dismissed and a number of others are slated to go. In the same service a number of employés have been allowed to resign, others have been reduced, and still others bluntly disciplined. There are still many others whose cases yet remain to be acted upon.

Of the more than 800 employés in the immigration service outside of Ellis island, New York, it was shown that about 180 apparently were below the required standard of efficiency.

WOMEN STAY SLAYER'S HAND

MURDER OVER 10 CENT FARE

Men Passengers Sit Helpless as Indiana Doctor Kills Conductor.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Woman's courage on the firing line in all probability prevented a tragedy from being quadrupled today when Dr. Nelson Ross shot to death Daniel Linder, an interurban conductor, and tried to kill his three companions.

The young physician, following angry words with the four men over the payment of fare, was about to be put off the car when he drew a revolver and began to shoot. He fired half a dozen bullets, two of which hit Linder, one in the heart and the other in the thigh. Linder's death was instantaneous. The other shots went wild, although one went between the legs of one of the quartet attacked.

Ross' sudden outbreak paralyzed the score or more of men passengers upon the car and as shot followed shot they could do nothing but stare in horror, helpless, and glued to their seats. Four women, seated midway in the car, however, at the first crack of the pistol rushed forward. Though too late to save the conductor, who lay dying on the floor of the car as they reached his side, without thought of their own danger they surrounded the maddened doctor. With cries for mercy, they brought him to himself just as he was about to add one, and probably others to the list of victims of his insane impulse.

The Dead.

LINDER, DANIEL, conductor.

The Saved.

DUDLEY, C. E., learning to be conductor.
LINDSAY, C. E., lineman.
QUICK, CLARENCE, motorman.

Obeys Women Like a Child.

The tragedy happened on a Muncie and Portland traction car five miles from Muncie late in the afternoon. The row began when Ross was asked to pay the excess fare of 10 cents required of passengers without tickets.

When Ross had shot Linder and had tried to shoot the other men, he approached closer to them and had his gun pressed against Lindsay's heart. By this time the women had reached the maddened man and begged him not to shoot.

Like a child the physician obeyed the women's pleadings and then went to the other end of the car, where he addressed the passengers in an impassioned speech, saying he had acted in self-defense. Then he leaped from the car and disappeared in the woods without interference from the frightened passengers.

Smokes as He Tells Story.

Two hours later Ross arrived at the police station here, having walked to Muncie to surrender. By this time he had recovered his composure, and to newspaper men complained chiefly of fatigue due to his long walk. He sat coolly smoking a cigar while saying that while he was sorry for Linder's death, he had to kill him to save his own life. His face bore several scratches, which passengers on the car said were not there immediately after the struggle.

Ross, although a member of a prominent family and well known as a physician, has been in frequent trouble because of his belligerent proclivities. Although but 38, he has been married three times and divorced. Not long ago he clashed with a street vender selling medicines, and later had a fight with a street car motorman because the latter was alleged to have insulted a woman who was being treated by Ross.

Bail Is Refused Slayer.

The slayer offered bail in any amount, but it was refused, and he is in jail. His father, Dr. J. C. Ross, is a prominent Prohibition leader, and his brother, Ralph C. Ross, recently was defeated for state senator by a small majority.

Linder was married and the father of two children. His body was brought to this city. The traction employés who so narrowly escaped his fate refused tonight to reveal the identity of the women who saved their lives.

SILAS W. LAMOREUX IS DEAD; SLIGHT CUT ON HAND KILLS.

Former Commissioner of U. S. Land Office Succumbs to Injury Received in Fighting to Land Large Bass.

Beaver Dam, Wis., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Silas Wright Lamoreux, who was commissioner of the general land office under President Cleveland, died tonight as the indirect result of the infection of a cut by a fishline when he was on Beaver Dam lake several weeks ago.

He was taken to a Fond du Lac hospital when it was found that the fishline had infected his finger, but the treatment there, while it prevented a terrible death from blood poisoning, could not restore him to perfect health.

He was removed from the hospital to his home when his condition was found to be serious, and all the best medical talent in this part of the country was called in consultation, but death resulted late tonight.

Mr. Lamoreux was commissioner of the land office for four years, and after he returned to Wisconsin became president of the German-American bank of this city.

The fishing excursion on which Mr. Lamoreux sustained the cut which caused his death was during the house party which preceded the marriage of his daughter early in the summer.

He hooked a large bass, but the fish snagged the hook, and in trying to recover his tackle Mr. Lamoreux scratched his finger. He thought nothing of the cut at the time, and it was not until some time afterward that he was found to have been poisoned by the cut.

His condition did not take a turn for the worse until Tuesday night, when he was unable to take nourishment and became unconscious. He did not recover consciousness for more than a few minutes at a time before his death.

OBITUARY.

COL. G. A. RICHE, 76 years old, died suddenly yesterday in his room at the Hyde Park hotel. It is believed apoplexy caused his death. He was an engineer on the Panama canal for a time, but returned to Chicago on account of poor health. His son, Maj. Charles Riche, it is said, lives at Rock Island.

ARREST REVEALS DYNAMITE PLOT

A. C. Eby Taken on Charge of Trying to Blackmail Pennsylvania Railway.

DEMAND IS FOR $45,000.

Threat to Blow Up Bridges and Wreck Trains Unless the Money Is Paid.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—In the arrest of Abram C. Eby, said to be the mayor and a prominent attorney of Burkeville, Va., in this city today the United States postal inspectors announced that they had unearthed a plot to extort $45,000 from the Pennsylvania railroad by threats to blow up railroad bridges and other property.

While the sanity of Eby, who is charged with writing letters to President McCrea of the Pennsylvania, in which a demand for $45,000 was made, is questioned, Chief Cortelyou of the local postal inspector's office expressed the opinion that had not the man been taken into custody he probably would have tried to carry out his threat to cause widespread destruction on the lines of the railroad.

Eby Held in $10,000 Bonds.

The accused man was held in $10,000 bonds by United States Commissioner Craig at the postoffice building, to await the action of the grand jury for the September term. Later he was taken to Moyamensing prison. An examination into his mental condition probably will be made next week.

Eby's demeanor at the hearing before Commissioner Craig appeared that of a rational man, and when he heard the amount of bail in which he was held he jumped to his feet and said:

"Bail will be forthcoming as soon as my friends hear of my predicament."

The letters written by Eby disclose one of the most remarkable cases that have come before the federal authorities. The man, according to his own writings, had planned a systematic series of dynamite attacks.

Eby's scheme was so daring that it was decided to entrap him. He made use of his alleged secret society connections in the negotiations and exacted what he asserted were masonic oaths to make the payment of the money binding upon the railroad officials.

At his own suggestion he was forwarded money and transportation to come to this city, and the arrest was made shortly after noon, when he had been led to believe that the money would be paid over.

First "Declaration of War."

The first "declaration of war" was served upon the railroad in a letter received on July 11. In part the communication was as follows:

President of the Pennsylvania Railroad: This is a declaration of war. My life is openly staked on the result, for I am prepared to meet you at any time and place you may name. My weapons are dynamite and other high explosives. The Norfolk and Western railroad is controlled by you and it is unprotected. I easily can set mines at lonely embankments to be fired by the running of fast expresses over it.

I easily can conceal a few sticks of dynamite on coal cars at lonely sidings. There is no danger in attaching bombs to freight or passenger cars or coal hoppers, so that when they are run out on the main line the fastenings will wear off and the bombs will drop and ditch the trains.

I can wreck others in a more scientific manner. I mean business. I have no accomplices, but am my own confidant. When you look for me in Pennsylvania I will be in Virginia. You cannot catch me. The papers will give details of the wrecks and my campaign will reach others.

All anarchists will follow the lead, as was done when the Black Hand society sprang into existence following the publication of a fake news story.

I am ready to disclose my secret if you pay me $45,000 and pledge that I will go free. If you break the pledge you can only get me for blackmail. I will take my punishment and do worse when I get free.

The writer added that the modern financiers might be more scientific wreckers than he, but he preferred to get his money that way.

THOUSANDS ATTEND FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JUDGE BETHEA.

Federal, State, and City Officials Follow Casket from Sterling to Cemetery at Dixon.

Federal judges, government officials, Illinois state officials, and men representing most of the counties of northern Illinois gathered yesterday at Dixon to attend the funeral services for United States District Judge Solomon H. Bethea. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in the northern part of the state.

Brief services were held in the morning at the home of S. S. Royer in Sterling, where the jurist died. Then the body was taken to Dixon on a special funeral train on the Sterling-Dixon interurban line.

The public services at Dixon were held at the home of Miss Elizabeth Shaw, sister-in-law of Judge Bethea. Thousands of persons passed the casket as it lay in state in Sterling and Dixon.

The Rev. A. B. Whitcomb, rector of the Episcopal church in Dixon, conducted the services in both cities. From Sterling to Dixon the body was escorted by the mayor and city council of Sterling, committees from the bar of Lee and Whiteside counties, and scores of personal friends of the late judge.

Following the services the body was laid beside that of his late wife in Oakwood cemetery.

UTAH WILL ENTER IRRIGATION SHOW

Movement Begun in Salt Lake for Splendid Exhibit at Exposition Here.

BIG MEN BEHIND PLANS.

Governor Says Advantages of "Tribune" Scheme Can't Be Overestimated.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Utah started a movement today to make a splendid exhibit at the United States Land and Irrigation exposition to be held in Chicago next November under the auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The support of the Salt Lake Commercial club was promised and Gov. William Spry will take personal charge of the campaign to be made to raise sufficient funds to show Utah's agricultural resources at the exposition. The governor will call a meeting on Aug. 17 at Salt Lake at which final arrangements for Utah's exhibit will be made.

Fred J. Kiesel of Ogden, who has been at the front in every public spirited movement in Utah for the last twenty years, was the first man in Utah to whom the plans of the exposition were outlined. Mr. Kiesel was prominent in the organization of the national irrigation congress and has been active in its work ever since the first session, serving several terms as vice preident of the congress and as member of the board of governors.

Chance Not to Be Overlooked.

This year, however, he is slowly recovering from a severe illness and has been unable to take any active part in such work. He expressed a deep interest in the United States Land and Irrigation exposition and wrote letters to prominent citizens and state officials in Salt Lake in which he expressed his belief that Utah should be well represented at the exposition and asked their earnest support in making the necessary arrangements.

Mr. Kiesel said this was an opportunity which must not be overlooked and that Utah's advantages as the pioneer irrigation state of the union should be shown in a proper manner. With this hearty indorsement from Mr. Kiesel the success of the movement is assured.

Immediate support has been given the movement by the newspapers of Salt Lake and preliminary plans were made today at a meeting at the Commercial club, attended by Gov. Spry, officers of the club, and prominent local railroad officials. At the opening of the meeting Gov. Spry said:

"I have looked into the purposes of the United States Land and Irrigation exposition to be held at the Coliseum, Chicago, Ill., Nov. 20 to Dec. 4, 1909, with much interest.

Gov. Spry Sees Great Benefit.

"I heartily indorse this exposition as a movement calculated to be of vast benefit in the exploitation of the country's resources. The advantages the exposition will afford to the prospective home seeker in the way of illustrating scientific methods of irrigation, dry farming, cannot be overestimated. I take great pleasure in lending whatever assistance I can to make the proposed exposition a success, and you are at liberty to call upon me for any assistance I may be able to render."

Fisher Harris, secretary of the Commercial club, said:

"The United States land and irrigation exposition is a move in the right direction and should prove an effective factor in bringing to the attention of interested people the wonderful possibilities to be found in the intelligent cultivation of western lands.

"By 'western' I mean that part of our common country that lies west of the Missouri river, where irrigation has proved such an unadulterated blessing, and where there is an empire in the building.

"I fancy that few people, comparatively speaking, have more than a vague idea of the many advantages possessed by the irrigation farmer over the one who depends for his crops upon the capriciousness of the climate. The irrigationist is his own rainmaker, and regulates his seasons with unerring accuracy.

Praise for "Chicago Spirit."

"Any movement that contemplates the extension of the crop producing area of any section is entitled to and should receive the warm support of all the country, and it is particularly gratifying to see Chicago, 'the great central market,' lending a helping hand to the development and settlement of the arid and semi-arid west."

Salt Lake has made elaborate preparations to entertain 75,000 visitors to the national encampment of the Grand Army next week, and until this event is over the plans decided on today for the exposition cannot be carried out. Practically every prominent business man and the state and city officials are serving on committees for the entertainment of the veterans.

A number of Utah delegates to the irrigation congress have left for Spokane, and their interest and support is assured on their return, when the meeting will be called.

Salt Lake, through its commercial club, has raised $70,000 for the Grand Army encampment. Recently the Young Men's Christian association of Salt Lake was confronted with a debt of $150,000 and foreclosure of mortgage on its large and perfectly equipped building. The commercial club raised the money in ten days by contributions of $1 to $15,000. The club has a new building nearing completion which cost $400,000, raised on 6 per cent twenty year gold bonds, which were taken by members within a week after the site was selected.

The citizens of Salt Lake, backed by Gov. Spry, are sending the high school cadets, 300 strong, to the A. Y. P. exposition at Seattle.

BABY IS CARRIED OFF BY BEAR?

Mother Leaves Infant While She Picks Berries and Bruin Drags It Into Woods.

Cheboygan, Mich., Aug. 5.—Reports reached the city today that a large black bear had carried away a baby 18 months old while the mother was picking huckleberries on the MacIntosh plains, about ten miles out of town.

The mother, a Polish woman, had left the child sleeping in charge of another child 3 years old.

Sheriff Clute dispatched a posse of ten men in charge of a deputy to the scene, but they were unable to find any trace of the child or the bear.

JENKS TO QUIT ELGIN ASYLUM.

Physician Who Was Expected to Succeed Podstata Will Open Private Sanitarium in Aurora.

Dr. Frank Jenks, for many years one of the head physicians at the Elgin asylum, will retire from the institution next March and manage a private sanitarium in Aurora, Ill. He has purchased the Aurora hospital, a building of thirty rooms. The announcement comes as a surprise because Dr. Jenks was regarded as the probable successor of Dr. V. H. Podstata, the superintendent, who recently said he would resign to establish a private sanitarium.

HOG CHOLERA CURE IS FOUND.

Government Live Stock Inspector Makes Successful Serum Experiment at Kansas City Yards.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 5.—J. H. Mercer, government live stock sanitary inspector, is proving the efficiency of serum treatment of hogs for cholera prevention. He is making tests at the Kansas City stock yards and has given the serum anti-cholera treatment to animals which are alive and well, notwithstanding that they were kept in the same pen with hogs that were given cholera virus and afterward died.

EXPECT EXPRESS RATE TILT

Companies Say Interstate Board Cannot Control Charges.

SHIPPERS FILE COMPLAINTS.

Chicago and Northwestern Build Interchangeable Motor Car,

A protracted contest between the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission and the shippers of Illinois on one side and the express companies doing business in the state on the other is likely to result this fall from the attitude taken by the commission that it has jurisdiction over the transportation charges of the express companies.

This position, it appeared yesterday, is disputed by the express companies, who assert that the commission has no power in law to reduce their rate or even to require them to file tariffs with the commission as the railroads do. None of the companies has refused to file the tariffs as ordered, but they will do so under protest. The real fight will come when the commission gets ready to act on the numerous complaints that have been received and attempts to reduce the rates.

Following the failure of the last legislature to enact a bill to give the commission undoubted power to fix reasonable maximum rates to be charged by the express companies, which has been strongly advocated by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Illinois Retail Merchants' association, the commission fell back on an opinion by Attorney General Stead and decided to assert its jurisdiction without further legislation. Every express company operating in the state, as well as other firms or individuals engaged in business as common carriers on the railway lines, has been notified by Secretary Kilpatrick to file its tariffs with the commission within a reasonable time.

Shippers File Complaints.

The commission has before it a large number of complaints made by shippers in the past of alleged unreasonable and excessive charges on the part of the express companies. These have not been passed upon as the commission has never until recently asserted its jurisdiction, but these will be considered at the September meeting. As announced in its resolution of July 6, the commission now takes the position that express companies are to be treated exactly like railroads or other common carriers, and if it finds after a hearing that the shippers' allegations are supported by facts it will follow its usual course and prescribe a new scale of rates it regards as reasonable. It will then be up to the express companies to contest the findings in court on the ground that the law creating the commission does not subject their rates to review.

The only case that came up before the commission yesterday involved a grade crossing dispute between the Bloomington, Pontiac and Joliet Electric railway, the Alton and Wabash, and the Illinois Central, on a question of division of expense. The case has been before the commission for a long time and was again postponed for a report of the Alton engineers.

New Motor Inspection Car.

A motor inspection car interchangable into an automobile has been built by the Chicago and Northwestern railway for the use of one of its division superintendents. The car has flanged steel wheels like an ordinary car for use while running on the rails. These may be replaced by pneumatic tired wheels and the steering wheel unlocked, so that it may be used as an ordinary automobile. It carries seven passengers, is driven by a twenty-two horse power engine, and to a certain extent will take the place of the superintendent's private car.

Officials of the Santa Fé railway are planning to make another trial trip today in the gasoline-electric motor car which is being tested. The car will go either to Joliet or Streator and return.

NEBRASKA DRYS IN BIG UNION.

Statewide Movement Will Undertake to Enforce Liquor Laws and Promote Prohibition.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—A merger of all the state temperance organizations is being perfected for the purpose of taking a vigorous hand in the politics of Nebraska and insuring a more complete enforcement of the liquor laws of the state. The merger, when completed next week, will give the anti-saloon forces a voting strength of upwards of 100,000, scattered over every county in the state.

One of the first moves after consolidation is accomplished will be the holding of a great massmeeting in Omaha, which will be the first gun of the coming campaign. At that meeting the delegates will decide whether the fight this fall shall be for county option or state wide prohibition.

The new organization will be known as the State Temperance union, and while it will be quasi-political in nature, the question of the party will not be considered in the selection or indorsement of candidates.

BURDETTE IS PLACED IN CAST.

Western Humorist, Suffering from Injury to Spine, Must Keep Body Rigid for Months.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 5.—Robert J. Burdette, humorist and Baptist preacher, who is seriously ill from an injury to the spine received in a fall last March, was placed in a plaster cast yesterday. His spinal cord has become affected, and the physician in attendance says that his body must be held rigid for several months.

MASTER SAYS FEE IS HIGH BUT JUST

George Mills Rogers Declares System Makes Litigation a Burden.

URGES A SALARY BASIS.

Custom, Not Agreement, He Asserts, Fixes Charges for the Hearings.

"There is no doubt that the expense of litigation which is referred to a master in chancery is outrageously high, and in many cases litigants are practically deprived of their rights by reason of this fact."

Thus Master in Chancery George Mills Rogers, in replying yesterday to criticisms and attempted witticisms leveled at him for the fees charged in the billboard case, analyzed the faults of the system under which he justified those fees. City attorneys were quoted, after Master Rogers presented his bill, as saying the masters of Chicago had a union or something to the same effect with a "wage scale" by which excessive charges were levied just for "thinking thoughts."

Continuing in his criticism and justification, Mr. Rogers said:

"The wrong is due to the system under which masters are acting, and not to the masters themselves."

Why System Is Burdensome.

Explaining in what respects the system proves burdensome, he said:

"The expense of litigation before a master are exceedingly high, for the reason that the litigants must pay not only the master's fee but the stenographer's fee, and also their solicitor's fee. This wrong can be righted only by abolishing the fee system and placing the masters on a fair salary, which, however, should be commensurate with the importance of the work intrusted to them in this county.

"It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that in Cook county, in cases where a reference is made, the master in chancery practically tries the case and the Circuit and Superior court judges act simply in the capacity of an appellate court. This is the fact, although in theory not contemplated by the law.

"For a long time I have advocated the abolishment of the fee system and the placing of masters on a salary, and I feel that the matter is almost of sufficient importance to justify the governor in including it and other changes in the general practice in his call for a special session of the legislature.

"With a few changes I would earnestly advocate the passage of a bill substantially along the lines laid down in a measure prepared by Hiram T. Gilbert.

Tried to Secure Reforms.

"I wish to state further that during all my long period of service as a master I have done everything in my power to bring about a better condition, and with the aid of some other masters and lawyers, who have appreciated the necessity for action, have succeeded several times in having action taken by the judges of the courts and by the Chicago Bar association in which the practices complained of have been condemned severely.

"In two or three instances the judges and the bar association have put themselves on record as favoring the revocation of the appointment of a master who should be guilty of such practices as soliciting business, dividing fees, and so on. The trouble has been, however, that none of these good resolutions has been carried out or adhered to, either by the judges or by the bar association.

"I will be glad to aid at any time, in any movement which will have in view a complete change in the present system; but as long as the system continues I do not feel that it is fair that individuals should be subjected to criticism for things which cannot be avoided under this system."

Justifies Billboard Charges.

As to the charges in the billboard case, Mr. Rogers said it was discussed by lawyers representing both parties to the litigation and that neither solicitor suggested in any way that the bill was unreasonable.

"There is no agreement between masters in chancery," he said, "as has been stated, regulating the amount of their fees. There is, however, a custom existing under which a reasonable fee is charged for their services, where the statute does not expressly regulate the amount of the fee. These reasonable charges, which are recognized among the reputable lawyers, as reasonable and customary, are sustained by the judges of the courts, who have the right to fix the fee in cases where any objection is made. It is the practice of the masters to charge for such services a reasonable fee, usually less than would be charged for the services of any lawyer of equal standing and ability for similar services.

"No master in chancery who is worthy of the position can afford to charge less than these reasonable fees if he expects to leave for himself, after paying the expenses of his business, anywhere near a fair compensation for his time and services."

NEW LIFE FOR INSURANCE CO.

Central Securities Stockholders Adopt Reorganization Plan.

TRY TO HOLD BUSINESS HERE

Will Eliminate Stock Held by the Rhodus Brothers.

Stockholders of the Central Life Securities company, formerly headed by the Rhodus brothers, who have been in session at the Great Northern hotel for the last two days, decided to reorganize the company and eliminate the Rhoduses.

At the meeting there were present stockholders from Illinois, New York, Ohio, Iowa, and Michigan, representing more than 60 per cent of the outstanding preferred stock, and a plan of reorganization was unanimously adopted. A committee of reorganization was elected. Its members are: Chairman, W. A. Bennett of Cincinnati; Samuel W. Allerton, Chicago; C. E. Remich, Louis F. Perkett, Traverse City, Mich.; and John T. Burford, Chattanooga, Tenn., secretary.

No Common Stock.

A new holding company is to be organized with no common stock and a reduced capitalization, which will take over all the assets now in the hands of Receiver Fetzer, excepting a claim against the Rhodus brothers for an accounting of several hundred thousand dollars. The new company will own all the stock of the Republic Life Insurance company, which will be revived into an active concern.

At the meeting a syndicate was formed for the purpose of buying the assets from the receiver and turning them over to the new company. These nominally amount to $684,000, which are considered worth par to a reorganized company.

Only preferred stockholders of the Central Life Securities company will be permitted to exchange their old stock for stock in the new company, which will eliminate the stock held by Rhodus brothers and their companies, which is practically all common stock. Negotiations are being conducted with a Chicago man of large experience in insurance matters to take the presidency of the new company.

Expects Approval of Plan.

Frederick A. Brown, attorney for the reorganization committee, said yesterday that the plan would undoubtedly meet with the approval of Judge Kohlsaat, he having been repeatedly consulted about it.

Mr. Allerton, one of the members of the committee, said:

"I have always maintained that Chicago is big enough to have a large and successful insurance company. The millions of dollars that Chicago and the territory immediately tributary to it send to New York every year in the payment of premiums should be kept right here and invested here, and there is no reason why an ably, honestly managed life insurance company should not make a splendid success.

GARY DRUGGISTS ARE FINED; PASTORS DEFEND STEEL CITY.

Charles Herboldt and J. Steele Plead Guilty—Ministers Say Law Abiding Citizens Predominate.

Two Gary druggists, Charles Herboldt and J. Steele, who were arrested in the law and order crusade in that city, appeared before Justice of the Peace P. L. Fitzgerald yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charge of violation of the drug laws. Fines and costs amounting to $42.50 in each case were imposed.

The magistrate decided that mitigating circumstances warranted the return of the whisky and beer which was taken. Steele said he had not been in Gary long enough to understand the state law concerning the sale of liquor. Both defendants promised that the offense would not be repeated.

At a meeting of the pastors of all the churches in Gary a statement was issued denying that the steel city ever had been subject to mob rule.

The communication concludes as follows:

"Gary is a young, progressive city and has its problems to work out the same as any other city, and we find after a residence of from one to three years that law abiding and excellent citizens are far in the ascendency. We are led to make this statement because we are solicitous for the good name of this important industrial center and to correct the false impressions that have gone abroad."

Possession of a government license did not save Paul Wendt of Berwyn from a fine of $50 and costs in Justice W. W. Calkins' court, Berwyn. The following Berwyn men pleaded guilty to selling liquor without licenses and were fined $20 and costs each: J. F. Legell, J. Kara, and E. Schowith.

DRIVES STEPFATHER FROM HOME

Boy Sent Back to Parental School for Stealing Clothes on Complaint of His Mother.

Mrs. Minnie Benner Murphy told Judge Tuthill yesterday that her 12 year old son, Lawrence Benner, had so exasperated his stepfather by his actions that her husband refused to remain in their home at 555 West Fourteenth street unless the boy was sent away. She said the boy was sent to the Parental school two years ago because he persisted in stealing and selling household linen and clothes to ragmen and that he stole two suits of clothing from his stepfather upon his release two months ago. The boy was sent back to the school.

It May Seem—

Unbusinesslike, but the fact stands that we have no wish to sell a man something he later finds he does not need. Magnetos, shock absorbers and other devices which are not damaged by submitting them for trial may be returned if the purchaser finds that they do not improve the operation of his car enough to justify their cost.

Just now there is quite a rush to get magnetos and a corresponding rush to sell them. The magneto is the latest wizard, and its sponsors are a bit extravagant in their claims for it, with the result that the average man who buys one and has it fitted to his old car expects the car to be so greatly improved thereby that "you wouldn't know it." It may do so, and then again, it may not. If a car have poor carburetion (which is as common as astigmatism), or if the valves be wrongly timed, or the muffler be bad, or the compression poor, the fitting of a magneto, even the best that money can buy, does not by any means insure better performance of the car, and unless these other defects be remedied, the money spent on the magneto may easily be of no avail.

—while if the magneto be one of the many hurriedly designed and more hurriedly built ones which are being rushed on the market, the owner of the car may be surprised to find that it does not run as well on the magneto as on the coil. There is but one thing to do—get as good a magneto as money can buy—try it—and if it does not come up to your expectations, bring it back. If it does do what you want done, keep it, and—if you sell your car to buy a new one, take the magneto off and put it on the new car. If you get a good magneto you can well afford to do this, because a good one will neither wear out nor lose its magnetism for years.

In the past many who purchased cars from me wanted magnetos, and even though we could have made money by getting them and fitting them, we always advised a wait until magnetos had been improved a bit more and made more fool-proof. I believe this has at last been accomplished to a sufficient degree. While abroad, I saw

A new German magneto, the design of which pleases me. It is made by Unterberg, who was the actual designer of the first German arc flame magnetos, although his name did not appear on them. A few years ago he started a new company, and without knowing why, I should guess that he "got his mad up," for in his latest model he has worked out something which is a long way ahead of any of his competitors. This new type is now commencing to come through in large enough quantities so that after supplying their European trade they can furnish some for this country. We have secured six, and expect more shortly. This magneto alone is well worth a visit to the store to see.

For those who do not care to spend enough money to get a magneto we have one or two suggestions to offer which will improve the battery and coil type of ignition quite considerably.

On shock absorbers, too, we advised all of our customers to "wait awhile"—until six months ago nobody had designed one which suited me. I believe that some day someone will think out a very much better spring system than anything now in use, and that then shock absorbers will not be necessary, but at present most cars are in decided need of something of the sort. At that, though, a shock absorber is no more of a cure-all than is a magneto. In nearly every case cars are greatly improved by them—a few are not. What they will do for your particular car can be determined only by trying them. This you may do and return them if you do not find enough improvement to make them worth while.

More than one man has bought new coils, batteries, and timers, when the trouble really lay in the plugs. The simple looking plug is wilier than Bret Harte's Heathen Chinee. Poor plugs may fire without a miss and yet cause slow combustion and easily 10% less power. The most intelligently designed plug I have seen is made by one of the foremost scientists of England—a man who was knighted for his researches along electrical lines. We have an importation of these plugs now en route.

Several years ago one of the "big three" of the electrical companies attempted to build magnetos to be really as good as the imported ones. They tried them out on my car—they finally abandoned the proposition and said that if they ever took it up again they would build them in their German factory. I know considerable about magnetos myself, but the engineer who had charge of this experimental work knows more.

He is rather high-priced for the purpose, but, nevertheless, we have secured his services for those who want ignition information from a man who knows what he is talking about. He will also see to it that magnetos we sell are properly put on (and that's somewhat important, too!).

I have stated the magneto situation frankly. I believe that if the rest of the car is as it should be, the addition of a good magneto improves the car in so many ways that it is worth all it costs.

LAUTERBACHS SEE NO WEDDING PROOF

Family Decides There Is None That Girl Married Kin Killed in Auto.

MARRIAGE TO LIFT BAN.

German Couple, Debarred, Will Wed at Ellis Island and Then Land.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE,
New York, Aug. 5.

Lauterbachs Find No Proof of Wedding.

Members of the family of Edward Lauterbach decided today that there is no proof of the allegations of Sophia Houston Cunningham that she was married to the late Alfred Lauterbach on July 31, 1908, eight days before he was killed in an automobile accident, and that he is the father of her son, born on May 5, 1909, in the Long Island college hospital in Brooklyn.

Lauterbach, and others who joined the family council at his office this afternoon, reported this conclusion when they heard the report of Henry Groh Hershfield, Lauterbach's son-in-law, who returned early in the afternoon from Philadelphia after spending three days looking into what the young woman regarded as evidence of her marriage.

Mr. Hershfield had gone first to the home of the young woman's father, with her and her parents. They showed him the baby, which Mr. Hershfield said was a healthy, attractive child, with blue eyes and black hair. Hershfield then went to Philadelphia, but could not find any indisputable evidence of the marriage.

Marriage to Lift Ban from German Pair.

Gretchen Seipelt and Emil Maurer, the young Germans who arrived by the liner Berlin and were debarred by a special board of inquiry, will be allowed to marry at Ellis island, probably tomorrow. The decision of the board was not unanimous.

Two members were for deporting the couple because they had admitted that they had lived together in a hotel in Genoa for five days. The other member of the board expressed himself thus:

"They have said they wish to marry in New York. I recommend the case be deferred and that they be permitted to marry."

Commissioner Williams, after reviewing the case, suggested to his superiors in Washington that the couple be permitted to marry and land.

Gretchen, who is 21, and her sweetheart, who is 25, according to their testimony, taken separately, have known each other since she was 17 and have been engaged since Easter. They took a trip to Italy, where Maurer had business to transact, and were forced, they say, because of lack of accommodation for women in one of the hotels, to room together.

He urged Gretchen to marry him in Italy, but when she learned she would have to stay there ten days before the ceremony could be performed she decided to wait until they reached this port. He paid her fare, although she had ample cash. She is the daughter of the warden of the Stuttgart and Maurer is the foreign buyer for a Chicago department store.

Stage "Family" to Look Like Each Other.

According to David Belasco, when the new comedy by Leo Ditrichstein, entitled "Is Matrimony a Failure?" is produced at the Belasco theater on Aug. 24, the cast will test an experiment in stage management which embodies ideas Belasco has had in mind for years. For the want of a better explanation he calls his plan the "unity of blood" and sets forth its tenets as follows:

"As a boy, watching plays from the galleries, my enjoyment often was marred by the glaring divergence of type between, for instance, actors playing the rôles of brothers, mother, daughter, father, and son. All were playing their parts well, but the illusion was destroyed because of the lack of family resemblance.

"In the selection of the cast of 'Is Matrimony a Failure?' I decided to try an experiment which, if successful, I am sure will work a much needed reform. In the play the Wheeler family consists of a father, mother, and two daughters. For the rôle of Mrs. Wheeler I selected Louise McIntosh, and for the father, W. J. Ferguson. They look enough alike to resemble a man and woman who have lived together for twenty-five years.

"The hardest part was in the selection of the daughters. It took me months to find a pair of young women to fill the bill. First, in Jane Cowl, I found one who bore a striking likeness to her stage mother. Then I had to find a girl who looked enough like Jane Cowl to be taken for her sister. At last I did find her in Jane Grey. The result is that when all appear on the stage the audience will see a family, every member of which bears a striking resemblance to the others."

Vanderlip Says We'll Soon Forget Tariff.

Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank, was in his office today after an absence of several weeks, most of which time was spent in hunting in Colorado, Idaho, and Montana. Mr. Vanderlip said he was glad the tariff was out of the way. "Business is so good," he said, "that we'll soon forget all about the tariff, which is largely a matter of personality and locality."

His trip was purely a vacation, Mr. Vanderlip said, and was not concerned with business in any way. He had been raised on a farm and he had noticed from car windows the remarkable condition of the crops. In his talks with farmers and railroad men throughout the west Mr. Vanderlip said he gathered only one opinion about the crops, and that was that they would be tremendous. Western banks are strong, he thinks.

SCHOOL TEXT BOOK PROBLEM IS COMING UP AGAIN SOON.

Supt. Ella Young and Assistant John D. Shoop Will Be Asked to Make Recommendations to Committee.

Chicago's school book problem will be considered at the next meeting of the school management committee, and Mrs. Young, superintendent of schools, and John D. Shoop, her first assistant, will be asked for recommendations and opinions.

"There has been much talk of 'trust books' and 'nontrust books,' but I confess I do not know what a 'trust book' is," said President Urion yesterday. "But one thing is sure. No matter who prints the books, we intend to get the most advanced and modern text books to be had, and to get them at prices fair to the children."

Bids to supply coal to be used in the schools during the ensuing year will be considered this afternoon by a special committee, which will award contracts tentatively, subject to the approval of the board when it meets in September.

The buildings and grounds committee today will consider repair work necessary prior to the reopening of the schools.

Dr. Alfred D. Kohn, school trustee, who returned from Europe Wednesday night, expressed satisfaction with the election of Mrs. Young as superintendent of schools.

"I do not see how the board could have elected a better superintendent," he said. "The only criticism any one could make is the selection of a woman. But that is so mild as to be almost negligible, especially when Mrs. Young's ability and qualifications are considered."

Picket Accosts Wrong Man; Fined.

Charles Soegm, a union sailor and strike picket, was fined $1 and costs by Municipal Judge Clarke in South Chicago yesterday for accosting V. [illegible] in mistake for a nonunion sailor.

Foreign Masters Train Her Voice.

MISS ELIZABETH SCHILLER

Four years ago Mrs. P. A. Valentine sent for little Miss Elizabeth Schiller, whom she had heard sing in Oconomowoc, and asked her if she mightn't have the pleasure of sending her abroad to cultivate her voice.

Now Miss Schiller is at her home, 774 St. Louis avenue, on a brief vacation. She sang yesterday at the home of Mrs. Arthur R. Elliot, 138 Lincoln Park boulevard, before a group of authors and musicians. They all reiterated the opinion of Lamperti and Moratti, her teachers, that she had the greatest lyric soprano voice they had ever heard off the grand opera stage.

Miss Schiller will go to Oconomowoc next week to visit Mrs. Valentine and sing for her friends.

CZAR FARES FORTH TO KIEL; EDWARD BIDS HIM GODSPEED.

Emperor Nicholas Sails on Imperial Yacht for German Waters, Convoyed by Russian and British Warships.

COWES, Aug. 5.—Emperor Nicholas concluded his visit to King Edward this afternoon, and on board the imperial yacht Standart he left for Kiel, escorted by Russian and British cruisers.

The emperor had a busy morning. On board the Standart his majesty received four deputations, including the lord mayor and the corporation of London and various chambers of commerce, and was presented with addresses in gold caskets.

In reply his majesty expressed his delight with his stay in British waters and spoke of the importance of developing the political and commercial friendship between Great Brtain and Russia as a guarantee of the general peace. The emperor also thanked the chamber of commerce for the receptions recently accorded the members of the duma who have been visiting England.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra bade farewell to Emperor Nicholas and the members of his party on board the Standart, where they were entertained at luncheon. They then returned to the British royal yacht, the Victoria and Albert, which accompanied the Standart for some distance outside the roadstead.

"It is the emperor's firm desire and belief that this all too brief visit can only bear the happiest fruit in promoting the friendliest feelings between the governments and peoples of the two countries," are the words with which Emperor Nicholas concluded a message of thanks to the British nation for the "affectionate welcome" accorded himself and the empress.

BARCELONA LIT BY WARSHIPS.

Electric and Gas Plants Still Unrepaired and Searchlights Substitute—City Continues Calm.

CERBERE, France, Aug. 5. — Barcelona continues calm. The electric and gas plants have not been repaired, and the city is lighted by searchlights from the warships in the harbor. It is officially announced that ten courtsmartial of persons charged with complicity in the riots at Barcelona have been held to date. Five men were condemned to life imprisonment, but a number have been released from the Mount Juich fortress.

STOCKHOLM FEARS STRIKE VIOLENCE

Temper of Both Workmen and Inhabitants Is Near the Breaking Point.

HUNGER FELT IN CITY.

Food Supply Is Running Low; Poor Residents Camping on the Outskirts.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 5.—Although Stockholm has been quiet tonight except for several minor demonstrations by mobs of strikers, it is believed this situation represents merely the calm before the storm, for the ranks of the strikers are being augmented hourly and the temper of both the strikers and the inhabitants of the city in general is increasing. Fears are expressed that serious trouble may arise at any moment. The strikers now number 300,000.

The government is making ready to meet any contingency. Additional troops have been ordered to Stockholm, and the streets tonight are full of clattering army wagons arriving with supplies from the farming districts, each carrying two soldiers with fixed bayonets and surrounded by mounted guards.

Bread Supply Nearly Exhausted.

Within the city the pinch of hunger is beginning to be felt. The bread supply is nearly exhausted and owing to the strike of slaughterers the stock of meat also is running low. Prices have risen to heights which almost preclude the poorer classes buying food. Thousands of the poor already are camping out in the outlying districts, some in tents and some in the open, and living almost entirely on the fish they are able to catch. Soldiers are supervising the distribution of milk in the city.

Scandinavians generally are lending their aid to their brothers in Sweden. The Norwegian laborers already have donated $40,000 to the strike fund and are making further collections for the cause. The members of Danish unions have promised to contribute a percentage of their weekly wages as long as the lockout lasts and collections are being taken up in Finland for the strikers in Sweden.

Paupers as Gravediggers.

Paupers from the state poorhouses have been enlisted to replace the striking grave diggers and undertakers, and instead of hearses stretchers are being used to carry corpses through the streets to the cemeteries. The funerals proceed under military escort. The employés of the gas works and the electric light plants have gone out on strike and as a result military guards have been placed over the establishments.

The authorities contend that this protection is necessary and assert that last night they frustrated an attempt to blow up the gas works with dynamite. A gunboat has been stationed opposite the gas works, and no boats are allowed to pass between it and the shore.

The strike as yet does not embrace the agricultural districts of the country to any great extent, but attempts are being made to involve them also. At Vesteras, sixty miles northwest of Stockholm, an attempt of this kind led to serious disorder. A body of fifty strikers forced the laborers on some of the estates there to quit work. Troops were summoned, and conflicts between them and the strikers took place. A large number of persons were arrested. With this exception order has nowhere been disturbed.

DIES IN ARMS OF HIS BRIDE.

American Consular Official Succumbs on Steamer—Married at Vessel's Sailing.

ANTWERP, Aug. 5.—Joseph H. Leute, American vice and deputy consul general at Zurich, Switzerland, died in the arms of his young bride on board the steamer Marquette today just as the vessel was entering this port.

Mr. Leute was married in Philadelphia on the eve of the sailing of the Marquette from that city, July 25.

Death resulted from tuberculosis. Mr. Leute was 25 years old and a native of Pennsylvania. He is said to have been a consular official of great promise.

FOUND DYING; PAPERS MISSING.

Pioneer of '49 Discovered Under Window of Home in Aurora and Robbers Are Suspected.

Giles E. Strong, one of the thirteen surviving "49ers" of the Western Association of California Pioneers, who meet each September in Chicago, was found dying early yesterday under the window of his home at 337 South avenue, Aurora, where he lived alone.

Fred Stolp chanced to be passing the old man's home when he heard groans. He summoned a physician, but Strong died without regaining consciousness.

A window in Mr. Strong's room upstairs was found open, and it was believed he fell while leaning out for a breath of fresh air. Relatives, however, are unable to find papers and valuables which they knew the old man had, and the theory is that he was beaten by robbers.

BANKER AND WIFE DIE IN AUTO

Car Crashes Into Machine, Mangling Both of Its Occupants.

DEAD ERE CREW ARRIVES.

Iowan Identified by Papers Found in His Pockets.

AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES OF YEAR....180

Alexandria, Ind., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—John W. Cravens and wife of Spirit Lake, Ia., were killed at a crossing on the Indiana Union Traction company when their automobile was hit by the Marion flyer north of here today.

Mr. Cravens was president of the First National bank of Spirit Lake. He and his wife were taking an extended trip in the automobile. Both were mangled and were dead before the train crew got to them. Papers found in Cravens' pockets identified him.

The bodies were taken to Anderson, Ind., where Coroner Smethers will hold an inquest. A large sum of money and a number of valuable papers were found in the dead banker's clothes.

Veteran Killed by Auto.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 5.—Isaac C. Wolfe of Paducah, Ky., was killed by an automobile on the highway near Belvidere today. The machine was driven by F. A. Nott and his son, C. A. Nott, of Byron, Ill., who were on their way to the Algonquin hill climbing contest. Wolfe, who was 70 years old, was a union veteran of the civil war and a Mason.

Chicago Car Kills Boy.

Crown Point, Ind., Aug. 5.—A seven passenger Chicago touring car carrying the number "2,313 Illinois" killed a 7 year old farmer boy named Trieker on the ridge road near Highland late last night.

The car was being driven by two Chicago men named Swartout and Cummings, said to be employés of the Chicago agency of an automobile company.

It is alleged that they were racing with another machine and in turning out to pass it struck the Trieker boy. Sheriff Grant placed both men in jail.

FOUR DROWN, 16 RESCUED, IN ACCIDENT TO A LAUNCH.

Craft Carrying Passengers at Sunday School Picnic Strikes Submerged Piling—Occupants Thrown Into Water.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 5.—Two bodies are lying at the Canton police station and two others at the bottom of the Patapsco river tonight, while sixteen persons who were their companions are alive and thankful that they were not also drowned, when a gasoline launch carrying them was wrecked this afternoon. Mrs. Katherine E. Brwn, aged 60 years; Frank Pryor, aged 19 years, and two children lost their lives.

Pryor was acting as engineer of the launch. The others were attending the annual picnic of the Huntington Avenue Baptist church Sunday school. Twenty persons had entered the launch for a short trip on the river. The craft had reached a point about a hundred yards from shore, when it struck some piling, the top of which was under water. The occupants were thrown into the water, which at that point is only about four feet deep.

Rescue parties at once put out from shore and saved sixteen occupants of the launch.

DROWNED IN KENOSHA HARBOR.

The body of Fred Hartung, who has been missing since Tuesday, was found floating in Kenosha harbor yesterday. It is supposed he fell into the water while temporarily unbalanced mentally. He was 51 years old and a son of Wm. Hartung, a pioneer of Kenosha.

Mississippi's Undeveloped Resources

In proportion to capital invested, the soil of Mississippi yields greater returns than that of any other state in the Union—a fact of great significance when taken with this other: that a soil capable of producing in abundance every variety of fruit, flower and vegetable and nearly every kind of grass and grain, has been robbed of its fertility by a hundred consecutive years of cultivation with a few crops.

But the soil-resources that a wiser cultivation might release will be infinitely augmented by the cultivation of the millions of acres that await the hand of the farmer—virgin soil which, through conditions of climate and location, may be tilled with a degree of profit which is but rarely shown elsewhere in the United States. The wealth of Mississippi belongs to the next generation.

The Beneficent Boll Weevil

The boll weevil, eradicable or not, is a "blessing in disguise." It has aroused, as nothing else seemed capable of doing, the farmers of Mississippi to the value of diversified farming. Year after year the farmer went on growing cotton and cane, leaving the soil a little poorer than before. The boll weevil has rudely awakened him to the need for

Diversified Farming

A trained observer once said that Mississippi had too much land, too many mules and too much ignorant labor. The disintegration of the large estates, the subordination of the cotton crop, livestock farming, the rotation of crops will multiply profits in farming. Mississippi will not continue to get its "flour from Minnesota, its butter from Wisconsin, its beef and pork from Kansas City, its meal from Nebraska, its mules from Missouri, its horses from Kentucky, its cows from Tennessee and its peaches and apples from Michigan and New York." It will produce these things on its own soil.

Southern Mississippi

presents excellent opportunities to the farmer from the North in search of bigger profits. To the homeseeker, also, who desires a good living through truck gardening or fruit raising, this delightful section of the country is an inviting field. The climate on the Gulf of Mexico is that of the warm temperate zone—the range of temperature being from 81° in summer to 51° in winter. In the cleared and cultivated areas the yield of corn, oats, cotton and sugar cane is excellent, while enormous crops of potatoes, garden vegetables, fruits and nuts are secured.

Truck Gardening

is engaged in on the Gulf coast with splendid results. Shipments to the Northern markets—radishes, lettuce, onions, cabbages, beets, carrots, potatoes and cantaloupes—are begun in November and continue until May. Profits are high. Authentic reports give as much as $400 an acre for spring onions and cabbages; $150 an acre from early potatoes; $250 to $300 from asparagus. Thousands of acres of stump land—from which the yellow pine forests have been cleared—are on the market at prices ranging, according to location, from $16 to $60 an acre.

The Profitable Pecan

The "paper-shell" pecan, for which there is a growing demand, is cultivated with much profit. This variety is worth 50 cents to $1.50 a pound. The 7-year-old trees bear from 10 to 15 pounds and continue to grow a continuously heavier crop for 30 years and longer. A single tree is said to yield $25 to $50 a year, and it is possible to cultivate vegetables, flowers and berries between the rows. These figures are significant when it is remembered that the United States imports $25,000,000 worth of nuts every year.

The Satsuma Orange

or "kid glove" orange, is cultivated with success on the Gulf Coast. It is of Japanese origin, a seedless fruit, small, flat, easily peeled and very juicy. It ripens in September and lasts in groves through the winter till February. Of small but uniform size it makes a good shipper, and from its earliness commands a high price on the market. A 7-year-old grove is said to produce between $600 and $1,000 an acre.

A National Land Exposition in Chicago

From Nov. 20th to Dec. 4th of this year will be held in the Coliseum, under the auspices of The Chicago Tribune, the United States Land and Irrigation Exposition, which will provide authoritative, graphic information about the vast land opportunities now opening up in many States for homeseekers, farmers and investors. There will be exhibits of the wonderful fruits of this virgin soil from all sections of the country. Elaborate panoramas will show what is being done to irrigate, drain and cultivate it. Arrangements have been made for government exhibits of great value to the farmer and of vital interest to every lover of American soil.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 6, 1909.

THE Swedish movement is to strike.

MISS MAY SUTTON has declared her engagement to Mr. Ham off. He is the ham what isn't.

IF Thaw is released from Matteawan he is going to write books. This is an additional reason why they should keep him in.

SENATOR CUMMINS threatens to bolt the Republican party on account of the tariff. He should think twice before he flies to ills he knows not of.

THE dispatches tell us that the "greatest cry for men comes from Lincoln, Neb." There has been a great cry for men from there nearly every four years.

CONGRESSMAN HEFLIN began by slugging a negro. Now he has hit a chauffeur. Presently, as they say in the "Mikado," he will come to a second trombone.

CAN you feel your soul grow? Mrs. Besant says it does, and if it doesn't there must be something wrong with it.

IF money could fight as well as talk the heavyweight contest would be over long ago.

SEATTLE is angry with Gov. Johnson because, instead of coming to the fair on Swedish day, he came on Minnesota day. It is no wonder he confused the dates.

IT is hard to please some men. The head of the weather service wants younger prognosticators, and Nat Goodwin is howling for older dramatists.

THE Swedish strike has reached a grave crisis. The gravediggers have gone out.

THE designer of the new cent probably thought his signature was necessary to make them genuine.

SPANISH rioters cried: "Long live the republic." They had a republic in Spain once for about a day, but some one stopped to light a cigaret and it was all over.

EMMA GOLDMAN will hate Newark all the days of her life. It was there that they let her speak without arresting her.

IT will not cost any more to hand them out. The tariff on lemons is the same.

NOT content with printing all the details of the recent earthquake the Mexican Herald gave its readers the following:

"One of the weirdest features of the shock early yesterday morning consisted in the sinister fulgurations of the heavens that synchronized with it. They were like the 'vermilion light' that flashed over 'the tearful land' on the 'sad shore of Acheron,' when Dante went down to the Inferno."

IF all the stories told of the late Russell Sage were true, one can forgive him when the disposition of his great wealth by Mrs. Sage is considered. In addition to the huge sums she has already disposed of in such wise manner, she has now set aside a large amount for the erection of workingmen's dwellings which are to be let to laborers' families at the smallest reasonable price. The manner in which she has disposed of the vast fortune is in every way creditable to her heart and judgment.

AND, above all, arbitrate.

GEN. BRAGG PROTESTS.

Gen. Edward S. Bragg of the Iron brigade is one of the veterans of the civil war. No one will dispute his right to the title. He entered the service in the spring of 1861 and was not mustered out until the fall of 1865. Most of the time he was at the front, where he had ample experience of bivouac and of battle. When he recalls his years of marching and fighting it irks him that men whom he looks on as summer soldiers, men who enlisted for the brief Spanish war, and who hardly had time to do more than learn the manual of arms before they were mustered out, should call themselves veterans. It is so serious a matter with him that he has been talking about it to his fellow veterans of his old brigade.

The general has the facts—the dictionary—on his side. The veteran is the trained soldier who has seen long and arduous service. So, strictly speaking, the three months' men of the civil war who did not reënlist are not veterans. Neither are the men who volunteered or were drafted towards its close and never got nearer the enemy than camps of instruction. Neither are the men who enlisted eleven years ago with the expectation of fighting Spaniards, but who never got to Cuba. They would have become veterans if given an opportunity, but it was denied them.

If it be vanity on their part to call themselves veterans, it is pardonable vanity—pardonable to men who were ready to fight and die for their country. By indulging in it they do not steal away any of the glory of the men who knew the "drums and tramplings" of the long civil war. Those men are in a class by themselves. Their place is secure.

Gen. Bragg should not be too severe on the soldiers of later and briefer wars. If he were to run across any of them he would find them silent about their campaigns and respectful listeners while he "shouldered his crutch and showed how fields were won." Before him they would not call themselves veterans.

THE NEW TARIFF.

The tariff bill has got through congress at last. The industries affected by it know now exactly where they stand and will promptly adjust themselves to new conditions, if such there be. If the business of the country has moved more slowly during the five months of tariff debate it will now hasten its pace.

The new law has manifest defects. It would have had more but for the forceful interposition of the president. Because of its shortcomings it did not receive a solid Republican vote. But one of the senators who would not vote for it was compelled to admit that it was "superior to any bill framed for revenue purposes, and, as far as the schedules go, better than the Dingley law." That does not state the case fully. The Dingley law was the high water mark of ultra protectionism. This year's legislation is significant in that it indicates that the tide has turned. The long battle between protection and free trade has ended in favor of protection. The contest of the future will be between moderate and ultra protection.

The placing of hides on the free list may seem of little importance to some. Those who are aware of the difficulty with which so reasonable a reform was secured are of a different opinion. It was as hard as prying the first stone out of the wall. If the duty on hides had not been in the Dingley law Senator Aldrich would not have been able to secure for his bill the votes of certain western senators interested in the maintenance of the duty. Now that it has gone, the New England cotton spinners will not have support which has been of so much value to them.

It is no small matter that the duties on iron and steel, lumber, and many other articles have been reduced in the teeth of the vehement opposition of men interested in the preservation of higher duties. They have asserted that lower duties would imperil their industries. The event will prove that those industries have not been harmed. That will not be forgotten when the tariff is next revised. Men engaged in other overprotected industries will advance the same argument and will gain nothing by it.

The new tariff law confers many substantial benefits upon consumers. It contains novel features, notably the provision for maximum and minimum duties, which it is confidently believed will vindicate their usefulness. Under the new law there will be less evasion of duties than of old.

It meets with President Taft's approval. That should convince the public of its substantial merit.

ALFRED TENNYSON.

The centenary of Alfred, Lord Tennyson, brings back in a flood the memories of the days when he passed into that ultimate adventure, Death. His going resembled that of one of his great contemporaries, Queen Victoria, in that it somehow seemed to take away the background of the time—to remove the scene against which the drama of the century had been played. Thinking of England, one thought of Victoria, Gladstone, Tennyson, Browning. They lived to an age so great, and with such an effect of solidity and impressiveness, that they were as the polished granite pillars of a great edifice, nor was it easy to believe that the structure would withstand their removal.

The divine distinction of the true supporting human force is, however, that it does not die. The good it has done constitutes its perpetuity, and none of these whose names have been mentioned has been silenced by death. In their love of beauty, of liberty, of justice, of the soul's high integrity, they live still, a present force. And of them all, Tennyson maintains, perhaps, the most vital place among the men still walking the streets today.

It is difficult to define the nature of the service performed by Lord Tennyson. He is so bound up in our thought, his dreams and visions have become so incorporated into our own, his ideals were so essentially the ideals we would have liked to have, that it is difficult to tell where he leaves off and where his times begin. Representative men have at once this advantage and disadvantage. In expressing themselves they so express the generation they represent that the degree of their originality is difficult to estimate.

Undeniably, Tennyson came as a great boon to the English speaking race. The old forms of expression were growing consciously hackneyed. There was need of a fresh formulation of ideals which were purifying and undergoing a delicate evolution. Tennyson met this desire. He opened a new book of romance—a book essentially Anglo-Saxon and essentially contemporary, no matter from what ancient chronicle he may have drawn his theme. He fed anew the imaginations of those who had been half starved for beauty; and his intellectual personality—one must not use so constrained a phrase as "literary style"—seemed to be absorbed at once into the consciousness of the people. Today we are conscious of the splendid industry of this man who knew the value of his gift. No one can produce so large a bulk of composition as did Tennyson save at the cost of many personal sacrifices.

From the age of 24 Tennyson knew that he must write "The Idylls of the King." He was beset with visions, and it was not in his power to escape. Forty years later, framing "Guinevere" and "The Last Tournament," he was still in thrall. Tennyson had such a strong sense of responsibility toward beauty that he would no more consciously have let a beautiful new-born idea perish than he would have passed by a babe crying from the hedges. It may not generally be known, but he was a man with a habit of religious thought. He was of the opinion that had the life of a poet not claimed him, he would have been among the chief religious thinkers of his time. He was unafraid of science, regarding it not as the foe but the friend of religion. The further science progressed, the more apparent would become the unity of nature, he opined. He had an eye for unimaginable futures, as well as for imaginable ones.

As nine months go to the shaping an infant ripe for his birth,
So many a million of ages have gone to the making of man:
He now is first, but is he the last?

The birth of such a man is of incalculable consequence not only to his nation but to the world. It is fitting that the anniversaries of such events should be observed—not necessarily with ceremony but with an inner and spiritual tribute.

THE NEXT CHIEF OF POLICE.

George M. Shippy followed the only course which prudence would suggest when he decided not to risk his slowly returning health by attempting prematurely to take up his duties as superintendent of police. His next step was a necessary one both to himself and to the department. He resigned.

In naming his successor Mayor Busse was inclined to break the rule which has governed for years in the police department. He was willing to appoint his secretary, Bernard J. Mullaney, a civilian, unfamiliar with the routine of police work. The value of a department training for a chief of police always has been a point in controversy. That it is an essential may be successfully disputed. The record of Austin Doyle, civilian chief, was one of the highest excellence and efficiency. That of Elmer Washburn was an earlier demonstration of the capacity of a man not connected with the department until he became its head.

Mr. Mullaney has decided not to accept the position offered him, his reasons being readily understood. To accept the responsibilities of an office so exacting and to do so in the closing part of the administration with which he is connected would mean a radical change for a man previously without inclination towards or thought of police work. Mayor Busse is reported as having reached no choice in his search for a successor to the retired chief. A department man may be selected or another civilian may be offered the post. An efficient executive is needed at the head of the force, and it does not matter whether he be found in the department or outside of it.

The next chief, whoever he may be, will go into office under conditions different from those which confronted any of his predecessors. He will be held to more rigid responsibility than any of them. He will not be permitted to shift to inspectors or other subordinates the blame for anything that may go amiss. He will have to walk unfalteringly the narrow path of absolute rectitude, and at the first step to the right or to the left off will go his head.

The record of George M. Shippy has been that of other competent chiefs. Under him the department made a steady advance which is perceptible to the average citizen. He did not weed out all its faults. It made improvement and retained some of its defects. In retiring, Mr. Shippy has the best wishes of the city for his recovery, wishes which are mixed with regret that his health should have been such as to require his resignation.

KING GEORGE'S throne has been so often reported as being in danger that the announcement that its existence is once more imperiled may not at first excite more than passing interest.

This time, however, the situation is more critical than ever before. Formerly the monarch and the dynasty have been able to count upon the loyalty of the army. This, however, is no longer the case. Encouraged by what has taken place during the last year in Turkey, where a revolution has been brought about, not by the senior officers of the army, but by the subalterns, who have succeeded in entirely reorganizing the Ottoman government and in placing it upon a more solid basis than heretofore, the junior officers of the Greek army have brought into existence a movement which is distinctly revolutionary.

Practically all the officers of the army, including and below the rank of lieutenant colonel, have issued a manifesto demanding the elimination of all the princes of the reigning house from the army and especially the removal of the crown prince, who is the generalissimo.

They also insist upon the dismissal of a number of generals and senior colonels, who, they declare, owe their epaulettes to royal favor rather than to meritorious service, and ask that the radical reorganization and training of the army should be confided to some distinguished foreign general and to a staff of foreign expert officers. The association of young officers admits that its members do not possess the military training and experience necessary to enable them to resist the threatened Ottoman invasion, but adds that it cannot look for any instruction on the part of the royal princes and of the now commanding generals and brigadiers, who have both before and subsequent to the last war with Turkey, more than fourteen years ago, shown themselves to be hopelessly incompetent.

The manifesto has been received with considerable sympathy among the people at large and committees of merchants and landowners are being formed all over Greece with the object of supporting the young officers' movement. The king and princes have only the few generals and elderly colonels on their side, who are denounced as reactionaries and the foes of the country.

Meanwhile the country is just emerging from the throes of a cabinet crisis which has restored M. Ralli to the prime ministership, which, it may be recalled, he held at the time of the last Greco-Turkish war—a somewhat ominous coincidence. Perhaps the best thing that can be said about him is that he is more respected and better liked at Constantinople than any other Greek statesman of the present day. But he is not particularly popular among his own countrymen and the administration which he has formed cannot be considered strong, or as likely to last. This, and the menace of a war with Turkey resulting from the raising of the Greek flag on the island of Crete, indicate that the situation at Athens is critical.

Nor are matters improved by differences which are said to have broken out between the crown princess, sister of the kaiser, and her mother-in-law, Queen Olga of Greece, who is a Russian grandduchess, on the subject of the management of the military hospital at Athens, culminating in the queen's dismissal of the English woman superintendent and nurses engaged by the crown princess and in the latter's resignation of the vice presidency of the institution. These differences have had the result of dividing the court of Athens into two rival factions.

Frederick George Kenyon, who has just been appointed by King Edward to the office of director and principal librarian of the British museum, a post carrying with it a salary of $10,000 a year, and an official residence within the museum precincts, in succession to Sir Edward M. Thompson, who recently retired with the grand cross of the order of the Bath, is a relatively young man, being 46 years old. He has been connected with the British museum during a little over a decade as keeper of the manuscripts.

The son of a distinguished lawyer, John Robert Kenyon, Q. C., who was professor of law at the University of Oxford, he is one of the most celebrated authorities in Europe on ancient manuscripts, and his services in connection therewith have been recognized by the great universities and principal scientific bodies of almost every country in Europe, notably by the Berlin academy.

He married a daughter of Rowland Hunt, is an authority on everything relating to Robert Browning, whose poems he edited, has a beautiful country place at Godstone in Surrey, and in his leisure time in London makes his headquarters at the Athenæum club.

The earl of Clonmell, who has just been placed in mourning by the death of his mother, and who is debarred by his Liberal sympathies from election as a representative of the Irish peerage in the house of lords, has secured his acceptance as Liberal candidate for Rugby in the house of commons at the next general election.

He seems to have considered it necessary, in view of the contest, to issue a denial of the story that his wife was on the stage before her marriage. He adds that she comes from an old Warwickshire family, the Berridges of Toft Hill.

While it is true that Lady Clonmell is a Berridge of Toft Hill, it also is a fact that she was formerly on the stage. Her father was a country 'squire, who during his lifetime was well known as a successful breeder of Shire horses and heavyweight hunters, as well as of coursing greyhounds. Mrs. Sam Berridge, his wife, was the daughter of a clergyman of the Church of England.

'Squire Berridge died when his daughter Stella was about 17 years old, and, as he left his family nearly penniless, and she had a taste for theatricals, she went on the stage in order to support herself and her family, only quitting it in order to marry Lord Clonmell.

Since her marriage she has been presented at court and the popularity of her father's family in all the district around Rugby will go far to promote the victory of her husband at the polls at the next general election.

The founder of the family and the first earl of the line was John Scott, who was elevated to the peerage for his services as lord chief justice of Ireland toward the close of the eighteenth century.

The threatened destruction of the old palace of the archbishops of Canterbury at Croydon, long abandoned, neglected, and falling into ruin, should yield many treasures to museums, collectors, artists and antiquaries in the form of exquisite carvings of wood and of stone. It was the residence of Archbishop Lanfranc, primate of all England, as far back as in 1070, that is, four years after the Norman conquest, and has been the home of many a famous divine, notable among them Archbishops Cranmer, Laud, and Juxon, whose armorial bearings figure on the wall of the great banqueting hall in the guard chamber and on the beautiful perforated oaken screens.

Queen Elizabeth is on record as having visited the old palace at Croydon at three different epochs of her life, and in the little Tudor chapel there is still preserved the pew which bears her name and which she was wont to occupy, while leading out from it is "the queen's retiring room," and then a vast apartment known as "the queen's bedchamber." Croydon palace served as the prison of the captive duke of Rothesay, afterward King James I. of Scotland.

In the great hall Archbishop Cranmer interrogated that "learned and excellent John Fryth," and condemned him to suffer that same martyrdom at Smithfield which some years afterward was destined to fall to his own lot. Beneath the palace lies a perfect maze of subterranean dungeons, cells, and vaults which have never been thoroughly explored in modern times, and in which, according to tradition, many martyrs of medieval religious persecution were either done to death or left to succumb to the tortures of starvation and thirst.

Croydon has long ceased to be the home of the primates and has been completely abandoned by them since the reign of King George II. Situated on the high road from London to Brighton, the adjoining town of Croydon figures in Doomsday book as Croiedone, which may be regarded as the Norman rendering of the English words "Chalk hill" (Croie dune).

He has recently begun to keep books, or sells them, or makes them, I don't know just which, and he sold one only the other day for sixteen times more than it cost him down at fort erie, so you see he can really take things easy now. His business keeps him out late nights at the office; but he wants me to be happy, and told me yesterday that we must both take things easier, and so we are thinking of putting in a gas stove and a telephone. Which shall I get, and what can you recommend for the latest thing out? IMA SWEET.

SINCE our tariff has been removed on paintings more than twenty years old there is a great stir on the continent to prevent American plutocrats from gobbling all the good canvases. If we get 'em all over here we shan't have to "go abroad" to see them, and that would hurt the tourist trade.

A LETTER FROM DR. DUBBE.

My Dear Sir—It is some years since I have addressed a communication to you, and I am moved in the present instance by a loose remark of Mr. Oscar Hammerstein's concerning the educational value of his operatic schemes. The absurdity of opera being educational is at once apparent.

I need not inform the members of my erstwhile Program Study Class in Chicago what educational music really is. They (and the great reading public which you kindly provided) are aware that the analysis of great musical compositions, the study of the structure's various parts, and a working grasp of harmony and counterpoint mark the boundary of the educational in music. After that comes the intellectual pleasure of listening to a performance of Bach, Beethoven, or Brahms; and after that—the deluge, the welter of emotion. Opera is no more educational than hasheesh.

Some one may inquire, "But is not opera educational in that it shows the trend of things?" To which I reply, certainly not; there is no trend. I have been on the continent the past three years, regarding music in all its manifestations, and anything resembling a trend has yet to disclose itself. The French school is frankly crazy and decadent, and has no more notion whither it is headed than a bat in a belfry. As for Richard Strauss, he has been satisfactorily classified by the epigram, "A clever man who was once a genius." I have heard his "Elektra" twenty times. After the first hearing I was driven to devising a pair of shock absorbers which may be worn over the ears. You will be interested in knowing that the device has been patented and put on the market, and that at all Strauss performances fully one-half of the audience have their ears protected.

My present plan is to return to Chicago in the autumn. Meanwhile I desire to be remembered to my Program Study Class, with special gratitude to Mrs. Givu A. Payne, to whom I am indebted for several Chicago post cards. Will you also convey my warm regards to my quondam colleague, Richard Wagner O'Leary, from whom I have heard nothing in years. I am, sir, yours, etc.,

Priest Writes of Pulliam's Death.

Traverse City, Mich., Aug. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Allow me to congratulate Hek (Hugh E. Keough) on his sensible remarks anent the recent "going out" of Harry Pulliam. I am a Catholic clergyman of Chicago and take keen interest in his daily philosophical reflections, for such I consider them, on the happenings of the moment. There is, in reality, so much shallow sentiment splashed about when a public character strikes off at a tangent that it is a positive relief to find some who are able to take things at their real worth and penetrate the thin veil that separates facts from their rock-bottom reasons.

Surely, many a man has made a sad ending because the "market for his ability was thrust upon him." Then the crowd laughed idiotically, or wept tears over the sad ending, whereas it should have shed a few real ones over the unjointed setting of circumstances or of deliberate acts that caused him to face a condition of affairs entirely without the sphere of his talents and ability. Yes, the "going out" of Harry Pulliam was sad, and we trust it happened in a moment of irresponsible aberration.

Pardon my liberty, which I have arrogated in thus writing so familiarly, but Hek's thoughts struck home. More power to him!

What Work Can This Girl Do?

Chicago, Aug. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Is it really sometimes necessary for a person in unfortunate circumstances to commit an unlawful act in order to win the sympathy and assistance of our more fortunate people? Such is known to have been the case time and again.

Although I am most unfortunate and greatly distressed on account of my inability to secure satisfactory employment, I most certainly would not commit a mean, wicked act to gain the unbearable notoriety which would, no doubt, bring some one to my assistance.

It is now over a year since I have been seeking employment, but thus far my efforts have borne little fruit.

I am a girl in my teens. My impaired eyesight accounts for my inability to find work. Cannot some one suggest some kind of profitable work that one in my condition can do? Something that will not be too great a strain on the eyes. I am sure that any answer to this query will be thoroughly appreciated by hundreds of others who, like myself, have poor eyesight and no profession.

It is bad enough for persons with poor vision who are not compelled to work for a livelihood, but for those of us who are, and especially those who are unskilled, it is bitter, very bitter!

Blessed with strong, healthy limbs, I can find no work to do, and gifted with a "voice" and thirst for knowledge, I must "stand idly" by while my struggle for existence is slowly crushing out my girlish hopes and ambitions.

There surely must be something meant for me to do. What can it be? Being an orphan, I am absolutely dependent upon myself for the wants and necessities of life, and this letter to your highly esteemed paper is my boldest, most desperate effort in my search for work. ALLA LONE.

Economies in Food Supplies.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A suggestion from one not immediately interested in a matter another is struggling with sometimes assists the one in trouble. I venture to offer you the following:

In your yesterday's issue Mrs. Taber and Mrs. Fleming cite, as making impossible their providing household necessities, the following prices of table needs: Butter, 33 cents; less than one and one-half pounds sirloin steak, 35 cents; potatoes, 35 cents a peck; lard, 18 cents. The above prices are high, higher than need be paid for the articles, as sirloin steaks can be bought for 18 cents to 20 cents; potatoes, 25 cents a peck; lard for 14 cents—and it is not necessary to use butter, as good butterine can be bought for 20 cents (I use the 16 cents variety and find it satisfactory)—round steak costs 16 cents, flank steak 16 cents, hamburg steak 12 cents, lamb stews 5 cents, and beef stews 10 cents a pound. Coffee, sugar, soap, bread, flour, etc., remain at prices that have obtained for some years.

If the "lard like" color of butterine be an objection a coloring matter can be had at no expense.

Now, the thought forces itself upon my mind that if such percentages of cost may be saved in the purchase of the above articles as against the cost cited by the two housewives named, a similar economical gain may be had by the exercise of a saving common sense in the purchase of the other household necessities—and race suicide may yet be as far distant as the redoubtable Theodore Roosevelt can wish it. This is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Alfred Tennyson, for forty-three years poet laureate of England. With his brother he published juvenile poems when he was 18 years old. The year he became poet laureate he married and published "In Memoriam."

BRADY HAS MANY NEW PLAYS

"The Dollar Mark" Will Be First of Season Produced.

GRACE GEORGE ON BIG TOUR.

Robert Mantell Will Continue to Enact Shakspearian Roles.

New York, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—William A. Brady today announced his plans for the coming season. By the first of the new year at least ten new productions will be made.

"My first and one of the most important productions of the season will be 'The Dollar Mark,' by George Broadhurst, which will be made at Wallack's theater on Aug. 23," said Mr. Brady. "The play will be seen for a week out of town before coming to New York.

"Grace George will make an extended tour in 'A Woman's Way,' giving occasional performances of 'The School for Scandal' and 'Divorçons' at matinées. She will be the opening attraction at my new theater on Forty-eighth street, now called the New Netherlands, which will be finished on March 1, after which she will visit Australia and other countries on a world's tour, opening in London in October, 1911. If Sir Herbert Tree comes to New York she will appear as Lady Teazle with him in his production of 'The School for Scandal.'

Mantell to Stay in Shakspeare.

"Robert Mantell will continue in the same repertoire of Shakspearean and legitimate plays he has presented in New York the last year. Louis Mann will retain 'The Man Who Stood Still' as his starring vehicle for the first part of the season, producing a new play in December.

"Cyril Scott will be seen in a new play called 'The Little Brown Jug,' dramatized from a novel of that name. Tim Murphy will play the Rupert Hughes play, 'My Boy,' for an early southern tour and later will come to New York.

"I have new plays by George Broadhurst, Thompson Buchanan, Harrison Rhodes, and Thomas A. Wise, Edward Peple, James Fagan, and Frederick Lonsdale that I will present during the season as the opportunity offers.

New Play by Buchanan.

"About the middle of September Mr. Grismer and I will produce at the Bijou theater 'The Intruders,' a new play by Thompson Buchanan, the author of 'A Woman's Way.' Cyril Scott will play a leading comedy rôle in this production prior to his starring tour. Phœbe Davis will be presented later in a new play entitled 'The Tie That Binds,' by W. S. Hurlburt, author of 'The Fighting Hope.'

"In the spring, Wise and Fairbanks will separate as co-stars, each heading his own organization, Mr. Fairbanks producing 'The Machinations of Charles Edwards,' by Harrison Rhodes, and Mr. Wise appearing in a comedy from his own pen provisionally entitled 'An Old New Yorker.'"

NEWSPAPER MEN INTERESTED IN ADVERTISING CONVENTION

Chairman Mason Forms Big Committee for Annual Meeting to Be Held in Louisville This Month.

George W. Mason, Chicago manager of the Omaha Bee, chairman of the committee on newspapers of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, has enlisted many representative men in the newspaper world who will act with him on the committee at the fifth annual convention at Louisville on Aug. 25, 26, and 27. Following are the acceptances:

Louis Wiley, New York Times, New York, N. Y.
C. C. Rosewater, Omaha Bee, Nebraska.
Henry Watterson, Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky.
A. P. Johnson, Record-Herald, Chicago.
F. P. Glass, Advertiser, Montgomery.
Charles W. Hornick, Call, San Francisco.
M. E. Foster, Chronicle, Houston.
La Fayette Young, Capitol, Des Moines.
W. McKay Barbour, Tribune, Minneapolis.
Congressman Henry M. Coudrey of Missouri.
Lester J. Jones, Journal, Chicago.
Clark Howell, Constitution, Atlanta.
Hal Gaylord, Kansas City Journal.
George S. Oliver, Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

Mr. Mason expects a big attendance at the convention.

NEW MONUMENT FOR SOLDIERS.

C. H. McConnell Will Erect It on Gettysburg Battlefield to Commemorate Valor of Blue and Gray.

To commemorate the valor of both union and confederate soldiers at the battle of Gettysburg a monument to cost approximately $150,000 will be erected on the old battlefield by a Chicago business man, C. H. McConnell, president of the Economical Drug company.

Contrary to history, Mr. McConnell, who participated in the battle, says the first day's fighting at Gettysburg was a decided union defeat, 400 of the 500 men of the Twenty-fourth Michigan, Mr. McConnell's regiment, and 700 of the 800 men in the Twenty-sixth North Carolina regiment having been killed.

"The monument is intended to glorify the valor shown by the soldiers of both regiments in that battle," he said. "It will have three domes. The right hand dome will be dedicated to the Twenty-fourth Michigan and the left hand dome to the Twenty-sixth North Carolina. The central dome will contain the names of all the soldiers of the so-called 'iron brigade'—the Second, Sixth, and Seventh Wisconsin, the Twenty-fourth Michigan, the Fourteenth Indiana, and battery B, United States artillery, which participated in the battle, with the exception of my own name, which will be omitted."

Mr. McConnell hopes to have the monument ready for the fiftieth anniversary of the battle, in 1913. Artists in Europe and America are working on the design.

CONFERENCE MAY MEET HERE.

Another Attempt Will Be Made Today to Select Place for Methodist Ministers' Annual Convention.

Supt. Robert H. Pooley of the Joliet district of the Methodist Episcopal church will call a special meeting of the executive committee of the district at Evanston today for the purpose of deciding on the place for holding the Rock River annual district conference in September. First church, Chicago, of which the Rev. Ernest Wray Oneal is pastor, is the probable choice.

Three different places for holding the annual conference have been considered and then given up the last few months. First it was decided to hold the conference at Wheaton, but that congregation asked to be relieved. It is said Pastor Thompson of the Wheaton church did not care to have a church trial held there. Two ministers are to be tried.

Wabash Avenue church was selected next, but as it is situated in the "red light" district a strong objection was made and that choice also abandoned. Then Court Street church, Rockford, came forward with an offer and was for a time considered until Chicago clergymen protested that it was too far for a large number of the clergymen.

Campmeeting of the Seventh Day Adventists of northern Illinois opened yesterday at Elgin with 300 persons in attendance. Among the prominent persons present are Elder William Covert of the northern district of Illinois, Mrs. Ellen C. White of California, Dr. Estelle Norman of Chicago, Elder A. G. Daniels, of Washington, D. C.; Elder Miller, a blind orator of College View, Neb.; and Elder G. B. Thompson of Washington, D. C.

Jewish Press Club Formed.

A Jewish press club was organized last night at the Chicago Hebrew institute, 485 West Taylor street. It is made up of editors and writers for the local Yiddish papers. Dr. David Bressler, superintendent of the institute, is president, and James Loebner, city editor of the Jewish Daily Courier, is secretary.

With their two weeks vacation at THE TRIBUNE summer camp at Algonquin drawing to a close, a mother and her son were relieved yesterday of their dread of returning to the city. It was all due to a little story of the misfortunes of the two which one of the nurses at the hospital told to THE TRIBUNE over the telephone a week ago.

Only a day or two ago, the mother had spoken of the fact that their vacation period would end tomorrow and they would have to return to the city. She did not complain, but she expressed a longing to remain in the country. Her own childhood was spent on a New England farm, but her little boy was city born and the trip to Algonquin was his first real experience in the open country.

Laments End of Vacation.

"I do wish we could stay out here another week or two," she told the nurse. "It is so pleasant after the heat and dirt of the city. We have enjoyed ourselves and are strong again, and I suppose we should be thankful to go back to the city and give other poor people a chance to take our places."

But it so happened that a farmer near Aurora, Ill., read the story. He lives on his farm with two sons, but the mother died several years ago. So he conceived the idea of writing to the United Charities.

The letter explained that the writer needed a housekeeper, that such help was hard to obtain in the country, and that he would be willing to give the mother and little boy a good home and good wages if they would take care of the house for himself and his sons.

Mother Learns of Offer.

"Here's just the chance you are looking for, Mrs. Rogers," said a nurse. "It's a chance for a good home in the country—unless you think it will be too hard work for you to take care of a big farmhouse."

"Too much work? Why, I lived in such a house when I was a girl and my sisters and I helped our mother take care of it," she replied happily. "In the city we have two little rooms and there isn't much chance to do real housekeeping. It will give me more pleasure than I have had in years to take care of a real house. It's almost too good to be true."

A reply was sent to the farmer last night and Mrs. Rogers and her son probably will leave THE TRIBUNE camp today for the home in the country.

SAYS GROCER ATTACKED HER; ASKS FOR $10,000 DAMAGES.

Mrs. Dora Niles, by Attorney, Files a Declaration in Her Suit Against John S. Wilkinson.

Details of a suit for $10,000 damages brought by Mrs. Dora Niles, a widow 50 years old, against John S. Wilkinson, a north side grocer, became public yesterday through the filing of Mrs. Niles' declaration by her attorney, J. T. Hanna. It is charged that Wilkinson went into Mrs. Niles' house when she was there alone and made a violent attack on her, bruising and injuring her to such an extent that she has been forced to employ physicians.

"Her physician says she will not recover from the nervous shock of the attack for six months," Lawyer Hanna said. "I cannot understand what prompted the attack. Mrs. Niles was one of the regular customers at Wilkinson's grocery."

Wilkinson has a wife and children and lives at 406 Erie street. He owns a grocery at 341 Indiana street. Although the fact that the suit had been begun was published several days ago, Mr. Wilkinson said:

"I don't know anything about this affair. I didn't know a suit had been filed. There is nothing in the story. I will not talk about it."

Mrs. Niles has lived in Chicago since her husband died several years ago. He was a farmer and stock raiser. She lives at 38 Walton place.

CALUMET RIVER RIVALS NILE; LOTUS BLOOMS ARE ABUNDANT

Hundreds of Persons Gather Egyptian Flower from Stream Three Miles East of Hammond, Ind.

Egyptian lotus is said to be flourishing in the Calumet river three miles east of Hammond, Ind. Thousands of the gorgeous flowers are reported in bloom.

Old settlers of the region in Indiana where the flower has appeared so plentifully this year say botanists of the country formerly made annual pilgrimages to the place to study the lotus when its flowers opened. The Nile and Calumet rivers, they say, are the only streams in the world where this flower grows in a state of nature. Hundreds of people from Hammond and many from Chicago have visited the lotus fields within the last few days to see the gorgeous display of delicate blossoms, and boatloads of the flowers have been taken away.

The flower is five or six inches in diameter and is of a delicate yellow tint tipped with green. It is open during the day and closed at night. The old settlers at Hammond have no account of the importation of the plant from Egypt, and believe it is indigenous to the Calumet as well as to the Nile river.

Household Hints

IN THE NURSERY

Milk Tests.

If you have reason to think the milk you are using is adulterated, keep it for two or three days at ordinary temperature; if, on removing the cap, it does not smell sour, is not curdled, but has a putrefactive odor, this indicates that preservatives have been used.

Among the preservatives used are formaldehyde, boracic acid, salicylic acid, and sodium carbonate. Formaldehyde is the most common preservative. A simple test for this is as follows: Take an ordinary test tube, place in it two tablespoonfuls of milk, and add about an equal amount of commercial sulphuric acid. Care should be taken not to let the latter touch the clothing or hands, pouring the acid down the side of the tube so that it does not mix with the milk. If formalin is present a violet ring will appear between the layer of acid and milk. A test should be made every time the milk supply is changed or whenever deterioration is suspected.

IN THE SHOPS

Mattress Chat.

Nowadays mattresses come in pretty coverings, and as they are protected by a cotton pad placed between them and the springs there is no reason why homely mattresses should be purchased.

The best mattress, and by far the cheapest in the end, is made of hair. It frequently costs $25, but one made of the shorter hairs can be purchased for $15. The next best is made of felt. Mattresses made of Spanish moss, excelsior, and cotton mat down quickly and are not as comfortable as a hair mattress.

A mattress should be made in two parts, one square and the other oblong. While it is intended that the oblong piece should go at the foot of the bed, it is advisable to change the parts often, so that the wear is distributed evenly. A hair mattress should be made over every two years.

In The BOUDOIR

Complexion Hint.

The girl who perspires will not be such a sight if, instead of incessantly mopping her face, she carries with her a tiny vial of alcohol and rosewater, and wipes her face occasionally with it. A mixture of borax and water is also drying to perspiration, and there are certain preparations of grease that not only keep one from perspiring so freely but destroy any possible odor.

Skin Food.

White wax, one ounce; spermacetti, one-half ounce; lanoline, two ounces; cocoanut oil, two ounces; orange flower water, two ounces; oil of sweet almonds, four ounces; tincture of benzoin, thirty drops.

Rowing as an Exercise.

For the girl who longs to develop her chest rowing is an exercise which cannot be excelled. The breathing is in harmony with the motion of the oars. A good rower always sits well. The back should be held rigid and the swing come from the hips. The shoulders should be braced when the oars catch the water. The exercise in rowing is well distributed and causes no great local fatigue in the muscles. The muscles of the chest, back, abdomen, and arms are strengthened. The carriage is greatly improved and the circulation quickened.

Sunburnt Hands.

When hands are blistered from the sun, or very much burnt, they can be greatly relieved by binding them at night with thick slices of cucumber with the rind left on.

Sensitive Skins.

The girl with a sensitive skin, besides being ugly in summer, is often a sufferer. For her there is but one sure remedy—keep out of the sun. When that is impossible, wear veils, shade hats, and never neglect to have on hand a stock of soothing and cooling lotions, to be applied each night.

IN THE KITCHEN

Spiced Currants.

Spiced currants make an excellent relish to serve with meats. Allow to each pound of the fruit a pound of sugar. Make a syrup in the proportion of one pint of vinegar to each four pounds of sugar, two teaspoonfuls each mace, cinnamon, and allspice, a teaspoonful each cloves and salt. When boiling, add the currants, cook twenty minutes, and put up in glasses the same as jelly.

Black Currant Jelly.

This is one of the best household remedies for sore throat. Stem large ripe black currants, and after washing put in the preserving kettle, allowing a cupful of water to each quart of fruit. This is essential, because the black currants are a drier fruit than either the red or white. Mash with a wooden spoon or pestle, then cover and cook until the currants have reached the boiling point. Drain. To each pint of juice allow a half pound of loaf sugar. Stir until well mixed. Then cook just ten minutes from the time it begins to boil. Overcooking makes it tough and stringy. Pour in sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cold. Black currant jelly is delicious when served with game. A teaspoonful dissolved in a glass of cold water makes a refreshing drink for the sickroom or for a family beverage on a hot day.

KATHERINE ELKINS ITALIAN? PRINCESS IN HER OWN RIGHT?

Baltimore Woman Discovers That Henry Gassaway Davis, Young Woman's Grandfather, Is Descendant of Kings.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Albert Levin Richardson of Baltimore, who has been two years in London making researches with reference to the English origin of the seventeenth century American colonists of the upper classes, incidentally has discovered that Henry Gassaway Davis' forbears traced their descent away back to the time of Charlemagne, in 814, through many generations of Italian kings.

Considering this discovery extremely interesting in connection with the recent engagement of the duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins, granddaughter of Mr. Davis, Mrs. Richardson submitted her proofs to the Herald's college here, the authorities of which rigorously examined her documents.

The proofs passed as absolutely impeccable and the fact now is recorded in the archives of the Herald's college, of which the proofs now form part of the official records.

A certificate of the facts was granted to Mrs. Richardson, who, by the way, is public record commissioner for the state of Maryland. Neither Mr. Davis, nor Senator Elkins, nor any member of their families were cognizant of these facts, consequently they did not know that the blood of Italy's former kings flowed in their veins.

GOT TO

Have Sharp Brains
Nowadays
or Drop Back

Read Below.

The man of today, no matter what his calling, needs a sharp brain, and to get this he needs food that not only gives muscle and strength but brain and nerve power as well.

A carpenter and builder of Marquette, who is energetic and wants to advance in his business read an article about food in a religious paper and in speaking of his experience he said:

"Up to three years ago I had not been able to study or use my thinking powers to any extent. There was something lacking and I know now that it was due to the fact that my food was not rebuilding my brain.

"About this time I began the use of Grape-Nuts food, and the result has been that now I can think and plan with some success. It has not only rebuilt my brain until it is stronger and surer and more active, but my muscles are also harder and more firm, where they used to be loose and soft, and my stomach is now in perfect condition.

"I can endure more than twice the amount of fatigue and my rest at night always completely restores me. In other words, I am enjoying life and I attribute it to the fact that I have found a perfect food." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field Leave for Visit in England.

OTHERS QUIT LAKE FOREST.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore Go to Seacoast Resorts in East.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field left Lake Forest yesterday for New York, expecting to sail on Saturday for a month or six weeks abroad. Mr. Field goes annually to England to visit his father, Joseph Field, brother of the late Marshall Field. Mr. Field has lived in Manchester for many years, coming to America occasionally to visit his relatives and friends.

Other Lake Forest people who have gone east within the week are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore, who will spend sometime with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore in Massachusetts and visit some of the seacoast resorts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson and Miss Mary M. Ryerson are visiting John Hays Hammond in Gloucester and will go on to New Haven for a short stay before returning home. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Elting of Winnetka expect to leave today for a three weeks' stay at the Huron Mountain club in Michigan.

Dr. and Mrs. William N. Senn of 149 Lincoln Park boulevard have left for a two months' trip abroad, during which they expect to attend the international medical congress in Budapest.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Helen G. McJunkin and Frank William Harvey Jr. The wedding will take place in Corpus Christi church, Forty-ninth street and Grand boulevard, at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, Aug. 26, and will be followed by a small reception to the immediate relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McJunkin, 5025 Michigan avenue.

Miss McJunkin will be attended by Miss Irene Flavin as maid of honor and by Miss Elma Hogin and Miss Florence Mayer as bridemaids, the bride and her maids having been close friends from childhood. Mr. Harvey will have for his best man John Bowman and the ushers will be Leon and Gerald Swiney, cousins of the bridegroom.

The Rev. John Henry Hopkins and Mrs. Hopkins, 348 Ashland boulevard, left Chicago on Wednesday for their bungalow on Lake Champlain, Grand Isle, Vt., to be absent until the latter part of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Holland, who have been residents of Chicago for the last thirty years, are at the Palmer house prior to leaving on Sunday for Los Angeles, Cal., to make their future home. They will visit Yellowstone Park and the Seattle exposition.

The engagement of R. Eddy Mathews, University of Chicago, '07, to Miss Zada Corrinne Van Alstyn of Stamford, Conn., was announced in the afternoon. Mr. Mathews was managing editor of the Daily Maroon, a member of the track team, and treasurer of the senior class. He is engaged in the advertising business in Chicago. His home is in Marquette, Mich. The engagement comes after years of college courtship and correspondence. The wedding will take place next year, when the couple probably will take up their residence in Chicago.

Games Today.

Boston at Chicago. New York at Cincinnati.
Brooklyn at Pittsburg. Phil'delphia at St. Louis.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Another large and cheerful chunk was bitten out of the hiatus which separates the Cubs from their pacemakers yesterday when the Cubs appropriated both sections of a well contested double header with the beaneating Doves while Pittsburg was experiencing another fall. The first game was won 2 to 1 by J. Evers' steal home, which may be made the subject of investigation by the national commission. The second game was ours by the more comfortable margin of 4 to 0.

Mordecai Brown had his whitewash brushes with him, but a combination of scratches spoiled the color scheme and tipped over the paint bucket in the first inning. That was the only round in which a Dove was allowed to light on second base while Brownie pitched. The Cubs found it difficult to hit Richie, securing only five safeties off him, and these never would have won the game but for Evers' daring bit of head work in the first inning and an error by Shean in the fourth.

Trojan Evers Steals Home.

Evers was on third with two out and Chance up in that first. John made a couple or three large bluffs about sneaking home on Richie's long winded windup, stopping and retreating each time. After the second strike was called on the P. L. the Trojan made another start for home and the enemy thought it was only another bluff. That's what John thought they'd think, so he kept going at top speed. Richie at first ignored him, and finished winding up before he delivered the ball, then, too late, pitched hurriedly low and wide. Evers slid inside the diamond and managed to scrape the home plate with the tips of his toes only, while Smith missed him entirely in a frantic effort to touch him. Klem called John safe and overruled Smith's protest by pointing to the marks of John's spikes.

When Evers came to bat to start that career around the bases he stopped a moment at Klem's side and slipped the umpire something which turned out to be a brand new whisk broom, designed undoubtedly to replace the one the Trojan pinched in St. Louis recently. Klem accepted the peace token and, after examining it cautiously to see if it was loaded, tossed it alongside his own broom as disdainfully as he spurned the mysterious stranger who attempted to bribe him in the notorious Polo grounds episode.

Like Dr. What's His Name.

To Klem a whiskbroom may look as big as 2,500 cold simoleons and he may report the matter to the league, charging John with already having conceived his plot to steal home and having attempted to influence his decision in advance by the whiskbroom bribe. In that event the league must hold an extraordinary session and pass the case up to the national commission for decision, with the possible result that Evers may be barred from all major league parks, just like Dr. What's His Name.

It was not necessary to risk stealing home in the second affair, for Pfiester, the oil king, had recovered from his recent illness and shut the Doves out without a run and with only four singles. Pfiester's opponent was Brown, but not the same Brown that pitched the first game. This one answers to the name of Buster and was easier to swat than he of the tribe of Mordecai. The Cubs touched him for ten and would have made more than four runs but for the presence of one Beck in the earlier rounds of the game. His swell throwing killed off Jimmy Archer at the plate twice, when Tom Needham sent him to what proved certain death and on another occasion Beck held a Cub on third through fear of that arm of his.

Kane banished Beck in the sixth inning for kicking on a third strike, but the Cubs did not have any more chances to get thrown out at the plate.

Opener Interesting Affair.

Boston made the first game interesting by scoring a run at the takeoff. Thomas rapped to Tinker, who fumbled. A wild pitch let Roy to second. Becker sent a whistler safely to center, but Hofman held Thomas on third. Coffey struck out. Beaumont hit a soft bounder to Evers, who fumbled it just long enough to miss getting Thomas at the pan, but recovered in time to toss out Beau. Shean grounded to Tinker. That scratch tally was all that was coming to Boston all day. The Doves made four more safeties off Brown, and one other man reached first on a bobble by Evers, but not one of the five saw second alive. Three of them tried to steal, but Archer threw the three of them out with deadly precision. Not one of the decisions was even close. Not a pass did Brown issue, and seven Doves flopped out on strikes.

Evers tied up the score in the Cub first. He started with a single after making his presentation speech to Klem. Sheckard sacrificed him to second, and Schulte's roller to Siner let him to third. He stole home, as already related, and Chance flied out on the next ball pitched.

Schulte scored the winning run in the fourth. Schlitz cut loose a rifle ball liner straight out over Beaumont's head and made three bases on it easily. There was nobody out, and the run looked a cinch. But Chance popped a little foul to Smith and Steinfeldt popped a fly to Siner. It looked different. Hofman bounded an easy one toward second, and it looked all over, but Shean was too sure of it, and fumbled badly. Dada was safe and Schlitz scored. Tinker flied to deep center.

Only One More Opportunity.

Chance's men had only one other opportunity to score off Richie. That was in the fifth, when Archer led with a stiff single to right and Siner fielded Brown's bunt to second so late that both men were safe. Evers tried to sacrifice, but hit a low fly to Stem, who had a double play in his grasp, but dropped the ball, yet finished with a double play. Stem recovered the leather in time to step on first, retiring Evers, then threw to third, getting Archer, who naturally was all tangled up by the series of accidents. Brown reached second safely, but Sheckard was third out. Score:

No Worries for Pfiester.

Pfiester had no worries in the second game after the second inning. Thomas touched him for a single at the start and was sacrificed to second by Becker. Coffey grounded and Beck popped. In the second round a fumble by Evers gave Stem leave to see first base but he was doubled up immediately on a sensational circus catch by Hofman which robbed Siner of an extra base hit. Artie tore across toward right field and Schulte started for center on the swat. Schlitz slipped and fell, but Hofman kept going and by a daring plunge reached the ball and held it. Stem was on third base before he knew of the miracle and made no effort to get back to first before Artie chucked the ball there. Only three more hits were made off Jack, and one of those was a scratch bunt, on which Pfiester and Howard got their wires crossed. Two other Doves were passed to Kinney station, but nary a one of them passed second base.

The Cubs won in their second. Howard acted as rally leader in place of Chance with a single. Steinfeldt bunted safely and Hofman sacrificed both runners ahead a notch. Tinker flied to short center and Howard stuck to third, knowing Beck could throw a bit. Graham and Brown consulted and agreed to pass Archer and get Pfiester for the third victim. But Brown had such poor control apparently he could not keep the ball away from the plate. He put one over without a thing on it and Archer soaked it merrily to center so hard that Beck didn't stop it. Howard and Steiny registered and Archer ought to have been stopped on third, but Needham sent him the full route, and Beck's heave, relayed by Coffey, stopped the run way short of the plate.

Schulte opened the fourth with a single and was wild pitched to second. Howard flied and Schulte stole third, scoring on Steinfeldt's out by way of Coffey. Tinker was the rallying point for the fourth run. He opened the Cub fifth with a single. Brown tried to put them over for Archer this time but couldn't and Jimmy walked. Pfiester made two comedy attempts to bunt and on the next ball pitched Tinker and Archer started at top speed. Jack made another attempt to bunt but missed the ball. So did Graham, but Jack was struck out just the same and the runners were doubly safe on third and second. Evers singled into center, scoring Tinker, but when Archer tried to follow him that scamp Beck, without stopping to recover, threw him out easily. Sheckard whiffed. The Cubs made a hit in each of the remaining innings but failed to count again. Score:

NOTES OF THE CUBS.

Seven straight.

Boston once more today.

The gap is only two and a half games wide now.

Forty-seven more victories will clinch the fourth straight rag.

Floyd Kroh probably will try to make it a cleanup today.

Archer found a beam in his eye in the eighth of the first game and Dr. Klem established an emergency clinic at the plate. He had to call in Richie for consultation before the optical obstruction was removed.

Schulte celebrated his return to the limelight by accumulating two singles, a double, and a triple during the day. That was four hits in seven chances, and Brown stabbed a hit off Schlitz in the second game at that.

Tinker made a catlike stop of a bounder from Graham in the fifth of the second game. The ball tried to hop over his head just as it reached him, but Joe was too quick for it and plucked it with one hand.

Kane missed getting hit by one of Archer's cannon shots to second by a narrow margin in the sixth of the first game when Becker tried to steal. The ump just did duck low enough, and Evers took the ball over Kane's shoulder for the out.

Hofman made another swell catch of Buster Brown's Texas league fly in the fifth of the second game, racing in close behind second for the ball. But it was a mild mannered play compared to his robbery of Siner in the second round of the same game.

Archer made a courageous catch of Smith's foul fly in the second of the first game. It came down only a few feet from the grand stand, but Jimmy shoved his mitt under it, juggled it with one hand, and tried to push the stand back with the other. He held the ball.

Some joker with Pittsburg affinities tried to buffalo the Cubs while they were at bat in the second of the second game by flashing reflected sunlight into the batsman's eyes from a window in the flat building back of the left center bleachers. Red Gallagher spotted the scheme, rushed over and put a copper on the scent, with a resulting frustration of the mirror play.

When Evers bunted a fly to Stem, with Cubs on first and second, in the fifth of the second game, producing that mixed up double play, a lot of people thought Evers was out under the infield fly rule and that Brown forced Archer off second, when both runners ought to have held their bases. That kind of a fly is not an infield fly in the meaning of the rules, and when Stem muffed it both runners were forced. When he recovered and stepped on the base they no longer were forced, but Brown had to go to second because he couldn't get back to first with the ball in Stem's hands, so there was nothing for Archer to do but try to make third to save Brownie's life.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 5.—Pittsburg again was unable to get hits from the Brooklyn pitcher and lost by a score of 4 to 1. Bell held the locals at all times, being especially strong with men on bases. Pittsburg used three pitchers, but could not stop the visitors' batting. Score:

DANIEL WALSH PASSES AWAY.

Man Known by Many Baseball Magnates and Fans Dies in Memphis on Way to New Mexico.

Daniel J. Walsh, proprietor of the Fisher building buffet, which for many years has been headquarters for baseball magnates and fans and for local nimrods, died yesterday in Memphis while on his way to New Mexico, where he had been fighting tuberculosis since early last winter. A few weeks ago he returned from the south and went to Mercer, Wis., and was thought to be in a fair way to recover until within a few days. The body will be brought to Chicago today, and the funeral, which will be conducted by the Elks, will be held tomorrow.

HAL CHASE SPRAINS ANKLE.

Highlander First Baseman Ordered Out of Game After Examination of Injury by Doctor.

New York, Aug. 5.—Hal Chase, first baseman of the New York Americans, will be out of the game for two weeks, it is feared, on account of a sprained ankle. Chase was hurt in Tuesday's game, but, believing he had only been lightly spiked, continued to play. Yesterday his ankle continued to bother him, and today he had it examined by physicians, who found it was sprained badly enough to demand his retirement.

Games Today.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Jim Scott of Wichita, pitching a game much like that of Tuesday, in which he was beaten by the weird performance of his supporting company, won the second game of a double header from the Athletics, 1 to 0, and thus prevented Connie Mack's team from getting its full measure of revenge for what was done to it in Chicago. The first contest was lost by the Sox, 3 to 0.

It was lost because of Frank Smith's lack of control, the ineffectiveness resulting therefrom, and the Sox's failure to take advantage of Cy Morgan's apparent shakiness. In at least three different innings Cy wanted to explode, but the Sox wouldn't let him. They failed to bunt when they should have bunted, failed to hit when they should have hit, and failed to wait when waiting was the one best bet.

Smithie Gets Self in Hole.

The Athletics didn't deserve the run they got in the first inning, but the other two were gathered on clean hitting, one long triple figuring in each of them. The triples would not have come to pass if Smith had not been in a hole to the batsmen at the time.

His habit for the afternoon was to pitch two balls before he pitched a strike and the consequence was he had to groove them lots of times; a dangerous practice when these Athletics are your opponents. Behind Morgan, the Philadelphians fielded brilliantly, Collins and Barry pulling off some great stuff.

Young Collins didn't have to wear any of the waterproof garb he had purchased, because Timothy Hurst was not present with us. It is understood he has been suspended pending an investigation of his alleged attempt to flood the park and drown Connie's second baseman.

Scott's exhibition was easily the feature of the afternoon. The Athletics hit him safely twice, as on Tuesday. Both hits were clean this time, but they came far apart, and third base was attained only twice by the men of Mack. Seven of them died on strikes.

Scotty's control was not as good as in his last workout, three bases on balls and one hit batsman marring his record. However, his wildness was not as costly as Smith's, because he was so good when he was good.

Doc White Is Injured.

Doc White, playing in center field in place of Parent, who had been called to the infield on account of Bill Purtell's illness, shared Scott's honors. His three bagger in the fourth inning was followed by Tannehill's safe one, and resulted in the only tally of the game. Doc hit safely his other two times up, but had to retire in the sixth because he twisted his leg in sliding to third base. Before his retirement he robbed Chief Bender of a triple with a circus catch of the ball hit far over his head.

His successor, Freddie Payne, had only one chance, and this was a hard one. It was a long fly from Collins' bat, and Freddie nailed it after a desperate chase. It was the last put out of the game, and if the ball had gone safe the youthful prodigy might have made the circuit and tied up the score. Dave Altizer also shone with another robbery, in which Bender was the victim.

Silk O'Loughlin and Smithie himself gave the Athletics a run in the first inning of the first game. Silk missed a third strike on Heine Heitmuller and allowed him to walk. Ganley sacrificed and Collins hit a slow one down the first base line. Smith had time to make a decent throw, but he didn't. The ball sailed over Isbell's head, and Heitmuller was across the plate ahead of Issy's peg.

Atz in the Limelight.

Smith got himself in a hole to Barry when one was down in the second. Jack slammed one to left center for three bases. Livingstone struck out and Jakey Atz pulled the Pittsburger out of a hole by making a great stop and throw of Morgan's fast bounder. The Sox had the bases filled in their third, but it was after two were out, and Doc White's fly to Ganley saved Mr. Morgan from trouble.

Smith's lack of real control handed the Athletics their second run in the fourth. Again Barry profited and stung a single to left. Livingstone hit with two balls and no strikes, and it was a triple between White and Dougherty, Barry scoring easily.

The Sox made a mess of their opportunity to get Morgan in the fifth. Smith beat out a roller down the third base line and Altizer was hit by a pitched ball. Parent, instead of sacrificing, forced Smith at third, and then Isbell hit into a double play.

The Athletics made it three in their half. Heitmuller got his third triple off Smithie, and Ganley singled him home. Robert was doubled trying to reach third on Collins' sacrifice bunt.

The Sox had a chance in the eighth, which Altizer opened with a double to right, but the next three were easy. Smith gave way to Harry Sutor in Philadelphia's half, and the side was retired in order. The same happened to the Sox in their ninth. Score:

Two base hit—Altizer. Three base hits—Barry, Livingstone, Heitmuller. Double plays—Livingstone-Barry; Tannehill-Isbell-Parent; Collins-Barry-Davis [2]. Hits—Off Smith, 8 in seven innings. Hit by pitcher—Parent, Altizer. Time—1:40. Umpire—O'Loughlin.

Eddie Collins, the eighth wonder of the world, imitated Ty Cobb in the opening round of No. 2 and ran wild until he was run to death. He singled with two out and stole second and third. Baker walked and started to steal. Owens threw the ball right back to Scott and Jim's quick return peg caught Eddie at the plate.

The Sox immediately began passing up opportunities once more. Dougherty opened the second with a safe one to center and White shot a single past Baker, who was playing in for a bunt. Tannehill sacrificed, but Atz's fly to Murphy was too short to help any, and Owens popped to Baker.

The Athletics had a good chance in the third, but sloughed it off. Parent's bad throw saved Livingstone and Bender walked. Heitmuller's hot one was grabbed by Atz and Bender was forced at second. Heine was told to pull off a double steal and he tried it, but Owens pegged all the way down and caught him while Livingstone stood still at third base. Ganley's grounder to Parent ended it.

The Sox finally managed to break into the run column in the fourth. White tripled over Heitmuller's head and Tannehill sent him in with a clean single to right. Lee had to stay right there on first base and watch the next three die.

The sixth was marked by the crippling of G. Harris White after his great catch had robbed Bender of a hit and he had made his own third safe one. He singled to left and Tannehill sacrificed. Atz hit to Barry and White was thrown out at third, twisting his leg in the process. Payne supplanted him in center field.

A single, an out and passed ball put Pat Dougherty on third base in the eighth, but two were gone when he got there and Tannehill fanned. Only one Philadelphian got on in the last five rounds. He was Baker in the seventh, whom Scott hit with a pitched ball. He was nipped trying to steal. Score:

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—The Sox left for Boston tonight.

Burns probably will pitch the opening game of the Boston series.

Bill Purtell's head bothered him so that he was given permission to lay off.

Smith had won eight straight previous to today. The defeat put a kink in his record.

Before the game started a scribe asked Silk O'Loughlin if he was alone. "Very much," replied the umpire.

Doc White was half carried off the field by Trainer Buckner after he was hurt. The slender youth limped painfully.

Harry Sutor had a chance to warm up in the last inning of the first game. He looked good and the Athletics perished in order.

Livingstone was caught napping off second base by Owens in the third inning of the second game, but O'Loughlin was behind the plate at the time and couldn't see the play.

Davey Altizer ran right up against the fence to pull down Baker's fly in the seventh inning of the first battle. Collins was on first at the time, so the catch prevented a run.

Pat Dougherty almost got away with a neat play in the fifth round of number two. With Isbell on third and two out, Pat bunted and caught Baker flat footed. However, Bender came in and picked up the ball in time to tag Issy on the line. He didn't have a chance to throw out Dougherty.

CUBANS DEFEAT LELANDS

Colored Men Lose Opener, 6 to 3, but Capture the Second Game from Gunthers, 4 to 0.

Provident hospital funds received a big addition yesterday when three of the leading semi-professional baseball clubs played a double header for the benefit of that institution at the American league grounds. It was announced after the games that over $2,500 had been realized for the institution, 6,000 people witnessing the two contests.

Mendez won the game for the Cuban Stars against the Leland Giants, 6 to 3. The Gunthers lost, 4 to 0, in the second battle, the Lelands putting the game on ice in the fifth inning when they scored three runs off Pete Hill's two bagger with two men gone.

The afternoon was filled by sensational fielding and hitting, Walter Ball making a brilliant catch of Brosius' slam that was ticketed for three bases, while Al Schall fielded in fine style. Pete Hill got four safe hits off Brosius. Magrinat's hitting and clever base running by Santa Cruz were the features of the Cuban game. Scores:

Maroons, 8; Chicago Printers, 3.

Though outhit, the University of Chicago summer nine defeated a team from the Chicago Printers' league yesterday on Marshall field by the score of 8 to 3, errors by the visitors being the deciding factor. The printers started the game with a run, but during the next two innings the Maroons piled up seven, thereby making the victory safe for them. Score:

Frank Gotch wired from Humboldt, Ia., he would come and wrestle anybody the promoters of the Hogan testimonial could get to face him on Aug. 20, when the big event planned for the veteran referee will be held at the American league ball park. Col. Henry Visser, the big Boer, who is now down in Indiana, will probably be asked to exchange grips with Gotch and Malachy may referee the bout if he is in the city. Jimmy Callahan turned over the first check received for Hogan to Treasurer Fred W. Blocki yesterday, Mike Donlin, the famous baseball player, sending on a check from the east.

Lots of young men don't like to ask for "time off" for tailors' fittings.
There's where we come in—one time, and only a short time, is all we ask.
But more important even than that is where the young man comes in—
He gets the style, fit, and finish of the smartest tailors.
And just now gets it at less than the price of the cheapest custom tailor.

LEW ZENGLE WINS ALGONQUIN PRIZE

Pottstown, Pa., Driver, in a Chadwick, Shatters Records to Gain Cup.

MAKES FAST TIME, :50 3-5.

Seventeen Hill Events Decided and Only Minor Accident Mars Day of Sport.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Algonquin, Ill., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Lew Zengle of Pottstown, Pa., will have his name engraved on the Algonquin cup beneath that of Frank W. Leland as a result of his daring and skill today in the fourth annual hill climb of the Chicago Motor club, and which resulted in a general shattering of the old records for the two hills.

The Algonquin cup is offered for the fastest total time on the two hills, and was put up by the villagers themselves. It is a challenge trophy, and today Zengle, driving the Chadwick six cylinder car, landed it for a year by climbing Perry hill from a standing start in :22 3-5 and Phillips hill from a flying start in :28, giving him a total of :50 3-5. On Perry hill the old record was :24 1-5 and on Phillips :29 2-5.

But Zengle and the Chadwick were not the only winners in this, the most successful of the four climbs promoted by the Chicago organization. In all there were seventeen events decided, and in each the time was better than in the corresponding class a year ago. The Stoddard-Dayton won three events, the Knox and Thomas two each, while in the remaining ones the honors were divided among the Oakland, Maxwell, Buick, Velie, Mason, Babcock electric, and Holsman.

Schetnitz Breaks Steering Gear.

The day was remarkably free from accidents, and only once was there any mishap. That came in the free for all, the last event on the card, when David Schetnitz, an amateur driving a Chalmers Detroit, broke his steering gear as he neared the tape on Phillips hill. If it had not been for the clever manner in which the amateur handled his car it probably would have run amuck in the crowd, but Schetnitz brought it to a standstill right at the tape.

The opening event of the card only had two entries, and therefore it was not until the third climb that the speed began to pick up, and the spectators followed the clocking with interest. Little Howard Bauer of Buffalo, one of the star pilots, won his spurs by taking division 4 of class A in the Oakland, thus maintaining his record of having won his class in every climb in which he has participated this year save the first one. Bauer had a good field to beat and did it cleverly.

Denison Is Busy Man.

Denison in the Knox was the busiest man on the hills. There were five Knox entries, and he had to drive every one of them. To add to his labor there were at least three times when he had to make a second climb because of trouble experienced at the starting line. Still Denison was able to give a good account of his labors, winning twice, and in the big free for all getting a good third.

Miller and Englebeck, who guided the two Stoddard-Daytons that were entered, won more firsts than any other make of car, Miller taking two of them and his partner a third.

Arthur W. Greiner, the amateur, nearly won the Algonquin cup. For a few minutes he led for it, and he almost could see it on his mantelpiece. Then Zengle made his climb and the cup slipped from the grasp of the amateur. Still he had the satisfaction of running second in the free for all, and in addition winning the amateur championship for the second time. Greiner drove a Thomas six. Four other amateurs competed, the championship being run in connection with other events.

Among the other records to go on the hill was that for electrics established two years ago by the Woods. The Perry hill mark stood at :53 and the Phillips one at 1:32. Yesterday however, both the Babcock and the Columbus completely eclipsed these marks, the Babcock getting the class, its time for Perry hill being :34 1-5 and for Phillips :47. The Columbus made Perry in :36 2-5 and Phillips in :59 1-5, both cars beating the time of several speedy gasoline rigs.

Results in class A2, the division in which the winners are decided by means of the club formula, which makes it a handicap, were not announced last night, the technical committee holding them up while it is investigating one of the cars.

Record Crowd on Hand.

The largest crowd that ever attended a climb at Algonquin was present. This was particularly noticeable at the top of Perry hill in the morning, when the owner of the big lot on the north side of the road reaped a harvest. He raised his prices from "two bits" to $1, but even this did not keep out the cars, and there must have been fully 500 machines parked in the lot. This was a private venture. Many complained of the parking fee, which they considered exorbitant, but it was noticed that some of the veterans who had had experiences with the Indiana farmers during the Cobe cup races were satisfied to let well enough alone.

But the Perry hill farmer was not the only one to profit by the hill climb. Nearly every one of the residents of Algonquin was called upon to assist in entertaining visitors, and while most of them did so from a sense of loyalty to the village, still some of the outside wealth was left in the little town.

Complaint was received here tonight from some of those who drove back to Chicago, it being reported that some unknown persons placed obstructions on the roads, evidently with the idea of wrecking some of the cars. Between Bloomingdale and Addison one car came across a barrel and a huge log laid across the highway, and between Addison and the Latrobe steel mills at Melrose Park the limb of a small tree was found, with a big stick of wood a few feet farther on.

Lew Zengle Starting Victorious Dash Up Perry Hill With Chadwick "Six"

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

PROBABLY THE LATTER.

I cannot touch my starboard ear with my port fin today;
I cannot swing my good right mitt and hit a bale of hay;
I cannot blink my offside lamp; I cannot find my house.
Willst kindly put me wise: Is it plain bugs or just a souse.
THE TAXI KID.

Miguel, Denver: The words "boob" and "stunt" are crabbed in these parts.

Mr. Cantillon appears to have put over one of those David Harum jests on Mr. Comiskey when he staked the master of the White Sox to Pitcher Bill Burns. Bill has a lot of speed and faultless action when extended, but Trainer Sullivan can't get a pair of blinkers, a gag snaffle, and a burr that will curb his propensity to act badly.

And, by the way, Nick Altrock licked as many of the White Sox as Burns licked of the Washingtons since the switch was made.

Possibly if some magistrate would sentence Jack Johnson to a stretch in an ice house in his bare feet, or in a hen coop with his hands tied behind his back, the putative champion might be cured of that part of his scheme of publicity which consists of a mania for speeding. Fining him is simply water on his wheel. What's a mere $20 to an affluent colored gent like Johnson?

We wouldn't suggest that Umpire Tim Hurst be deprived of his employment, but can't Ban Johnson find something more appropriate for him to do?

The latest bulletin from the sick room is that Honus Wagner is getting along fairly well, and promises are that he'll be out in a few days. There is hope, however, that dangerous complications will set in.

We are strongly for the effort of the New York American league management to curb the natural impulse to wager on baseball games, but, at the same time, it must be observed that if there were not some players there would be no dealers.

We believe with Dr. Fletcher that the best way to curb a pernicious practice is to throw the hooks into the immediate occasion. The doc doesn't put it that way, but he is not Joseph to the modern method of expression. Doc Fletcher's thoughts are frightfully entertaining when they are put over into understandable English.

It is hoped you are sufficiently absorbed in the American association race. No baseball fan really can be happy without taking on some of that line of aberration.

It must irk Johnny Kling much when he notices in the Kansas City paper that the Cubs are getting along nobly without his distinguished assistance. If Mr. Kling consults his Talmud he will notice that we have worried along without Moses for about 6,000 years.

Speaking about holdouts, what did Comiskey get for falling for Walsh's terms?

A report comes from Cincinnati that Louis Cella has been asked to retire from the Latonia Jockey club. At his own price, of course.

We are sorry that Barney Mullaney cannot see his way clear to accept the superintendency of police. It would be a positive pleasure to be pinched by Barney.

A. B. Spreckels, who was instrumental in putting the comether on California racing, is sending some forty thoroughbred yearlings to the New York market. He expects horse owners to buy them.

Now, of course, we shall be entertained with bids from hitherto uncharted warts on the desert for the alleged fight between Jeffries and Johnson.

RACE RESULTS AT SARATOGA.

TWO RACES AT OCONOMOWOC IN NORTHWESTERN REGATTA.

Busy Bee and Adios Take Honors in Respective Classes—Lack of Wind Prevents Event for Class A Boats.

Oconomowoc, Wis., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—Close and exciting races in classes B and D with no race in class A was the offering of the second day of the northwestern regatta.

In the morning, Busy Bee won its race and is tied with Invader for points. Adios won in class D, but Carol R., which won yesterday, finished second, still retaining a good lead in points.

The wind died completely at noon and as none was blowing at 4 o'clock the race in class A was postponed to 10 o'clock on Saturday. Tonight the visiting yachtsmen are guests of the Oconomowoc Lake club at a vaudeville performance. Summaries:

Declares He Was Refused Room After Registering at Hostelry.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—Battling Nelson entered suit for $10,000 in the United States Circuit court against George C. Boldt and Lawrence McCormick of the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, alleging that last Tuesday he presented himself at the hotel desk as an applicant for a room, and after being allowed to register was told that "all the rooms were either occupied or actually engaged."

This action Nelson construes in his bill of complaint as a slander against his standing in the world, for he alleges that other hotels might be influenced by the same motives as the Bellevue-Stratford, and his travel would be considerably hampered thereby.

He also states that, in addition to the management of his personal business affairs, he "holds various offices of trust and confidence, both public and private, is an athlete by profession, giving exhibitions in contests of skill and science and gaining large sums of money by reason of the support, confidence, and good opinion of the general public."

JEFFRIES SAILS FOR EUROPE.

Californian Will Try Baths at Carlsbad, While Manager Will Remain to Open Fight Bids.

New York, Aug. 5.—James J. Jeffries, pugilist, smiled a broad farewell to a crowd of well wishers who gathered on the North German Lloyd line pier in Hoboken today and sailed away for a six weeks' stay in Europe.

MATCH FOR JOHNNY COULON.

Father Accepts Offer from New York Club to Meet Winner of Brannigan-Kendrick Bout.

E. E. Coulon has received an offer from Jimmy Johnson, matchmaker of the Fairmont club of New York, for his son Johnny to meet the winner of the Brannigan-Kendrick fight. Coulon pere will accept if the date is made for September. Johnny is conditioning at Bluff Lake and taking on weight. He will fight Monte Attel in October.

MORE WORK AHEAD FOR "POM."

Judge Pomeroy Accepts Premier Position in Judges' Stand for Salt Lake City Race Meeting.

Judge P. P. Pomeroy, who at the recent Salt Lake race meeting established a world's record over a circular track for ruling off and suspending turf offenders and nuisances, appears to have made a decided hit with the Utah public by his strenuous methods, for he has just accepted a position as presiding judge and racing secretary for a thirty day meeting to begin Sept. 18. It was thought the season there was over, but old Buena Vista track, given up to weeds for some years, will be put in shape and temporary stands erected. If the experiment proves as great a success as the last meeting, Salt Lake City will be on the racing map for ninety days next season, sixty days in the spring and thirty in the fall.

ED GEERS IS HURT; HORSE RUNS AWAY

Veteran Driver Injured When Annabelle Lee Jumps Through Fence.

FAVORITES BOWLED OVER

Spanish Queen and Esther Bells Spoil Public Pick at Kalamazoo Track.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 5.—[Special.]—An accident which probably will keep Ed Geers out of the sulky for the next fortnight and which at one time looked as if it might result even more seriously occurred during the racing of the $5,000 purse for 2:14 pacers today.

Of the seven starters the Geers stable furnished two, Annabelle Lee and Geraldine, the first driven by Geers. The favorite in the race was Star Patchen, and when the word for the first heat was given he at once moved to the front. As the horses swung into the backstretch Geers worked Annabelle Lee into second place and was riding easy a length or so back of Snow. Just as the five-eighths pole was reached the big black mare made a break, and Geers followed the outside course. At the point where the break occurred there is a gap in the fence, and the crowd gave a gasp of horror as Annabelle Lee suddenly bolted over the embankment at that point.

Horse and Driver Disappear.

Horse and driver disappeared. In an instant the center field and the track were black with people running to the scene of the trouble. They were followed by several automobiles owned by physicians. When the crowd reached Geers they found him sitting on the embankment, the ruins of the sulky not far away, and Annabelle Lee standing a couple of blocks up the street.

That Geers was suffering intense pain was evident and an instant later he fainted. Placed in an automobile and taken to his stable, he recovered consciousness. The doctors found that, aside from a sprained ankle, Geers had some painful bruises, but the ankle is in such a condition that Geers will not be able to drive for awhile.

While all this was going on Star Patchen had won the heat, being in the lead all the way, with The Bosun second and Geraldine third, and the others straggling along.

The 2:07 trot, in which the starters were Sterling McKinney, Beatrice Bellini, Spanish Queen, and Carlokin, was expected to furnish some fast miles, and on account of his known speed McKinney was made favorite at $25 to $10, his backers betting he would not break. But he did the high leap in each heat, making the first ascension in the opening mile before the first turn was reached. Carlokin followed suit, and Spanish Queen at the pole was left with a good lead, which she improved by trotting to the half at top speed with Beatrice Bellini in hopeless chase.

Coming home the clip was lessened, but at the end the Denver mare was so far ahead that when Sterling McKinney made a second break in the home stretch Geers was obliged to let him run out to beat the distance flag.

Murphy Takes Geers' Place.

Before the second heat was called Geers had been hurt and Murphy was behind the stallion. Murphy took Sterling McKinney away slowly, giving Spanish Queen a long lead with Beatrice Bellini and Carlokin close to her. Murphy made no effort to close the gap of six lengths that separated him from the lead until more than half the mile had been covered. Then he began moving up, and at the three-quarters was within striking distance. At the short distance he had Spanish Queen to a hard drive and apparently beaten, but McKinney jumped, and the race was over, the Queen winning in 2:07½, Sterling McKinney losing second place to Beatrice Bellini in the last fifty yards.

Another top-heavy favorite to be tipped over was Dr. Jack from the Murphy string. He sold $100 to $45, although at Detroit he had been beaten in common time after winning a heat. Today the nag that trimmed him was Esther Bells. She was beaten a nose only at the end of the first mile in 2:11½, and then came back three times gamely in 2:11¼, 2:12¼, 2:16½. Summaries:

GOLF TOURNEY NARROWS DOWN

Invitation Meet at the Skokie Club Reaches the Semi-Final Stage.

AMES AND HOPKINS IN.

Winner and Runner-Up of Last Year Survive in First Flight.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Two closely fought and two one sided matches in the second round of the main flight of the Skokie invitation tournament yesterday left two home players and one each from Glen View and La Grange to battle in the semi-finals today.

K. L. Ames of Glen View, the winner last year, will meet Douglas Smith of Skokie, who won the Oaks cup a year ago, and H. C. Simons of La Grange will play L. J. Hopkins of the home club, who last year was runner up to Ames. Should Smith and Simons lose the final tomorrow will be a repetition of that of last year.

The golf of yesterday was not quite as fast as that of the previous day, Ames, who defeated C. A. Ridgely, 6 and 5, being the best in the main flight with a 37 going out. He won five of the first eight holes and was four up at the turn. A seven at the eleventh hole marred his in journey, but he looked good for a 78. The cards:

Ames—Out ....4 4 4 4 3 4 4 6 4—37
Ridgely—Out ....4 4 5 4 6 5 5 7 3—43
Ames—In ....5 7 4 3 4—23
Ridgely—In ....6 4 6 4 4—24

Smith Beats Manchester.

As was anticipated the match between Douglas Smith and Percival Manchester, the two Skokie cracks, proved a stubbornly fought affair with a sensational victory for the former, who downed the winner of the low medal score by holing a twenty-two foot putt on the home green, winning the hole 2 to 3 and the match 1 up. Both went out in thirty-nine, each winning three holes.

Each took two holes out of the first eight coming in and were even at the seventeenth green. The cards:

Manchester—Out ..5 4 5 4 4 5 3 6 3—39
Smith—Out ....4 4 5 5 5 4 3 5 4—39
Manchester—In ....5 5 4 4 4 4 6 6 3—41—80
Smith—In ....5 5 5 3 4 5 6 6 2—40—79

H. C. Simons and B. N. Anderson, both scratch men at La Grange, were expected to put up a close battle, but the latter, who is considered the steadier player, after being 1 down at the turn lost four of the next six holes and was beaten 5 to 3. The cards:

Simons—Out ......4 3 4 4 5 6 6 5 3—40
Anderson—Out ....4 4 5 5 5 4 4 5 3—39
Simons—In ....4 5 5 4 4 5 5 5 3—40—80
Anderson—In ....5 5 6 4 4 6 6 6 5—48—87

Hopkins and McDonald.

L. J. Hopkins defeated W. J. McDonald of Midlothian, 2 and 1, after a closely fought game in which they were all square at the turn, McDonald going out in 41 and Hopkins taking one more.

It fell to M. B. Orde of Skokie and E. T. Donohue of Midlothian to furnish the most sensational finish of the year, Orde winning at the twenty-fourth hole. They met in the third flight consolation.

Donohue was 1 up at the seventeenth hole, but Orde won the next, 2 to 4. They halved the first extra hole in five and then had three fours, followed by a half in five. Orde took the deciding hole, 4—5.

E. Sherman of Skokie made the eighteenth hole, 132 yards, in one stroke, and defeated J. W. Jackson of Onwentsia, 1 up in the fifth flight of the consolation event.

IF you were going to buy a horse you'd rather pay $100 than $25; there are both kinds for sale. Provided each was worth the price, the one at $100 would be the cheaper. A real bargain would be in buying the $100 horse for $75.

Just so with clothes; we sell only the high-grade kind; the all-wool, finely tailored kind; the kind we can guarantee to give satisfaction.

Just now we're selling them at under prices; suits, overcoats, raincoats; light and medium weights; fancy weaves, blue serges, black Thibets in suits; fine cheviots, Scotches, coverts in overcoats; mostly Hart Schaffner & Marx goods. Sack and English walking frock suits, one, two, three-button styles; two and three-piece suits; outing suits; many of them silk lined; $22, $25, $30, $35, $40, $45 values at $18.

Great trousers sale

Thousands of pairs of fine trousers, in rich stripes, plaids, plain colors; flannels, worsteds, serges; for business, outing, any wear; all of them Hart Schaffner & Marx qualities; $5, $6, $7, $8, $9, $10 values, $3.90.

Suits for young men

A wonderful sale of young men's suits; the smart models, high colors, stunning patterns we're famous for; $22, $25, $28, $30 values at $15.

ANY man who knows Manhattan shirts knows what a special sale of them means. It's an opportunity which doesn't come often; Manhattans are good enough to buy at regular prices any day. At these prices it's like finding money:

Shirts of $3.50, $3, $2.75 value, $1.90.
Shirts of $2.50 and $2.00 value, $1.40.
Shirts of $1.75 and $1.50 value, $1.15.

Many men like to pick out their Fall clothes early, long before they're ready to wear them; they get the whole stock to choose from and have their choice of the best. We're ready to show you.

SELL FOR $200,000 TO BRYAN LATHROP

Women Dispose of Building Properties from 1209 to 1217 Michigan Avenue.

DEAL ON NORTH CLARK.

Provos Bros. Purchase Stores, Flats, and Hotel from Mrs. Mary A. Dow for $27,000.

Two interesting transactions in Michigan avenue closed yesterday were the purchases by Bryan Lathrop from Miss Martha S. Hill and Mrs. Jane Haven of the properties at 1209 to 1217 for $200,000.

The property at 1211 to 1217 was purchased from Mrs. Martha Hill and others, including Mrs. Margaret Y. Hill, Mrs. Grace Hill Gack of New Orleans, Charles N. Hill, and Mrs. Mary R. Prescott of Rockville, Md., for $160,000. This plot has a frontage of 80 feet and a depth of 131. For convenience, Morris M. Jones has given to the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, a trust deed to the property to secure a purchase money balance of $110,000 for three years with interest at 5 per cent.

Mr. Lathrop purchased from Mrs. Haven the property at 1209 Michigan avenue, 20x131 feet, improved with a two story and basement frame dwelling, for $40,0000. Mr. Jones has given to the Chicago Title and Trust company a trust deed to the property to secure a purchase money balance of $25,000 for five years with interest at 5 per cent.

Mr. Lathrop will build an attractive building to meet the requirements of a desirable tenant. The transaction was negotiated by Thomas A. Hall & Co., Mr. Jones being in immediate charge of the negotiations.

Purchases Stores and Flats.

The store and flat building and land at 140 and 142 North Clark street have been purchased by Provus Bros. from Mrs. Mary A. Dow for $27,000. The land fronts thirty-three feet and has a depth of 100, and is improved with a building containing two stores and three flats, including a hotel in the upper part of the structure. R. M. Bradley, with Cochran & McCluer, represented both parties.

The four story store and flat building at the southeast corner of Jefferson and Maxwell streets has been sold by Mrs. Lena Y. Friedman and others to Bert Schreiber for $38,000. Mr. Schreiber has conveyed in part payment 25x150 feet on the west side of Ashland boulevard, 75 feet north of Taylor street, to Mrs. Friedman and others for $22,000, subject to an incumbrance of $13,000, while Rosa Schreiber has conveyed the store and flat property, 50x75 feet, on the south side of Fourteenth place, 150 feet west of Union street, at $15,000, subject to an incumbrance of $5,500.

Apartments Bring $30,000.

The three story apartment house at 5553 and 5555 Washington avenue has been sold by Belle Sabel to Robert S. Grant, the consideration being $30,000, subject to an incumbrance of $16,000. Mr. Grant gave in part payment the vacant land, 100x125 feet, on Sixty-third street, 140 feet west of Center avenue, and a brick residence at 3034 Groveland avenue, subject to an incumbrance of $4,000. The deal was negotiated by Frank M. Oliver & Co.

The large apartment house property at the northwest corner of Prairie avenue and Fifty-ninth street has been sold by Wilmore Alloway to Edmond McMahon, the consideration not being given out. The land fronts 149 feet on Prairie avenue and 178 feet on Fifty-ninth street. It is improved with a three story apartment house containing about thirty, attractive flats. The property is incumbered for $55,000.

Pawtucket Institution Buys.

The residence property at 41 and 43 East Twenty-fourth street, fronting 42½ feet and having a depth of 83⅓ feet, has been quitclaimed by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Mitchell to the Pawtucket institution of Pawtucket, R. I., for the nominal consideration of $1.

The northeast corner of West Lake and Ada streets has been sold by Frank Grundeis to Michael Freis for $24,000. The land fronts fifty-six feet on Lake street and seventy feet on Ada street.

The factory property on the east side of Milwaukee avenue, between Elston and Center avenues, 24.53, extending back to Elston avenue with a frontage of 25.66 feet, has been sold to David Edenberg to the Modern Ladies' Garment company for $13,000, subject to an incumbrance of $5,000.

Hospital Borrows $80,000.

The Poor Sisters of St. Francis and Seraph of the Perpetual Adoration of Lafayette, Ind., have given to the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, a trust deed to St. Francis hospital and grounds at 365 Ridge avenue, Evanston, to secure a loan of $80,000 for five years with interest at 5 per cent.

Robert T. Brewer, with Eugene A. Bournique & Co., has sold for the estate of John Munn of New York to Peterson & Schreffler, contractors, 425 feet on South Springfield avenue, near Douglas boulevard. Fifteen attractive, modern buildings are to be built at once, to be ready for occupancy this fall, and will be sold through the branch office at 2044 and 2046 West Twelfth street.

The apartment house property at the northwest corner of Fullerton avenue and Catalpa court, 33x110 feet, with 125 feet on the west line, has been sold by Cris Larson to Franz Paul Schmidt for $19,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000.

The five story brick building on North Green street, covering the entire block from Pratt to Superior streets, has been leased to R. J. Kittredge & Co. for ten years from Sept. 1. The lease was negotiated by James W. Belanger of Baird & Warner.

STOCKS YIELD ON SELLING

Heaviest Liquidation Since Advance in Prices Some Time Ago.

INDUSTRIAL LIST STRONG.

Favorable Earnings of Railways and Other Concerns Continue.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—[Special.]—In the final hour of business on the stock exchange today prices yielded before the heaviest selling movement witnessed since the long advance in prices set in several days ago.

Curiously enough, the reaction was timed exactly with the acceptance by the senate of the tariff bill. Possibly the fact that the expected passing of this measure by congress has been one of the factors underlying the strong markets of recent weeks had something to do with the decline in prices, for it is a maxim in Wall street to sell on good news.

What is more likely, however, is that those in charge of the conduct of the market, finding a decrease in outside buying power, determined to withdraw support and to endeavor to renew public interest in securities through the establishment of a lower range of quotations. This, at least, is the usual method pursued in Wall street, and its success in the past has made it a reasonable method to follow in the present case.

Industrials Strong Again.

Before the afternoon reaction put in its appearance the market behaved much as have its predecessors for a fortnight or so. Industrial shares again were strong, although the issues directly affected by buying were less substantial than heretofore, including as they did such stocks as Hocking Coal and Iron and Republic Iron and Steel common.

In the railroad department the movement was heavier, and, with the exception of a sharp rise in Reading to a new high record, always an unfavorable omen in a market sense, and similar advances by Great Western common, which rose over 400 per cent from Wednesday's closing prices, and Missouri Pacific, there were few gains to be found. The rise in Chicago Great Western was interesting for the reason that it reflected something like a change of sentiment on the part of the financial district toward the reorganization plan put into effect on Tuesday.

An explanation of the course of Missouri Pacific, the fact that the road's stockholders meet tomorrow to take the preliminary steps necessary to the comprehensive financing now planned for the property, is adequate explanation. Under this plan, the details of which are expected to be announced any day now, the requirements of the road for a long time to come are provided for and the way cleared for it to benefit to the full from the enlarged business which should come to it upon the completion of the Western Pacific.

Earnings Continue Good.

Other items of interest to the financial markets included the submission of additional railroad earning statements of a highly favorable character and the announcement that the Westinghouse Electric company had just concluded the best month experienced by it in over two years, orders having amounted to above $3,000,000.

Following sustained strength of the money market for a number of days some ease in rates occurred today and quotations for several periods were slightly reduced. This developed in spite of the fact that banks have lost above $5,000,000 to the subtreasury during the week, with a possibility that this will find reflection in a smaller surplus in Saturday's bank statements.

The Bank of England in its usual weekly report noted the maintenance of a high reserve percentage and the Bank of France reported a small loss in gold. If this foreshadowed a more liberal policy in regard to releasing gold its importance is apparent.

The annual statement of the condition of state savings banks disclosed the fact that in spite of business conditions throughout the last year these institutions have added $71,000,000 to their resources and over $66,000,000 to their deposits.

Money on call easy, 1¾@2 per cent; ruling rate, 1⅞; closing bid, 1⅞; offered at 1⅞. Time loans active and firm; 60 days, 2½@2¾ per cent; 90 days, 2¾@3 per cent; six months, 3¾@4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3¾@4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8510@4.8520 for 60 day bills and at 4.8665 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.84¼@4.84¾. Bar silver, 50⅝. Mexican dollars, 44. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds firm.

Currency Movements Show $1,290,978 Excess in Receipts.

'L' MERGER TALK RENEWED.

Commonwealth Edison Reports 10 Per Cent Gain in Earnings.

Movements of currency in Chicago during July showed an excess in receipts of $1,290,978, compared with July, 1908. However, for the first seven months of 1909 there was an excess of $4,672,583 shipments over receipts. This compares with an excess of receipts for the first seven months of 1908 of $5,514,274. So far, therefore, as the record for seven months is concerned the conditions have been reversed. June was largely responsible for the change, since the shipments then exceeded the receipts, by roundly, $4,400,000. Following are comparative figures:

1908.	Shipped to country.	Received from east.	Other receipts.
January	$ 8,009,270	$ 475,000	$15,765,730

"L" Merger Negotiations.

It is probable that negotiations looking toward a merger of the elevated railroads will be resumed within the next few weeks. Those who represented the proposed Central Terminal company still feel that the leasing of the lines by one corporation can be effected. Possibly the negotiators originally made the mistake of offering in the way of rentals virtually all they thought the properties would return. This left little margin for bartering, if bartering was to be made a principle instead of equity.

Commonwealth Edison.

Earnings of the Commonwealth Edison company are understood to be substantially 10 per cent greater than one year ago. This growth may be taken as indicative of improved business conditions. But there also is to be considered the fact that the company has pursued a campaign of advertising. By this it is meant that the company has taken steps to bring to the attention in one way and another of possible patrons, the uses and benefits of electric current.

The business, in consequence, is beginning to reach such a volume that the company has announced a reduction in the cost of current beginning with August. In this instance both the advertiser and the consumer appear to have been benefited.

WHEAT MART IS STILL WEAK

Splendid Crop Outlook and Poor Support Main Factors.

LIVERPOOL CABLES LOWER.

Coarse Grains Rally on Short Covering But Weaken Near Finish.

Final prices for cash wheat were at about the lowest points for the day, a generally weak tone dominating the market. Short covering on an early decline caused a bulge in the fore part of the session, but the advance was met with another wave of selling which gradually overcame all opposition and forced values steadily downward until the close. Net losses for the day were 1⅛@1⅞c lower. Armour and Bartlett-Patten were given credit for being the heaviest sellers, while there was a steady stream of small liquidating sales on the declines. Shorts covered freely early, and there was buying by Peavey, Logan-Bryan, Updike, and Jackson Bros., but the selling was too heavy to be absorbed. Outside trade was a little broader.

English Markets Lead Break.

Liverpool prices, which had been advanced the previous day on the poor grading of American wheat were sharply lower, with the good quality of American winter wheat offerings given as one of the reasons for the break, showing the inconsistency of the market news. Spot demand abroad was slow and the foreign call for our wheat was inactive, export sales being 48,000 bu. Heavy purchases of new winter wheats for August-September shipment to England and the continent, made earlier in the season at much higher prices than now obtain, are helping to make foreign markets weak. Country offerings of winter wheat were light and from all reports farmers are not selling much at the reduced prices. Receipts will be heavy for a time until the grain sold for August delivery is all in.

Spring Wheat Outlook Fine.

In spite of few reports of damage from rust and hail and heat in the spring wheat country, there was no change to the generally favorable advices, and there seems to be now little question but that the spring wheat crop will be the largest in many years. In some sections premature ripening was reported, but doubtless this is no more than ordinarily is the case, as there has certainly been nothing abnormal in weather conditions. In Canada there will be raised a big crop without question which will be in early competition with American wheats abroad. Harvesting has already started at different points in the three states, and also at a few places in Canada, so there is little danger of anything happening to the crop from now on.

Primary Movement Is Liberal.

Receipts continue liberal, but are gradually falling off, and the total at primary points was slightly less than a year ago at 844,000 bu. Receipts here, 258 cars, with 348 cars promised for today. The grading of wheat is only fair, and reports of damage to quality are being borne out by a large percentage of the receipts. Southwestern markets reported much lighter acceptances. Foreign markets were easy. Closing figures showed declines of 1¼@1⅜d at Liverpool, 1¼c at Antwerp, 1⅜c at Berlin, 1c at Budapest, and Paris was unchanged to ¼c up. Buenos Aires unchanged. Clearances for the day were 187,000 bu wheat and flour. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 525,000 bu for five days. Cash sales here were 50,000 bu.

Corn Shorts Cover Freely.

Freer offerings of cash corn, the opening break in wheat, and lack of buying orders were the main factors in corn at the start, and prices were substantially lower. On the decline there was an enormous volume of buying by shorts which lifted values about 1½c from the low point for September, but the advance was shortlived, closing figures showing net losses of ⅛@½c. Sentiment at the close was still bearish, and it was claimed that little of the buying was for long account. Cash prices were steady to ½c up, with sales of 110,000 bu for shipment. Outside markets were easy and the heavy tone in other grains was against the maintenance of values. Receipts at western points were 376,000 bu, against 263,000 bu a year ago. Local arrivals were 132 cars, with 131 cars promised for today. Liverpool was ⅜@½d lower. Bartlett-Patten, Updike, and Wagner were the leading buyers. Brosseau was a heavy seller.

Oats Have Partial Recovery.

In oats there was a relatively firm tone displayed after a bad slump at the start and buying was apparently of better character than recently. Values eased off with other grains at the close, however, net losses for the day being ⅛@½c. Country houses continued to sell and local professionals helped along every decline. Bartlett-Patten, Marfield, and Knight-McDougal were heavy buyers. Primary receipts were 379,000 bu, compared to 472,000 bu a year ago. All crop reports were favorable, and while farmers were not free sellers there was no indication of speculative buying from the interior. This buying, which has previously been a big factor in the market, was conspicuous by its absence. Receipts here were 140 cars with 162 cars promised for today. The cash market was unchanged to ½c higher, with sales of 175,000 bu.

Rye Trade Is Tame.

Rye was quiet and easy. September closed nominally at 70c. No. 2 sold at 74c and No. 3 at 71½c. No. 4 was quoted 56@65c. Receipts were 2 cars.

Malting barley was firm, while mixing grades were unchanged to 2c higher. Malting was quoted 55@60c, mixing 48@56c, and screenings 40@50c. Receipts were 10 cars.

Flaxseed was unchanged. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.45, No. 1 from the northwest $1.43½, and No. 1 southwestern $1.38. Receipts were 2 cars.

Timothy seed was steady. September closed at $3.70. Clover seed, 10c to 25c higher. Spot contract closed at $11.50, and March, $12.35.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

The Armour Grain company was given credit for selling as much wheat yesterday as they bought the day before, and their operations were largely responsible for the irregular course of prices. Buying early openly they were understood to have sold both December and September quietly, and near the close were again selling freely. The early advance induced considerable buying by the local crowd on the belief that the market was due for a good turn. Bartlett-Patten were consistent sellers all through the session on the hard spots. Local traders were badly whipsawed, selling early, buying on the bulge, and again selling on the late decline. Sentiment was strongly bearish at the close, and it was reported that heavy margin calls were sent out.

B. W. Snow wired from Lakota, N. D.: "Motored today through Grand Forks, Nelson, and Ramsey counties; 80 per cent of wheat is turning and saw two fields in which cutting began today. Harvest general next week. Prospects could hardly be improved upon. Found fully developed black rust at Wmerado and at Arvilla, but only an occasional stalk, and of no consequence. The crop is too far advanced to be in any danger, while current weather favors grain ripening and is unfavorable to development of rust spores. Straw is heavy; heads long and well filled, and promises better than average crop. Oats and barley cutting general and yield of both good. Bad hailstorm north and west of here today, with heavy losses reported."

Country elevators are said to be taking in a good many oats, but so far are not shipping freely, receipts continuing light. On the last decline in the price of futures it was the general opinion that farm sales had been small. The eastern shipping demand was quiet yesterday. Corn was in moderate demand, with fair country offerings reported in the west. Kansas City wired that the demand there was slow, and that receipts promised to increase materially. Prices here were steady to ½c better for both corn and oats.

Shipping sales were 110,000 bu corn and 175,000 bu oats.

"Foreigners are loaded up with a lot of high priced wheat, and are nursing a nasty loss right now," said H. E. Ryecroft, who is a big bear on wheat. "This will tend to keep them quiet until the spring wheat crop moves, when we can expect a good break in prices. Then they may come back into the market again."

Since the big slump in prices a few days ago receipts of hogs have been light, and farmers have marketed in an extremely cautious way. Arrivals at all points in the west have been much lighter than a year ago, and have given the packers substantial aid in holding prices for product.

Shipments of wheat from Chicago so far this month have been unusually heavy, and it is claimed the wheat is being shipped out as fast as it can be loaded. So far this week shipments have aggregated 1,417,000 bu, and it is expected they will continue heavy for some time.

The foreign oats crop is said to be below an average, which will make a good call for barley this year from this side. There will also probably be little incentive to mark barley-oats mixtures this year, as was the case last year.

The Price Current reported satisfactory returns from winter wheat and oats, and that corn was making excellent progress. Hog packing for the week was estimated at 405,000 at western points, the same as a year ago.

Receipts of wheat at Winnipeg were 24 cars, compared with 37 cars a week ago, and 25 cars the corresponding day a year ago.

Estimated receipts are: Wheat, 348 cars; corn, 131 cars; oats, 162 cars; rye, 4 cars; barley, 5 cars; hogs, 11,000.

Minneapolis stocks of wheat decreased 525,000 bu for five days.

Charters were made for 50,000 bu of corn at 1¼c to Buffalo.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CATTLE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Light supplies had a stimulating influence on the demand for steers and salesmen secured firm to 10c higher prices for the bulk of their holdings. Receipts were only 3,500 head, and of this number packers had 14 loads of Texans direct and there were 24 loads of western cattle. Best steers on hand were distillery fed offerings, which sold at $7.10, while corn fed lots reached $7.05. Shippers gave the market fair support, but the packers had to be depended upon to take the bulk of the offerings.

Butcher stock trade was irregular and prices averaged steady to 10c lower. All cows and heifers salable at $4.50 and higher made a steady range, while the lighter grades were off largely 10c. Bulls held at a steady to firm level, while calves sold at weak to 25c lower figures. In the market for canners and cutters the trade was slow and weak and sellers had to make concessions to effect a clearance. Moderate supplies of stockers and feeders attracted little attention from outside buyers, and the market had a dull, weak tone. Quotations:

Beef steers, good to choice	$6.50@7.50
Yearling steers, good to prime	6.50@7.30
Exporters	5.50@6.40
Beef cows, good to choice	4.00@5.50
Beef cows, plain to good	3.00@4.00
Fat heifers, good to choice	4.25@6.50
Canners and cutters	2.00@3.00
Calves, common to choice heavy	3.00@5.25
Good to prime vealers	7.00@8.00
Feeding steers	4.00@5.10
Stock steers	3.25@4.40
Bulls	2.50@5.00

Cattle at six western markets, 16,800, against 17,600 a week ago, 23,300 a year ago, and 20,600 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 4,175,000, against 4,267,000 the same period in 1908.

HOGS.

Hogs sold at 5@10c higher prices for the bulk while the tops were 15c higher and the average price for the day, at $7.79, showed a gain of 11c over Wednesday, besides being the highest since July 27. Receipts of 11,000 head disappointed buyers, and both local and outside operators got busy at the start, paying the full appreciation for the good hogs and cleaning up the supply more closely than on any previous day in more than two weeks. The market closed in good condition at the advance and there were only 2,500 hogs left unsold.

Prime heavy butcher grades topped the market at $8.15, while numerous sales of choice heavy offerings were made at $8.00@8.10. The mixed packing droves cost around $7.50@7.65, and the good shipping hogs sold at $7.70@7.90. Pigs were sparingly offered and salable at almost any price asked for them, sales of good 120 lb offerings being made at up to $7.85 and higher. Quotations:

Bulk of sales	$7.60@7.90
Selected shippers	7.80@8.00
Prime heavy shippers	7.85@8.15
Good to choice light	7.70@7.95
Poor to medium light	7.35@7.75
Mixed packing	7.40@7.70
Common packing	7.15@7.40
Heavy packing	7.75@8.00
Heavyweight pigs	7.50@7.90
Stags	7.55@7.85
Light pigs	7.00@7.50

Average price of hogs at Chicago, $7.79, against $7.68 Wednesday, $7.47 a week ago, $6.75 a year ago, and $5.84 two years ago.

Eleven markets received 42,900 hogs, against 57,600 a week ago, 71,800 a year ago, and 62,700 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 14,771,000, against 17,469,000 the same period in 1908.

SHEEP.

There was a narrow outlet for sheep and yearlings and although the native offerings held at a practically unchanged level, most of the rangers sold at a decline of 10@15c. Lambs held at steady to firm prices but the trade was restricted by insufficient supplies of strictly choice fat offerings. Packers were the principal buyers and there was little call from outside killers, although several of the country buyers were present looking for desirable feeding stock. The latter was sparingly offered and prices were sustained at the best level of the season.

A double deck of rangers, sorted out of a string of 1,500 head, sold at $7.00, while the remainder of the lot went to feeders at $6.00. Packers had 3,000 lambs from Louisville and bought choice natives here at $7.50@7.65. Quotations:

Native wethers	$4.00@5.25
Native ewes	3.00@5.00
Native yearlings	5.00@5.50
Range wethers	4.50@4.75
Range ewes	3.50@4.50

Receipts for Aug. 6 were estimated at 1,500 cattle, 11,000 hogs, and 8,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 821 cattle, 19,031 hogs, and 4,520 sheep for Friday, Aug. 7, 1908.

STOCKYARDS GOSSIP.

"Expect to ship 20 cars of cattle Aug. 6 which should be on Chicago market Aug. 11. Conditions here favorable and outlook excellent for fat cattle from this section this season." This was the message received by a commission house from J. R. Eddy, superintendent of the Cheyenne Indian agency at Lame Deer, Mont. Mr. Eddy had rangers here a year ago which sold up to $6.40 for 1,528 lb steers.

Receipts of range cattle so far this season have been disappointing and the plain light native steers have enjoyed a longer period of popularity as a consequence. The firmness in the market for the latter this week is not expected to be permanent, however, and cautious operations in the country were advised.

Expectations are that there will be more range cattle marketed here next week than there have been during the last two weeks combined. Several of the commission houses have been notified to be on the lookout for stock from the range districts and there are two train loads reported in sight for Monday's market.

The Anglo-American company had 291 hogs in direct from Milwaukee and bought enough here to make up a total drove of 900 head. Armour & Co. led all buyers here with purchases of 1,600 hogs.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

In spite of the weak tone in the grain markets there was steady support to the provisions list, and prices closed higher all around. Pork gained 10@12½c; lard, 5@7½c; and ribs, 10@12½c. Hog receipts at all points were light, primary arrivals being 39,700, compared to 67,700 a year ago. Local receipts were 12,000, with 11,000 promised for today. Prices at the yards were generally 10c up. Hog packing in the west was estimated at 405,000, against the same number for the corresponding week last year. Commission houses were moderate sellers of product, led by Bartlett-Patten, but packers gave the market needed support and closed it firm. Hams and lard at Liverpool were 6d up, with bacon unchanged. Receipts of product at Chicago were 18 cars, with shipments of 80 cars. The cash demand was fairly active.

Chicago Horse Market.

Equine trade was slow and weak with the bulk of the horses received selling at a loss. Buyers held a few orders calling for choice heavy drafters, expressers, and wagon horses, but general receipts included few offerings good enough to meet the requirements of these traders, and salesmen were compelled to accept reduced bids for the plain to medium lots which they had on hand. Sales in the auction ring were at $50.00@140.00 for plain to medium work horses, and at $150.00@225.00 for the bulk of the plain to strictly choice draft offerings. Drivers sold slowly at $150.00@190.00 for the bulk, with matched pairs at $385.00. Receipts for four days were 1,086, against 1,171 a week ago and 767 a year ago.

IN THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

EGGS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Market was weak and prices were unchanged to ½c lower. Receipts were 6,816 cases. The butchers and grocers' annual picnic kept many buyers away from the produce market, and a slower trade was reported in all branches. Quotations:

Prime firsts	23c	Do firsts	21½c
Extra, 90 per cent fresh	26c	Do seconds	16c

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—EGGS—Steady; receipts, 12,284; state, Pennsylvania, and nearby, brown, fancy hennery, 29@30. Eggs in Philadelphia—Firm; Pennsylvania and other nearby firsts, free cases, 25c at mark; do, current receipts, in returnable cases, 23c at mark; western firsts, free cases, 25c at mark; do, current receipts, free cases, 22@24c at mark.

BUTTER.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Recent recessions in values had a stimulating influence on the demand from speculators, and offerings were readily absorbed. Receipts were 8,953 tubs. Quotations:

Dairies, extra	23½c	Do firsts	23c
Creamery extras	25c	Do seconds	22c
Extra firsts	24½c	Packing	19½c

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Butter—Receipts, 10,137; creamery specials, 26¼@27c [official price, 26½c]; creamery extras, 26@26¼c; creamery thirds to firsts, 23@25½c. Butter in Philadelphia—½@1c lower; extra western creamery, 28c; do, nearby prints, 29c.

CHEESE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Firmness prevailed and all offerings of foreign and American cheese were held at full prices. Demand for consumption was moderate, but speculators operated on a liberal scale. Quotations:

Western twins	14@14½c	Swiss	15¼@16½c
Daisies	15@15½c	Limburger	13@13½c
Young America	15@15½c	Brick	9@13½c
Longhorns	15@15¾c

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—CHEESE—Steady; receipts, 4,403; state, full cream, specials, 14¼@15¼c. Cheese in Philadelphia—Firm; New York, full creams, choice, 14¾@15c; do fair to good, 14@14½c.

POULTRY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Moderate supplies met with an irregular demand, and while spring chickens and old ducks sold at an advance of 1c the spring ducks were off 1c, and other species of live and iced poultry remained at an unchanged level. Quotations:

Live chickens	14c	Iced chickens	13½@14c
Spring	17c	Do turkeys	16c
Do roosters	9c	Do ducks	10@13c
Do turkeys	14c	Do geese	7@8c

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—POULTRY—Alive firm; western chickens, 15½@18c; fowls, 15½@16c; turkeys, 13c. Dressed steady; western chickens [broilers], 15@20c; fowls, 17@17½c.

VEGETABLES.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Attendance of buyers was much smaller than usual, and the market had a holiday appearance. Supplies were liberal and prices weak. Receipts of potatoes were 24 cars, and the market had a healthy undertone. Quotations:

Beets, 100 bunches	50@75c	Potatoes, bu	50@60c
Cabbage, 100 head	50c@$1.00	Green peas, bu	75@85c

Peppers, per box	50@75c	Sweet corn, sacks	40@50c

FRUITS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Trade was limited and values were unsettled, the unreliable outlet compelling receivers of perishable goods to accept the most favorable bids they could get. Quotations:

Apples, box	40c@$1.25	Red raspberries, 24 pts	$1.00@1.35
Bananas, per bunch	65c@$1.15	Black raspberries, 16 qts	$1.10@1.50

HAY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Firm; receipts, 786 tons; shipments 10 tons. Quotations: Choice timothy, $16.50@17.50; No. 1, $15.00@16.00; No. 2, $13.50@14.50; No. 3, $10.00@12.50. Kansas and Oklahoma prairie, choice and No. 1, $11.00@12.00; No. 2, $9.00@10.00. Iowa, Nebraska, and Dakota prairie, choice and No. 1, $11.00@12.00; lower grades, $9.00@10.00.

STRAW.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Rye, $9.00@10.00; oats, $7.00@7.50, and wheat, $6.00@6.50.

Groceries.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Attendance of market buyers was abnormally small. Retailers were holding their annual picnic, and, as many of them suspended business for the day, the number of buyers on the wholesale market was materially affected. Jobbers received generous outside orders calling for spot goods, and there were no important changes made in prices, as a contracted outlet for the day was expected, and sellers were not anxious to effect sales. Futures were held with more confidence, and brokers showed less inclination to make extensive contracts at prevailing figures. Reports from the coast were favorable to holders of desirable dried fruits, and there was a strong market for prunes, raisins, peaches, and apricots.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Refined sugars were in good demand at firm figures. Following were the ruling prices in wholesale circles, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Standard granulated, beet and cane, $5.24@5.34; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.27; standard powdered, $5.65; extra C, $4.85; canary, $4; chemically pure milk sugar, 20c per lb in brl lots.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—SUGAR—Raw, firm; fair refining, $3.55; centrifugal [96 test], $4.05; molasses sugar, $3.27@3.30. Refined—Steady; crushed, $5.65; powdered, $5.05; granulated, $4.95.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Spot roasted coffees were sustained at a steady level, but weakness pervaded the market for the cost and freight offerings. Receipts at Rio were 6,000 bags and at Santos, 63,000 bags.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points, in response to the advance of ¼@⅜ franc, Havre, and held pretty well up to the initial figures during the day on a scattering demand in the absence of important offerings. August closed 5 points lower, but the market generally was steady, net unchanged to 5 points higher. Sales were reported of 15,500 bags, including September at $5.65@5.70; December, $5.30; May, $5.40, and July, $5.45. Spot coffee quiet; Rio No. 7, 7⅝@7½c; Santos No. 4, 8⅞@9c; mild coffee quiet; Cordova, 9½@12½c. The visible supply statement as of August 1st proved about as expected, showing an increase of 947,450 bags for the month to a total of 13,788,997 bags, against 14,307,604 last year.

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—The John V. Farwell company, in a weekly review of the dry goods market, said: "Government reports on the cotton crop, indicating a sharp falling off in the yield, and the stand taken by manufacturers of cotton goods have finally convinced merchants who were slow to realize that the higher prices predicted for finished goods were based on facts and they are now placing orders. Cotton piece goods sell freely and two leading brands of wide sheetings are quoted at value. There are no indications of manufacturers receding from their present position on wool dress goods, which means that their advance of 10@15 per cent over last season's prices will stand. House business on silks has been satisfactory. The knit underwear market is firm, with a tendency for higher prices and the likelihood of a shortage of standard makes."

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The dry goods market continues fairly active in ready to wear departments. A better business is doing in the piece goods departments of the jobbing houses. Raw silk is being bought more freely. Jobbers say they will not advance foreign hosiery at this time.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—COTTON—Spot closed steady; middling uplands, 12.60c; middling gulf, 12.85c. Sales, none. The market opened steady at an advance of 5 points on August, but generally 2 to 6 points lower, and inside of the first half hour sold off to a net loss of 12@14 points on the active months. At the high point of the afternoon January sold at 12.22c and at the close was at 12.18c bid. Southern spot markets officially reported early were unchanged to ⅛c lower. Trading was active here at the start, but became quiet later. Futures opened steady and closed firm. Quotations:

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 5.—COTTON—Spot steady, 1-16c higher; middling, 12 3-16c. Sales on the spot, 800 bales; to arrive, 25. Futures opened steady, 1 up to 3 down, in spite of a better Liverpool market than expected. Selling for short account was free in the early hours and prices fell away under it to a level of 9 to 11 points below yesterday's closing. Late in the session the highest prices of the day were reached, the active months being at a net advance of 7 to 9 points. Crop news from the west was bad and it increased short covering. The closing was steady at a net advance of 6 to 8 points. Futures closed steady.

Metals.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A decline in the English tin market to £133 for spot and £134 10s for futures was followed by an easier local market, with spot closing at $29.30@29.40. The metal exchange reported a sale of 75 tons for November delivery at $29.50. The market for standard copper on the New York metal exchange was a shade lower, but closed steady in tone with standard spot quoted at $12.50@12.75. Sales were reported of 100 tons for November delivery at $12.90. Closing prices follow: August, $12.70@12.75; September, $12.75@12.87½; October, $12.80@12.90; November, $12.87½@12.90; December, $12.92½@13.05. Outside of the exchange local dealers were quoting lake copper at $13.12½@13.50, electrolytic at $12.75@13.12½, and casting at $12.62½@12.90. The London market was a little lower, with spot quoted at £58 11s 3d and futures at £59, 10s. LEAD—Unchanged at £12 10s in London. The local market was steady at $4.25@4.30. SPELTER—Unchanged at £22 in the London market, and while it remained firm locally buyers and sellers seemed further apart, with spot quoted at $5.35@5.75. The English iron market was unchanged, with Cleveland warrants quoted at 49s 7½d. Locally the market was steady. No. 1 foundry northern, $17.25@17.50; No. 2, $16.75@17.25; No. 1 southern and No. 1 southern soft, $17.75@18.25. ANTIMONY—Quiet and unchanged. Prices are nominal at $8.25 for Cookson's, $7.50@7.62½ for Hallett's, and $7.00@7.25 for ordinary brands. The London market is quiet, with £30 quoted for Hallett's and £29 for ordinary brands.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 5.—LEAD—Firm, $4.20@4.22½. SPELTER—Higher, $5.42½.

Whisky.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Steady on a basis of $1.37 for finished goods.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The supply of money exceeded the demand on the market today and discounts were steady. The stock exchange wore a holiday appearance, and business was light, with the tone inclined to be easy. Home rails and kaffirs declined fractionally, but foreign bonds and rails met with good support at a higher level. Consols, in which the settlement has been concluded, hardened 3-16. Copper shares were uncertain. American securities opened nearly an ⅛ to a ¼ above parity, but later reacted on realization. At noon the market was dull and irregular, with prices from a half higher to a quarter lower than yesterday's New York closing. Offerings caused a further drooping in the afternoon, but New York support checked the decline and caused a steady close. Chicago Great Western was a feature. It touched 5½ and closed at 4½.

Be Ready For

The Twin Falls Oakley opening of 50,000 acres about Sept. 20, under the Carey act. Land 50 cents an acre. Perpetual water, $65 per acre. First payment $3.25 an acre. Balance in 11 yearly payments. Water ready 1911. Second payment 1912. Land experts say it is the most perfect of all the Twin Falls tracts. We shall have several fine cities soon in the Twin Falls country. The time to get in is now.

This region already is known far and wide as the greatest irrigation success of the age, yet development has only fairly begun. This land all will be worth several hundred dollars per acre. Thousands of first class people already have moved in from all parts of the country. More are coming every day.

We still have 40 acre tracts subject to original entry on the North Side at $35.50 per acre, suitable for orchards. Down payment only $3.25 per acre. Water now ready.

Our great organization is spending several millions in irrigating works, power plants, railroads, water works, and in many ways laying the foundation for one of the grandest examples of modern civilization and progress in any country. The opportunity is without parallel.

Call or write H. L. HOLLISTER, 205 La Salle-st., Chicago, Ill.

FOR SALE—BUY LAND AT WHOLESALE.
I want to get in touch with the small investors—the men who have from $500 to $5,000 that they would like to put into real estate. There is money in land. In the last fifteen years more money has been made in agricultural land in the United States than in all the mines of the world. Good land is a safe investment—you cannot lose and the chances are ninety-nine to one that you reap a substantial profit.
THE BEST MONEY HAS BEEN MADE IN BUYING LAND IN LARGE TRACTS.
Now this is my proposition: If you have not capital enough to swing a good sized deal alone, get your friends to join you in a syndicate, pool your funds, and take advantage of wholesale prices.
I am in position to secure the lowest prices and the best terms on some of the finest agricultural land in the west in tracts of from 2,000 to 10,000 acres.
I want to show you. If you can form a syndicate with a capital of from $5,000 to $25,000 I can satisfy you in regard to the investment.
W. G. KEFFER, Room 910, 204 Dearborn-st.

FOR SALE—EXCURSION TO MICHIGAN—

BANKERS TO THE PEOPLE.
YOU CAN borrow money of us in small sums as well as large. Men and women Employed—Business men, too—we will give you the fairest terms in Chicago. LADIES of reputable family may EASILY BORROW on their name and promise. We will give any new patron the same consideration we have given a host of honorable borrowers of quick and emergency money in our eleven years of the people's banking business. Money for those in smaller Business lines; to Ladies of allowance or income, to Property Owners, to beneficiaries of income, legacies, etc. We are close to State-st. stores—heart of business district. Our interest is 6 per cent per year. All our charges included are within the very minimum WHICH YOUR PERSONALITY FIXES, consistent with the sum and risk involved and with justice. Straightforward and courteously we offer money to any MAN or WOMAN of honorable intention of repayment with or without security. Tel. Central 7054, or call, private offices [also ladies' room] connected with banking room, Seventh floor 122 Monroe-st., corner Clark.
WEST & COMPANY.

I APPRECIATIVE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands, or incomes from other sources] who want large or small sums, confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 min. from loop district], and my being the President of a large manufacturing wholesale vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing], and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where money lenders congregate. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that exorbitant charges, for any time, are burdensome. My average price, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOXE, care The Englewood Co., 538 E. 63d-st., cor. Greenwood-av. Tel Hyde Park [illegible]3.

PIANOS
—AT—BARGAIN PRICES

Laying new flooring in our piano department and building new pianola music studios reduce the available floor space in our piano department almost one-half. To make room we are offering our entire surplus stock of pianos. There are included in this great clearance a very wide choice of many standard makes.

Do not confuse this great opportunity to secure a reliable piano of dependable make at a saving with the many "made to order" sales constantly in progress elsewhere. Such a chance as this occurs only by reason of self-explanatory conditions.

We ask the indulgence of patrons calling to examine these bargains. They will find our establishment in a state of disorder, with carpenters working on every hand. But our staff of salesmen will lend their best efforts to assist all customers who will tell them just what kind of an instrument they have in mind. When desired, one of our salesmen will conscientiously put himself in the place of the buyer and search throughout the entire stock for the very best value at the price indicated.

18 Pianos, regular $350 values; special price	$265
14 Pianos, regular $300 values; special price	215
10 Pianos, regular $250 values; special price	185
12 Pianos, regular $200 values; special price	145

Also about 20 pianos, including Steinway, Lyon & Healy and other leading makes, which have been thoroughly rebuilt at our own factory, and which we will sell at almost nominal figures, value considered.

All pianos may be bought on our special system of easy monthly payments at the spot cash price. A full list of makes and prices will be mailed upon request to all out of town customers.

ALDERMAN FINDS FIRE LAW BROKEN

Charges Colleague and Campbell with Permitting Frame Buildings in Limits.

PLANS COURT HEARING.

Jones and Commissioner Answer Emerson with Plea of Mistake in Ordinance.

Charges of misconduct were made by Ald. John R. Emerson of the Eighth ward yesterday when the corporation counsel's office upheld his declaration that permits for frame buildings were being issued illegally within a new fire district in Chicago.

His criticisms were directed at his own colleague, Ald. John H. Jones, and Murdoch Campbell, building commissioner, both of whom he declared willfully violated an ordinance passed by the city council last March, extending the fire limit in his ward.

They said the entire matter would be straightened out by an amendment making the section for which the permits were issued a "provisional" fire district, where frame buildings may be erected with frontage consents.

Ald. Emerson, however, announced that he had retained an attorney, L. W. Carpenter of South Chicago, and that he intended to take the matter into court to punish the "incompetency" he had uncovered.

Pleads Error in Ordinance.

As nearly as can be discovered, Ald. Jones introduced in the council an amendment to the building code extending the fire limits in his ward from Seventy-fifth street as far south as Seventy-ninth street. He says he inteded to make this added territory a "provisional" district, and a mistake was made by the assistant corporation counsel who drew the ordinance.

When some of his friends wanted frame building permits there, he persuaded Commissioner Campbell to issue them on the ground that the mistake would be rectified as soon as he could bring it before the council.

Six of these permits were discovered by Ald. Emerson, who complained to the commissioner, who in return referred the case to the corporation counsel. Howard W. Hayes wrote an opinion advising the commissioner to order all the building operations suspended until the substitute amendment, which Ald. Jones already had asked the law department to draft, had been acted on by the council. This, the commissioner says, he probably will do.

Sends Out Wheel Tax Squad.

Acting Chief of Police Schuettler, at the request of City Collector Magerstadt, called in two policemen from each one of the city's forty-five precincts and ten from the Central detail and assigned them for a renewal of the wheel tax collection campaign. They are to "follow up" the delinquent owners of vehicles.

There are about 500 automobiles on the collector's lists for which no licenses have been issued and in each precinct a team of two policemen—with a flying squad of ten in the downtown district—each accompanied by a deputy collector, will attempt a final "round up" of these "dodgers" while they also deliver cards of warning to all drivers of wagons not displaying tags.

Under the direction of Michael J. Doherty, superintendent of streets, the ward superintendents have begun a campaign to keep all the alleys in the congested districts clean, so that the sickness usually marking the hot weather may be lessened.

Former Legislator Held to Grand Jury

Thomas J. Deady, who was a member of the legislature in 1903, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Bruggemeyer on a charge of burglary. Mrs. Mary Kleca said he broke into her restaurant at 1211 Blue Island avenue and stole $42 and four boxes of cigars. He was released on $1,000 bond signed by his mother, Mrs. Julia Deady. He denies the charge.

CLASH OVER GRAFT EVIDENCE

"Mike de Pike" and Morris Shatz in West Side Contest.

ECHO OF M'CANN CHARGES.

Several Policemen Whose Records Were Attacked Seek Vindication.

An evidence collecting contest in the alleged graft cases against Inspector McCann and Detective Griffin is in progress in the west side levee district between "Mike de Pike" Heitler and Morris Shatz. Heitler, accused by Shatz and Louis Frank before the recent grand jury of making collections of police graft for McCann and Griffin, gave a bond of $22,500 Wednesday and was released from the county jail, where he had been held under fifteen indictments after he had asserted to State's Attorney Wayman that he knew nothing of the alleged collection of graft on the west side. Shatz, a resort keeper, was the first man to confess to the payment of protection money in the levee district.

"I will show that Shatz was run out of St. Louis four years ago for spreading tales about the police of that city accepting protection money from him," Heitler said.

Woman Accuses Shatz.

Sadie Katz of the west side told in the afternoon of Shatz's alleged attempt to collect evidence against McCann and Griffin.

"He came to me several times," she said, "the last time was last night. He said I should go to the trial and swear that I had paid protection money to 'Mike the Pike' for Griffin and McCann. I said I never did.

"'Swear you did, any way,' he said, 'and you can have a house of your own and make a lot of money.' I will testify at the trials of McCann and Griffin if they want me to, but I will tell that I never paid a cent for protection to either. And I will tell that Shatz said that he would do anything to get McCann and 'Mike the Pike.'"

Shatz denies he ever was in trouble in St. Louis or that he attempted to influence Sadie Katz.

Want Their Records Cleared.

Several policemen, including Detective Charles McShane of the Maxwell station, went to the state's attorney's office during the day and demanded that their records, which had been attacked by grand jury witnesses last month, be cleared and that the charges made against them be taken up by the September grand jury. The records of several officers are said to have been attacked by men who testified in connection with the alleged collection of graft on the part of police officials. Detective McShane arrested Abraham Rosenthal, 325 Washburne avenue, as an alleged pickpocket. The arrest was made on descriptions furnished the Chicago police department. When the case was called before Judge Kersten, a conductor, who had previously identified Rosenthal, it is asserted, repudiated his testimony given at the preliminary hearing, and the accused man was discharged. When the graft investigation was begun, Rosenthal complained to the state's attorney that Detective McShane had persecuted him and accepted $75 graft money from him.

Schedule L—Silks and Silk Goods.
Note.—In the entire silk schedule the classification has been so changed in the new law as to make a tabulated comparison with the classifications under the Dingley law impracticable. In general decided increases have been made.
392—Silk, partially manufactured from cocoons, or from waste silk, and not further advanced or manufactured than carded or combed silk, lbs	40c lb.	35c lb.
393—Spun silk or schappe silk yarn, valued at not exceeding $1 per lb., whether in singles or advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more yarns together, 35c per lb. Spun silk or schappe silk yarn, valued not exceeding $1 per lb., in the gray, in skeins, warps, or cops, if in singles and not advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205, 45c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 45c per lb.; and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb.; if advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205, 50c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 50c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb. Spun silk or schappe silk yarn, valued at exceeding $1 per lb., in the gray, on bobbins, spools, or beams, if in singles and not advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more single yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205, 55c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 55 cents per lb., and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb.; if advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more single yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205 60c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 60c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb. Spun silk or schappe silk yarn, valued at exceeding $1 per lb., colored, bleached, or dyed in skeins or warps, if in singles and not advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more single yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205, 55c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 55c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb., if advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more single yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205, 60c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 60c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb. Spun silk or schappe silk yarn, valued at exceeding $1 per lb., colored, bleached, or dyed, on bobbins, cops, spools, or beams, if in singles and not advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more single yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205, 65c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 65c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb.; if advanced beyond the condition of singles by grouping or twisting two or more single yarns together, on all numbers up to and including No. 205, 70c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.10 of a cent per number per lb.; on all numbers exceeding No. 205, 70c per lb., and in addition thereto 0.15 of a cent per number per lb. In assessing the duty on all spun silk or schappe silk yarn, the number shall be that indicating the size of the yarn according to the metric French system, and shall, in all cases, refer to the size of the spun single, of which said yarn may be composed: Provided, that in no case shall the duty be assessed on a less number of yards than is marked on the skeins, bobbins, cops, spools, or beams. But in no case shall any of the goods enumerated in this paragraph pay less rate of duty than 37½ per cent ad valorem.
394—Thrown silk in the gum, if singles, 50c per lb.; if tram, 75c per lb.; if organzine, $1 per lb.; if ungummed, wholly or in part, or if further advanced in manufacture in any way, in addition thereto, 50c per lb.
Sewing silk, twist, floss, and silk threads or yarns of any description made from raw silk, not specially provided for in this act, if in the gum, $1 per lb.; if ungummed, wholly or in part, or if further advanced in manufacture in any way, $1.50 per lb. Provided, that in no case shall the duty be assessed on a less number of yards than is marked on the skeins, bobbins, cops, spools, or beams.
395—Velvets, chenilles, or other pile fabrics, not specially provided for in this act, cut or uncut, composed of silk, or of which silk is the component material of chief value, weighing not less than 5¾ ounces per square yard, $1.50 per pound; if weighing less than 5¾ ounces per square yard, but not less than 4 ounces, or if all the filling is not cotton, $2.75 per pound; if all the filling is cotton, $2 per pound; if weighing less than 4 ounces to the square yard, $4 per pound. Plushes, cut or uncut, composed of silk, or of which silk is the component material of chief value, if weighing not less than 9½ ounces per square yard, $1 per pound; if weighing less than 9½ ounces per square yard, $2.40 per pound. Measurements to ascertain widths of goods for determining weight per square yard of the foregoing articles shall not include the selvedges, but the duty shall be levied upon total weight of goods, including the selvedges. In distinguishing between "plushes" and "velvets" the length of the pile shall be considered. Such goods, in the above classification, shall be considered as "plushes" in which the length of the pile is one-seventh of an inch or more. Such goods shall be classed as "velvets" in which the length of the pile is less than one-seventh of an inch. The distance from the bottom of the first binding pick to the extreme end of the pile shall be considered as the length of the pile. Velvet or plush ribbons, or other pile fabrics not over 12 inches in width and not less than three-quarters of an inch in width, cut or uncut, of which silk is the component material of chief value, not specially provided for in this act, if containing no silk except that in the pile and selvedges, if black $1.60 per pound; if other than black, $1.75 per pound; if containing silk other than that in the pile and selvedges, if black, $2 per pound; if other than black, $2.25 per pound. If less than three-quarters of an inch in width in addition to above rates for each one-quarter of an inch or fraction thereof less than three-quarters of an inch in width, 40 cents per pound: Provided, That manufactures wholly or in chief value of velvets, plushes, velvet or plush ribbons, shall pay not less than the rate of duty herein imposed upon such fabrics, and in addition one-fifth of such duties.

secretary of the treasury to me
gency that may develop.
The conference committee, t ported and the new law contain authorizing the secretary to iss to time 3 per cent bonds up to of the estimated cost of the ca
$290,569,000. Included in this 631,900 already borrowed upo
per cent bonds.
An existing statute permitted to issue short term 3 per cent c indebtedness not exceeding a t
000,000. The new tariff law h
this limit to $200,000,000.

Bondholders in Pr

Since the conference report w
lic, holders of the 2 per cent P
